NEW DEAL LIST OF PAY ROLLERS AT PEACE PEAK

824,259 in Civilian Job Army.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2.—[Special.—The New Deal closed the 1936 fiscal year with a total of 824,259 civilian employés on the executive pay roll, an increase of 252,168, or more than 40 per cent, in three years. The figure was just 93,501 short of the war time peak of Nov. 11, 1918, and with the campaign getting under way this all time record may be reached by Nov. 3.

Figures released today by the civil service commission showed a net gain of 6,403 pay rollers for June, the last month for which figures are available. This net gain was effected despite large reductions in the personnel of the Home Owners' Loan corporation, which long since ceased making loans, and the Veterans' administration, which temporarily had swollen its pay roll for the task of paying the 2 billion 238 million dollar soldiers' bonus.

Pay Roll Boosted 79 Per Cent.

Instead of decreasing government expenditures by 25 per cent, as the Democratic platform of 1932 promised, President Roosevelt's administration has increased the executive pay roll in the District of Columbia approximately 79 per cent and the executive pay roll outside the district approximately 37 per cent.

The number of civilian employés for the district has increased from 65,437 on June 30, 1933, to 117,103 on June 30, 1936. Outside the district the number has increased from 506,654 to 707,156, and for the country as a whole the number has increased from 572,091 to 824,259.

The increase of 51,666 in the District of Columbia alone has brought the figure for the nation's capital to within 657 employés of the war time peak of 117,760.

Other Branches Excluded.

All the foregoing figures are exclusive of the legislative, judicial, and military branches of the federal government, and the employés of the District of Columbia.

They include both civil service classified positions, subject to competitive examinations, and unclassified positions not subject to competitive examinations. Less than 10 per cent of the additions under the Roosevelt régime have been on the classified civil service lists.

The civil service commission summarized the changes for the month of June as follows: A gain of 5,886 in the regular agencies, making the total therein 632,006; a loss of 1,762 in the new agencies, making the total 47,754, and a gain of 2,279 in the so-called emergency agencies, making the total therein 144,449.

Employés in Agencies.

The total number of employés in the larger new agencies, those created by the present administration, are:

Agricultural Adjustment administration	5,633
Farm Credit administration	3,707
Federal Housing administration	3,660
Home Owners' Loan corporation	15,791
Securities Exchange commission	1,080
Tennessee Valley authority	14,450

Only 748 are listed for the Social Security administration, which hardly has begun to function, but this agency will become one of the largest, if not the largest, burocracies of all time when its activities are expanded to the extent contemplated by the act.

WPA Has 35,343.

Harry L. Hopkins' Works Progress administration has the largest number of administrative pay rollers of the so-called emergency agencies, the total being 35,343. Rexford Guy Tugwell's Resettlement administration is next with a total of 19,844 resettlers, far more than the number of persons Tugwell is attempting to resettle.

In addition of WPA's administrative pay roll of 35,343, the civil service commission reports the number of administrative employés in the federal works program for executive departments as follows:

Treasury	15,829
War	1,309
Justice	353
Navy	96
Interior	844
Agriculture	387
Commerce	722
Labor	7,983

Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes has a total of 10,719 employés

OWENS BREAKS WORLD RECORD IN OLYMPICS

Americans Sweep High Jump.

BY SIGRID SCHULTZ.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

BERLIN, Aug. 2.—American athletes, led by Jesse Owens, colored sprinter, and Cornelius Johnson, colored high jumper, shared honors with the Finns and Germans today as competition in the eleventh Olympic games opened in the presence of 90,000 spectators, including Chancellor Adolf Hitler and other officials of the reich.

After an afternoon of record smashing and fanfare that rivaled yesterday's pretentious opening ceremonies, the outstanding developments were:

1. Owens, Ohio State university's one man track team, starting his quest for three Olympic championships, tied the world's record of :10.3 in the 100 meter trials, then set a new world's standard of :10.2 in the quarter-finals of the event in which America also qualified Ralph Metcalfe of Chicago and Frank Wykoff of Glendale, Cal.

U. S. Sweeps High Jump.

2. Johnson, from Compton [Cal.] Junior college, co-holder of the world's record, set a new Olympic mark to win the high jump, in which the Americans made a sweep when Dave Albritton of Ohio State finished second and Delos Thurber third in a jump-off for second place with Kaveli Kotlas of Finland.

3. Salminen, Askola and Iso-Hollo of Finland swept the 10,000 meters race in which America's chief hope in the distance events, Don Lash of Indiana, was lapped and finished eighth.

4. America's shot putters were shut out for the first time in Olympic history when Woellke threw the weight 53 feet 1 13-16 inches to give Germany its first major championship.

German Woman Breaks Record.

5. Hilde Fleischer, comely German fräulein, gave the reich its first Olympic victory by winning the women's javelin throw with a toss of 148 feet 2 25-32 inches, breaking the Olympic record set by Mildred [Babe] Didrikson of the United States at Los Angeles in 1932.

6. America's three middle distance stars, Charles Hornbostel of Indiana, John Woodruff, University of Pittsburgh colored sensation, and Harry Williamson qualified easily for the 800 meter semi-finals.

Eight Better Records.

It was the most spectacular opening day in the history of the Olympic games. Eight athletes bettered records, one world's and three Olympic standards falling before the vanguard of the largest delegation of competitors ever assembled for the ancient games. Four Americans participated in the record breaking, and

FIRE DESTROYS CABLE CAR ON LOFTY PEAK; 40 FLEE IN TERROR

Beacon, N. Y., Aug. 2.—[Special.]—Forty persons made a terrifying descent from the top of Mount Beacon today when the cable car of the Mount Beacon Incline railway in which they were riding became enveloped in flames that later destroyed a section of the steep road, causing a loss estimated at $50,000.

Hysterical women were restrained from leaping along the incline. Two men leaped, but escaped injury. One car caught fire and was derailed.

Between 50 and 100 persons, the last of about 1,000 who had been attending a dance at the Casino, were isolated on top of the mountain and were forced to walk down a steep, winding path three miles long.

The incline railway, which has a 64 per cent grade and is reputedly the steepest in the world, is 2,300 feet long and runs to the top of the peak, 1,540 feet above sea level. The fire started about halfway along its length, presumably from a discarded cigaret.

Because of its location, it was difficult to fight the blaze. Ten fire wardens, each carrying a five gallon tank on his back, and Beacon City firemen armed with hand extinguishers eventually put out the blaze.

RASKOB CARRIED AS HE CHANGES TRAINS FOR EAST

John J. Raskob, New York financier and former chairman of the Democratic national committee, was taken from a Union Pacific railroad train on a stretcher yesterday at the North Western station, and was transported by ambulance to the La Salle street station where he was placed aboard the Fifth Avenue Limited train due to arrive in New York City this morning. Mr. Raskob was stricken with knee arthritis more than three weeks ago while on vacation in Yellowstone National park. He was heavily blanketed and his face was shielded from photographers by his hat as the stretcher bearing him was lifted out of the train window. He was attended by a physician and nurse, neither of whom would comment on Mr. Raskob's condition.

57 Year Record Broken by Heat Wave in Moscow

MOSCOW, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Temperature records which had stood for 57 years were broken today as the mercury soared to 98.6 degrees Fahrenheit. There was no sign of any break in the heat wave which has gripped Moscow for a month.

Thousands See Prairie Blaze Destroy Farm

Ignited by the cigaret of a careless motorist, and fanned by a hot southwest wind, a prairie fire yesterday destroyed eleven buildings on the farm of John C. Kuch at 151st street and 80th avenue, in Orland township, and burned through 80 acres of tinder dry farm land and pasturage. A crew of more than 100 volunteers extinguished the flames last night after a five hour fight during which thousands of persons watched the blaze.

Farmers from the surrounding countryside whose own land was endangered, attributed the extent of the damage to the protracted dry spell.

Lack of Water Hampers Fight.

Lack of water hampered the fire fighters from the start. The three feet of water at the bottom of the Kuch well was exhausted in a few minutes. After that the fire departments of Tinley Park, Orland, Oak Lawn, Worth, and Lockport, which had been summoned, resorted to chemicals.

As the flames lit up the evening sky, neighboring farmers hurried to Kuch's aid with horse-drawn plows. They formed into teams and furrowed the ground in an effort to check the blaze. But the roaring fire soon made their work useless.

Fire Starts in Oat Field.

The fire started in Kuch's oat field, a quarter of a mile south of his farmhouse, which is northeast of the intersection. It raced through the oat stubble, nipped through 50 bushels of oats still unsold, and set 55 tons of hay and his straw pile on fire.

By this time the nearby highways were jammed with motorists watching the blaze. The fire fighting force was augmented by nearby Civilian Conservation corps workers. Eventually they stemmed the flames with shovels at the edge of a forest preserve.

103 Prairie Fires in City.

Powder dry grass and brush kept Chicago firemen on the jump all day. Between 8 a. m. and 7 p. m. firemen extinguished 103 small prairie fires.

City and park beaches were again thronged with thousands as the southwest wind and a cloudless sky sent the mercury to 87, after several days of cool weather.

Thousands of other persons spent the day at parks or in the woodlands. The largest crowd of the year—40,890—visited the Chicago Zoölogical park at Brookfield. Many watched Reggie, the new 2,000 pound elephant seal, who was finally lured by 20 pounds of fish from the sea lion grotto pool onto the beach.

UNION AGENT SLAIN WITH WOMAN WHILE THEY SIT IN AUTO

East St. Louis, Ill., Aug. 2.—(AP)—Thomas Grissom, 29, union business agent, and Mrs. Wilma Hamilton, 22, were shot and killed today while sitting in Grissom's automobile in front of Mrs. Hamilton's home.

David B. Chesney, a neighbor, told police he heard six shots and saw a man get out of an automobile and walk to the Grissom car, open the door, and jerk the driver into the street. Grissom's body was found lying in the gutter near his car.

Police arrested John Hamilton, East St. Louis constable and a political candidate, to whom they learned the slain woman was secretly married. He denied any connection with the shooting.

According to Miss Alma Woods, sister of the dead woman, Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton never had lived together and Mrs. Hamilton had said she planned to have their marriage annulled or to get a divorce.

LAST ST. CHARLES HOLDUP SUSPECT CAPTURED BY U. S.

John Sullivan, 40 years old, an ex-convict, surrendered without resistance early yesterday to federal agents who caught him in a hotel at Cedar Lake, Ind., according to J. Edgar Hoover's office in Washington. Sullivan is the last to be captured of eight men accused of the $16,000 robbery of the St. Charles National bank in St. Charles last Jan. 31.

Sullivan was placed in the South Bend jail and bank robbery charges were filed with the United States commissioner there. He is to be tried here.

All seven men with whom he is alleged to have plotted the bank holdup are in custody. Three who were convicted are serving terms of 22 years in federal penitentiary. They are Fred Hansen, Phillip Dimenza, and Sam Bongiorno. The rest pleaded guilty, a prison sentence of ten years being imposed upon Leo Friedman and short terms at the federal penal farm at Milan, Mich., upon John E. Gordon, former St. Charles special policeman; Percy Rehm, florist and former chief of a Kane county vigilante committee, and James Kobart, former Will county special deputy sherif.

Call Kaufman in Mary Astor Custody Fight

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 2.—(AP)—Joseph Anderson, chief counsel for Dr. Franklyn Thorpe in his custody fight with Mary Astor of the films over their daughter, Marylyn, today said he had subpenaed George Kaufman, the playwright, as a witness in the hearing.

Anderson said his process server found Kaufman at Avalon, Santa Catalina Island, as he was preparing to leave for a yacht trip as a guest of Irving Thalberg, film producer, and his actress wife, Norma Shearer.

Dr. Thorpe's attorney said that he would summon at least six Hollywood film actors and inquire into their friendship with Miss Astor.

Kaufman Called for Today.

Kaufman will be called to testify tomorrow, the attorney said, concerning his acquaintance with Miss Astor.

The subpena, Anderson added, was in accordance with his previously expressed intention to "go very, very thoroughly into the unfitness of Miss Astor to have the child's custody."

Miss Astor is scheduled to resume her testimony tomorrow under questioning by her attorney, Roland Rich Woolley, after which she will be cross-examined by Anderson.

Asked if he would introduce the "secret diary" which he said Miss Astor wrote, Anderson replied: "If her answers give me an opportunity, the diary certainly will appear."

Tells of Love for Other.

The name "George" was put into records of the hearing in an affidavit filed by Dr. Thorpe asserting in a "written statement" his former wife had admitted love for an otherwise unidentified man.

Later the name "George Kaufman" was introduced in questioning of Miss Astor's witness, Nursemaid Nellie Richardson, when Anderson asked "Do you know George Kaufman?" The nurse said she had heard the name.

Regarding efforts of Miss Astor's studio to have opposing attorneys petition the court tomorrow for a continuance of a week in order that the actress might complete a film rôle, Anderson said he had not been consulted.

Studio to Intercede.

Merritt Hulburd, executive assistant to Producer Samuel Goldwyn, confirmed reports the studio would intercede with opposing counsel to see if the court would grant a postponement.

To permit Miss Astor to continue work in a film, court sessions have been held at night, with a first day session scheduled tomorrow.

The actress' major work in the picture would start tomorrow, however, and the studio would be unable to continue "shooting around" her, Hulburd said.

Her absence from the set during this week would cost the Goldwyn company an estimated $50,000 to $75,000.

GENERAL SHOT; REBEL WOUNDED FILL HOSPITALS

Both Sides Claim Victory in North.

Conflicting Claims

The battle for Madrid along the northern front in the Guadarrama mountains is growing in intensity. The rebels, according to a dispatch from Edward Taylor, claim the capture of the village of Guadarrama. This claim appears to be refuted by a dispatch from Henry Buckley, who was on the loyalist front.

BY EDMOND TAYLOR.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

WITH GEN. MITUEL PONTE'S ARMY AT DIVISIONAL HEADQUARTERS, SEGOVIA, Spain, Aug. 2.—[By courier to Hendaye, France.]—Gen. Mituel Ponte's victory over the Madrid forces at the village of Guadarrama yesterday actually was just as smashing as the rebels' communique announced, but the cost in life which the headquarters glossed over, has been terrific, I learned today.

[Guadarrama is about 30 miles north of Madrid and on the southern slope of the mountains.]

The battle of Guadarrama was the first real fighting since the beginning of the two weeks' old Spanish civil war.

Loyalists Flee.

After three days of intensive shelling and several hours of hand to hand fighting with bayonets and hand grenades, the loyalists fled, leaving hundreds dead on the field while the rebel casualties in dead and wounded amounted to more than 800.

That is the story of the battle of Guadarrama which I obtained from a participant. At the base hospital here every bed is filled with seriously wounded men. Hotels and large private homes have been converted into improvised hospitals with amateur nurses.

In the early hours of dawn today I drove past a long line of ambulances taking major surgical cases all the way back to Burgos for operations.

Rebel General Wounded.

From the lips of one wounded survivor of the battle—a captain with a bandaged leg, who limped and walked with a cane, I got the following vivid picture of the battle:

"It was the toughest fighting I have ever seen," he said: "Our losses already were terrific from the enemy shelling and aerial bombardment even before the attack was launched.

"The proportion of officers among the casualties was fantastic. Gen. Ponte himself was badly wounded. He was blown clear off his feet by the concussion from a bomb exploding a few yards away from him and smashed face down on the ground. We picked him up with his nose broken and his head lacerated by the rough stones. He should have been sent to a hospital, but after first aid treatment he insisted on returning to the fight.

Fiercest Fighting in Town.

"The fiercest fighting occurred in the town itself when our left flank, under Maj. Valderama, came out of a little pine wood on the outskirts of the town and made a bayonet charge through the streets. The enemy [loyalists] fought for every inch with rifles, pistols, hand grenades, machine guns, and even improvised armored cars. When we had driven them off the streets we still had to storm the town house by house.

"It is imposible to estimate their losses, but they must have been at least three times as great as ours. We took a lot of prisoners and a huge quantity of material."

CAPTURE DISPUTED

BY HENRY BUCKLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

MADRID, Aug. 2 [Passed by Censor.]—The rebel forces failed in their attempts to break through the loyal lines at the village of Guadarrama.

Madrid was a bit worried last night by the lusty fighting in the pine wood between Guadarrama village and the Alto de Leon pass which towers above.

Gen. Riquelme, commanding officer in this sector, a gray haired, benevolent man, laughed at the rebels' claims when he talked to me in Guadarrama, which I visited today.

"The opposing forces have made desperate efforts to break through the line," he said. "Yesterday morning they attacked fiercely and we counterattacked and drove them back during the evening. The nearest enemy to us now is two and one-half miles away up the mountain side, approximately, although one cannot say exactly, as they are always shifting their positions among the pine woods."

The village of Guacarrama was quiet and peaceful. Gen. Riquelme, wearing gray overalls, drove me in his car some distance up the mountain to see the scene of the fighting closer at hand.

The heat was terrific for part of the pine wood had caught fire. Enemies and friends were lost in the great clouds of smoke. The crackle of rifle fire and the rattle of machine guns came vaguely out of the smoke. There was practically no artillery fire.

I learned that, apart from the artillery duel between the opposing batteries, the fighting, in great part has been guerrilla warfare. Groups of some twenty rebels move here and there changing positions constantly and the loyal forces answer with similar tactics. It was never possible to take a map and mark out an actual line of fighting, for it was always changing. There are so many civilians fighting on both sides in nondescript uniforms that even the fighters are hard put to tell friend from foe.

Planes Battle Warships.

GIBRALTAR, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Two loyal Spanish warships and two rebel airplanes fought a 50 minute battle six miles off the Rock of Gibraltar tonight while hundreds of bathers watched from the beach. Observers believed none of the combatants was hit.

The ships and planes blazed away at each other with machine guns, and the water craft used anti-aircraft guns.

The insurgent planes finally disappeared in the direction of Ceuta, Spanish Morocco, while the warships headed for Malaga, Spain.

Conscript Railroads.

MADRID, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Spain's leftist government today conscripted railroads and utility plants. This marked another step in the leftist government's determination to utilize every available force in its fight against the rebels.

Two broadcasting firms at Madrid were among those seized today. The government said railroads would be operated regularly.

The government also announced it would pay house rent up to 50 per cent, and in some cases in entirety, to relieve unemployed workers now fighting for the republic.

Bombardment and the firing of cities spread new terror on the sixteenth day of the violent civil war.

The gas factory and surrounding buildings of Barcelona were a "formidable bonfire," loyalist aviators said after a flight over the Mediterranean city. Loyalists hold the city but much violence and disorder have been reported there.

Streets of Palma, Mallorca, in the Balearic Islands were fired by leftist planes which bombed rebel barracks, ammunition storehouses, and utility plants there. Leftists fled the southern part of the city as the fire encroached, the aviators said.

WOMAN RESCUED BY U. S. WARSHIP TELLS OF TERROR

Yanks Periled by Young Gunmen in Madrid.

MARSEILLES, France, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Mrs. Marion Hay, one of the first Americans to reach here from Madrid since the revolution's outbreak, described tonight the experiences of the American colony during what she called "the terror of the Madrid revolt."

Mrs. Hay was among a group of 85 Americans, most of them students, who arrived here on the cruiser Quincy from Valencia after a long trip from the capital by train. The Quincy is now going to the aid of Americans at Barcelona and Palma, Mallorca.

"We were glad to get out of Madrid," Mrs. Hay said. "Many of us slept at the American embassy, which was turned into a dormitory with 40 mattresses on the floor.

Worst Fight at Garrison.

"The most terrible day in Madrid was that of the outbreak of the rebellion at the Montana garrison and other garrisons, which was scheduled for noon.

"The government learned of the impending revolt at 7 a. m. and went into action. The battle was terrible. Many of the officers of the Montana barracks committed suicide by agreement rather than surrender to the government.

"The streets of Madrid during the revolt were like a battleground. The chief danger was from auto loads of young communists and Socialists who pushed guns in the faces of everybody they met. We never knew when one of their fingers might tremble on the trigger. When we identified ourselves by our passports they let us go.

"There was little that could be called wild looting, for the leftist militiamen merely walked into stores and took the food and clothing they needed. I never saw them take valuables."

Valencia Cathedral Ruined.

While the women at the American embassy slept on mattresses, the men got as much rest as they could in the embassy garage, Mrs. Hay said.

"The embassy officials arranged to get us out Thursday, for fear that Gen. Queipo de Llano's rebel army would soon reach Alcazar de San Juan, thereby cutting off rail communications to Valencia," she went on.

"We were escorted to the train, where civil guards gave the hundred Americans the only seats, while Spanish refugees stood or sat on the platforms and steps of the cars.

"A representative of the consulate at Valencia showed us the ruins of the cathedral, which was burned with all its religious objects. Only three churches were left intact in all Valencia.

"There was a bad food shortage there.

"We Americans parted as good friends with the Spanish leftists when the Quincy came to take us to Marseilles, for they gave us all wool blankets to keep warm aboard the cruiser."

Rescue 12 at Vigo.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2.—[Special.]—American ships are still hurrying to remove American nationals from cities in war troubled Spain, Claude G. Bowers, floating ambassador of the United States, reported to the state department today.

The coast guard cutter Cayuga, on which the American embassy has been established, went first to Vigo yesterday and evacuated twelve persons. The Gayuga touched at Coruna and Ferrol without finding any American who wanted to leave.

BRITAIN TO SUPPORT PLEA OF FRANCE FOR NEUTRALITY IN SPAIN

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, Aug. 2.—The French appeal for a general policy of nonintervention in Spain by other European countries was handed to the British foreign office this morning. It is understood the British foreign office assured the French any attempt by Italy and Germany to gain a foothold in the Balearic islands or Ceuta, North Africa, would be considered a cause for war in the Mediterranean.

While no official reply has yet been formulated there is no doubt that the implications of the French note are accepted and approved by the British ministers. The French note was sent only to Great Britain and Italy, as the Mediterranean powers most interested, but its terms provide for further extension of the proposed understanding on neutrality to other powers.

A further cause of alarm over the Moroccan situation, apart from the uneasiness over the dangers seen here in Spain becoming a Fascist state, is the fear that some successor of Abd-el Krim, famous exiled Riffian rebel, may arise and start an uprising of the native population similar to that of 1925 which would possibly spread to the French and Italian holdings in North Africa.

LOYALIST CALLS REBELS, BY RADIO, TO SURRENDER

Still Time to Win Mercy, Barrio Promises.

BY JAY ALLEN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

GIBRALTAR, Aug. 2.—A carefully worded but most urgent summons to the Spanish rebels to surrender was broadcast over the Valencia radio station tonight by Diego Martinez-Barrio, speaker of the cortes [Spanish parliament].

"The hour of surrender has come," shouted Barrio, a conservative Republican and past grand master of Spanish Masonry. "I beg you to shed no more blood and to submit to constituted authority. For certain roads [he emphasized his words] are not yet closed and they soon may be."

What he meant was, first, that if they wait they will never escape alive and, second, that if the suicidal struggle between the propertied classes continues the road to Democratic government will be closed and Spain will head toward communism. How far Barrio's tacit promise of mercy to the rebels will be respected by the stricken masses of Andalusia, it is hard to say.

Block Will of Nation.

Barrio defined the rebellion as an attempt of the privileged classes to block the will of the nation.

"The rebels have failed because they are fighting a government that is not Marxist and an army of civil guards and shock police that are not Marxists and because they have arisen against the legitimate president of a legitimate government, a cortes legally elected at the polls and presided over by a government that won the election.

"This government is loyally supported by the working class, God be thanked."

Then came a warning of communism unless the struggle, which is destroying the fabric of the state, is stopped.

Saps Fascist Unity.

Barrio's appeal will, it is believed, strengthen the hands of the officers within the rebel garrisons whose hearts are not in the rebellion and who may be secret members of the powerful anti-Fascist committees which are largely responsible for nipping the conspiracy at Madrid and Barcelona and, on Thursday of last week, at Valencia.

The committees include generals, privates, Masons, Catholics, Republicans, Socialists, and communists. They are organized like the communists in cells of five, each five ignoring the identity of the members of the other cells. They have a code and a remarkable system of espionage. They knew of the revolt plans of the generals, Francisco Franco, Gonzalo Queipo de Llano, and company.

Afraid to Nab Plotters.

The government, Gen. Queipo revealed at Seville, tried to arrest him on the eve of the rebel movement. Evidence of the republic's weakness is that it was unwilling to risk a wholesale arrest of generals known to be plotting against it.

Where the rebel conspiracy failed they may still be heard from within the rebel area where daily arrests of high officers indicate the rebel command suspects disloyalty is afoot. There are many whose membership in the subterranean cells was not suspected. The rebels have got no masses of the people behind them. Outside of a few thousand Fascist boys none of the classes Franco is trying to "save" are lending a hand to the job.

Escaped Convict Prefers Prison to Life in Spain

PERPIGNAN, France, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Spain's civil war today drove an escaped French convict back to the peace and quiet of a prison cell. Louis Charles Bois, who escaped from the prison colony in French Guiana and went to live in Spain, crossed the border and surrendered to police here with the assertion "a cell is better than living among fighting Spaniards."

PATRIOTS IN EAST AND WEST JOIN THE VOLUNTEERS

Women Leaders Enroll to Save the Nation.

THE VOLUNTEERS yesterday enlarged their rapidly growing organization to reach the eastern seaboard and stretched toward California on the west coast as patriots rallied to the colors. There are only ninety-three days in which to save your country. What are YOU doing to save it?

THE VOLUNTEERS hold the answer to the question, and your problem. Whatever your talents may be, there is a place for you in this group of citizens who have offered their services to help Landon win the Presidency and preserve America for Americans.

Pledge Cards for Every One.

A pledge card is waiting for YOU on the seventeenth floor of the Tribune Tower. Enlist there for the campaign and begin your coöperation with the other organized groups of the city, state, and country, who seek the defeat of the New Deal.

Enthusiastic over THE VOLUNTEERS, which they believe fills a great need, four national women leaders called yesterday on Miss Ruth De Young, who is in charge of women's activities. Each of the guests joined the organization, ordered quantities of literature and promised to establish branches in their home communities.

Mrs. Preston Davie of New York and Long Island, the first woman ever to be chairman of the finance committee of the New York State Republican committee, was certain the east would fall behind THE VOLUNTEERS with fervor. It is the one thing that can assure the election of Landon, she said.

Pennsylvania Leader Enlists.

"I want all the literature you can send me and all your organization plans," said Mrs. Worthing Scranton of Scranton, Pa., who is vice chairman of the Republican national committee. "This is a marvelous project."

Rhode Island will be organized by Mrs. Paul Fitzsimmons, the former Elsie Vanderbilt, whose son, William H. Vanderbilt, is Republican candidate for governor of her state.

"I just read of this today," said Mrs. Laura B. Chambers of Sarasota, Fla., a leader in women's club activities. "I'm motoring home Monday. Give me 125 pledge cards, and I will line up the key women in every town on the way. When I get home I'll need more. Next month I am flying to San Francisco, and I will spread the good word there, too."

Women Plan Busy Week.

The seventeenth floor of Tribune Tower will be a beehive of activity this week as the various women's groups throughout the city start their campaigns.

At 11 o'clock this morning, Mrs. Harriet M. Robertson, head of the Women's Civic council of the Chicago area, will meet in the tower with twenty-five leading women of her organization, all pledged to support the Landon candidacy. They will plan how best their work may coöperate with the regular Republican organizations of the various wards.

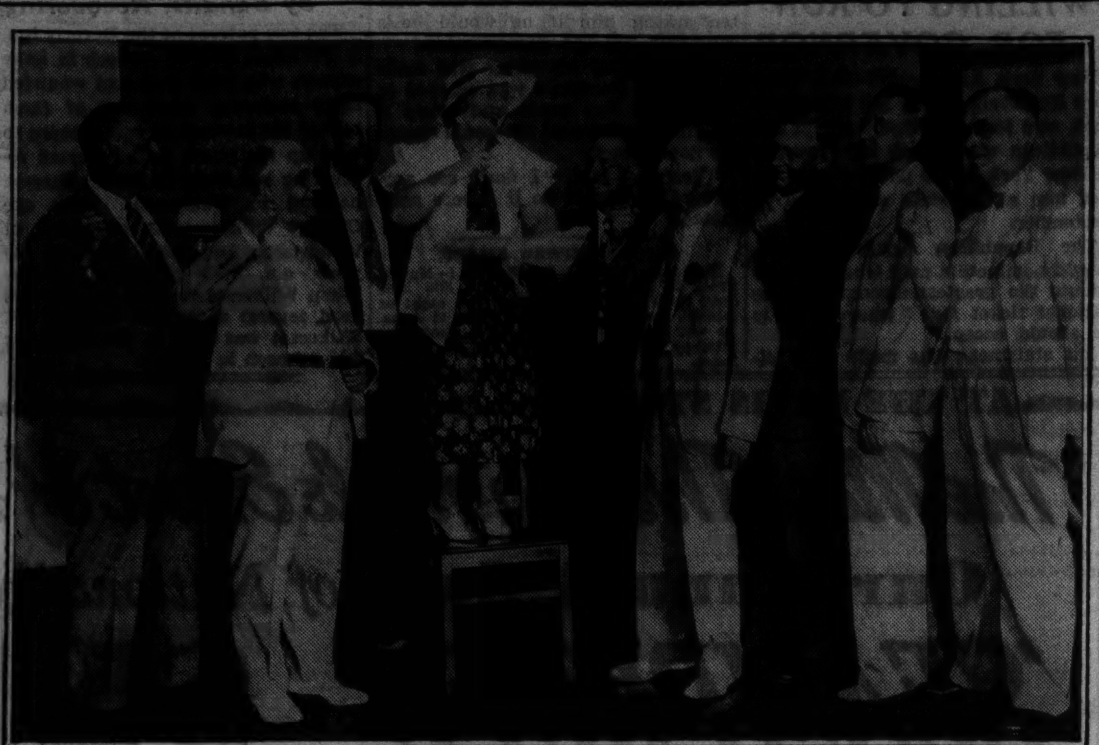
In the mail this morning will be a letter sent by Mrs. David H. Jackson, president of the State Republican Women's club, urging every member to report to THE VOLUNTEERS to learn how she can assist the cause. Mrs. Jackson and her executive board will meet with Miss De Young next week.

Answer Call to Save U. S.

"Congratulations to THE TRIBUNE," writes Mrs. Jackson. "As American patriots we answer your call to save America. Our volunteers will report for service at once."

Hundreds of men of every age already have been enrolled with suggestions from Julius Miner, head of the men's division, on how they can best help defeat the Washington burocrats. Hundreds of others, men and women, who have musical talent, have been formed into musical units by Philip Maxwell, in charge of this branch. They will tour the city, state, and country, to sing Landon to victory.

Downstate Republicans Join THE VOLUNTEERS



Group at headquarters of THE VOLUNTEERS on the 17th floor of Tribune Tower, as Republican leaders of Illinois pledged their aid in opposing the New Deal in the presidential campaign. 2 COURTS TO AIR VAN SCHAACK JR. FEUD THIS WEEK

Two court appearances are obligatory this week upon Cornelius Peter Van Schaack Jr. and one upon his estranged wife, Nancy, and five of her relatives. Van Schaack, a business executive, 27 years old, who is known as a swift automobile driver, is the heir to part of $500,000 left by his father, a wholesale druggist.

On July 21, his wife, who is 25 years old, sued him for separate maintenance in Circuit court and obtained an injunction restraining Van Schaack from molesting her. Tomorrow he must be in court to answer Mrs. Van Schaack's charge that he violated the injunction by trying forcibly to remove a bracelet from her arm while he was visiting the home of her mother, Mrs. William C. Steffy, 530 Maple avenue, Wilmette.

Next Saturday he must appear before Justice of the Peace John J. Peters of Wilmette on a disorderly conduct charge because last Saturday he gave his two children an automobile ride after picking them up before the family home at 420 Washington avenue, Wilmette. His wife asked a kidnaping warant. He countered by obtaining disorderly conduct warants for her, her parents, her brother, her sister, and her sister's husband—who, too, must face Justice Peters Saturday.

SHOOTS HIMSELF; DIES.

Achilles Occhordor, 45 years old, died yesterday in the Bridewell hospital from a bullet wound self-inflicted Saturday in his room at 2355 Ohio street.

'BOSS' PENDERGAST MAY DROP POLITICAL REINS OF MISSOURI

New York, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Thomas J. Pendergast Jr., son of the Missouri political leader, planned to leave by train tonight for Kansas City with last minute instructions from his bedridden father to his Missouri Democratic organization on the eve of the state primary election.

Mrs. T. J. Prendergast Sr. today indicated the elder Pendergast, known as "the boss," may never return to active leadership of the Kansas City organization as it was carried on by him in past years.

Mrs. Pendergast also indicated her husband, who was stricken with a heart ailment during the Democratic convention, may be able to return to Kansas City in late September.

Wife Has Mate Arrested for Painting Her Body Red

Indianapolis, Ind., Aug. 2.—(AP)—Mrs. Geneva Shepard, 28 years old, accused her estranged husband today of painting her body from head to foot with red paint. Police arrested the husband, Charles, 36, and charged him with assault and battery with intent to kill.

PUBLIC OFFICIALS TO LEAD VOTERS IN REGISTRATION

State, county and city officials are expected to be among the first voters enrolling under the new system of permanent registration, which will be inaugurated tomorrow in the offices of the Chicago board of election commissioners in the city hall. Representatives of civic organizations also will be in the first line of registrants.

Among the officials scheduled to register tomorrow are Gov. Horner, Mayor Kelly, State's Attorney Courtney, Clayton Smith, president of the Cook county board; State Senator Richey V. Graham, and State Representative Elmer J. Schnackenberg.

Others expected are Frank J. Loesch, head of the Chicago crime commission, and Attorney Walter F. Dodd, who drafted the permanent registration law.

India Print

HOUSE COAT and matching PLAY SUIT

$2.95 each

Maybe it's the new use of India Print. Maybe it's the roguish cut of the Play Suit—halter neck, low in back—or the stately lines of the Housecoat. Anyway, these two caused a flurry when we offered them before. So here they are again. Blue, green, red, orange and black are the predominating colors and each design is different. You may buy them separately, but you'll love the pair—especially at such a price. $2.95 each.

Laundering Instructions

They tub beautifully, but must be washed in lukewarm suds and thoroughly rinsed, because the prints are dyed in India and contain excess dye. Rinse the coat out before wearing, especially if it is to be worn over a wet bathing suit.

NEW DEAL AIDS CALLED TO MAP CAMPAIGN PLAN

Roosevelt to Meet Today with Strategists.

BY WALTER TROHAN.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hyde Park, N. Y., Aug. 2.—[Special.]—President Roosevelt tonight plunged into his campaign for reelection by summoning the Democratic board of strategy to the summer White House tomorrow afternoon for a council of war on campaign plans and finances.

Mr. Roosevelt turned to consideration of the formulation of campaign plans after a quiet day on his family estate at the end of his cruising vacation and good will visit to Canada.

A decision on what part the President is personally to play in the campaign is expected to come out of the meeting. To date Mr. Roosevelt has insisted he has given no thought to his stumping.

Parley to Map Finances.

The conference also is expected to develop plans for filling the party war chest. Democratic leaders have announced the party will spend approximately the same amount as in 1932—approximately 2 million dollars.

Chief among the strategists summoned to the conference is James A. Farley.

With Farley will be the other officers of the national committee, Treasurer W. Forbes Morgan, Secretary Lawrence W. Robert Jr., Charles Michelson, master publicist, and Mary Dewson, head of the women's division.

Walker on Council.

Another member of the council is Frank Walker, director of a chain of eastern movie theaters, who financed the Roosevelt pre-convention campaign four years ago and then took over the treasury of the committee. Walker, who twice resigned the chairmanship of the national emergency council to return to private life, was called on during the week to direct party finances.

A new face at the council will be that of Stanley High, religious publicist, who was called to advise the White House after the blundering letter to clergymen asking their aid in guiding the New Deal reacted unfavorably in the pulpits of the land.

Wallace, Davis to Attend.

Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace and Chester Davis, former AAA administrator and now agricultural member of the federal reserve board, who were called to deliver reports on the drouth, will remain to sit in on the conference. They are expected to advise on the stumping in the agricultural area.

Mr. Roosevelt slept late this morning after his trying day in the New England flood area, then snatched a hurried breakfast and attended services at St. James Episcopal church, where he was baptized.

In the afternoon as senior warden of the ivy-clad gray stone church he met with vestrymen. Mr. Roosevelt lunched with a few neighbors and had others to tea.

HAMILTON HOPS OFF TODAY TO ORGANIZE G. O. P. DRIVE IN WEST

John Hamilton, chairman of the Republican national committee, will leave here today on an airplane tour of the west to organize the G. O. P. campaign with state and county party leaders. The trip will cover 6,746 miles through 16 states.

Hamilton expects to meet nearly every county chairman in the area. In a series of meetings he will devote himself to organization affairs down into the precincts to get party workers ready for the big campaign drive which will open in September. The chairman will speak at the meetings, elaborating on the issues.

Returning here Aug. 20 he will then spend most of his time at headquarters with occasional trips into other states.

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

Lima, Peru, Aug. 2.—An issue of postage stamps commemorating the hundredth anniversary of the establishment of Callao, principal port of Peru, consisting of twelve denominations, will be placed on sale Aug. 20. A complete issue for the regular mail service consisting of ten denominations and a set of new air mail stamps consisting of thirteen denominations will be ready in November after the special Callao issue has been exhausted.

GUARD 3 KILLERS TO NIP BREAK OR SUICIDE SCHEME

Precautions were taken at the county jail yesterday to prevent violence or suicide attempts by three desperadoes who were convicted Saturday night of the murder of Policeman Jerome McCauley last May 29 A jury in Judge John C. Lewe's court fixed death in the electric chair as punishment for two of the men, Frank Korczykowski, 26 years old, and Andrew Bogacki, 25 years old, and a 199 year sentence for the third man, Paul Jenkot, 24 years old.

Last Thursday the trio made a break for freedom in the Criminal court building, stabbing two guards and beating two others before they were recaptured. After the verdict was brought in Korczykowski and Bogacki were reported to have told other prisoners that "we'll never die in the electric chair."

Warden Frank Sain of the county jail instructed guards to visit the separate cells of the three men every fifteen minutes. He said each man will be placed in solitary confinement today or tomorrow as punishment for the attempted escape.

HORNER RUSHES EAST FOR PARLEY WITH JIM FARLEY

Governor Silent on Cause for Hurried Trip.

New York, Aug. 2.—[Special.]—What was referred to as the "situation" on the Illinois political campaign front was the subject of a special holiday conference here today between Gov. Henry Horner and James A. Farley, chairman of the Democratic national committee.

Just what new developments might have arisen to induce the Illinois executive to give up his Sunday for a hurried trip to the party headquarters here—he arrived on the Twentieth Century of the New York Central this morning and left for home on the same train this afternoon—he would not say. He assured newspaper reporters after the meeting that there was nothing for the Democrats to worry about in the Illinois "situation," even venturing the prediction that the state "will go Democratic in 1936 as it did in 1932."

Denies Any "Problems."

Beyond saying that he had told Mr. Farley that the situation "looked good" in Illinois, the governor did not care to discuss his talk with the party's chairman. He insisted that he had brought no problem to be "smoothed out" and stressed the point that the factional differences which developed in the Illinois party in the last primary campaign had been patched up so that the party will be able to present a "fine solidarity" at the forthcoming election.

It is understood that plans were discussed for one or more addresses in Illinois by "a speaker" whom Gov. Horner did not care to name "just yet."

Re-Inspects Famous Highway.

During the course of his brief sojourn in the sweltering city, the visiting governor found time to call on "a couple of cousins, one of whom has been seriously sick"—he insisted, in fact, that the chief purpose of his visit was to see them—and to make another trip over the famous west side highway which he came on here especially to inspect a few weeks ago. After the highway spin he announced himself as "more than ever sold" on a similar enterprise for Chicago, but could offer no hope of actual construction operations until the question of financing becomes easier of solution.

French Plane of Atlantic Mail Line Falls; 3 Killed

PARIS, Aug. 2.—(AP)—A trimotored mail plane of the Air France's South American line crashed today in mountains fifty miles from Toulouse and its three aviators were killed. The accident was attributed to fog. The plane left Le Bourget airport here at 4:50 a. m. and crashed at 6 a. m.

COL. ROOSEVELT WILLING TO RUN FOR GOVERNOR

New York, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Col. Theodore Roosevelt, son of the late President, said today he would accept the Republican nomination for governor of New York if the party should select him at its state convention in September.

The Republican party, he said, should nominate a man who will contribute the greatest strength to the national ticket and "whoever he is he should accept."

His statement was made in a letter to his friend, Fred M. Lewis, president of the Ted Roosevelt Merchant's and Salesmen's league, who had written asking him if he would be a candidate for the governorship.

Shortly after his letter was made public Col. Roosevelt was reached at his Oyster Bay home and asked if his statement meant he would accept the nomination.

"Yes," he said, "I don't see anything else I could do if I were nominated."

JUDGE'S NEPHEW KILLED.

Du Quoin, Ill., Aug. 2.—[Special.]—Marion Cook, 26 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Cook of Du Quoin, died last night of injuries incurred in an auto crash at Anna. He was a nephew of Judge M. C. Cook, city attorney of Du Quoin and former county judge.

Patrons of Tavern, Shot by Bandits, Recovering

The two patrons of the Beverly inn, a roadhouse west of Antioch in Lake county, who were shot and wounded early yesterday when one of them balked the attempt of two robbers to hold up the place, were reported recovering last night in the St. Therese hospital in Waukegan. They are Charles Wilkersol, 23 years old, of Woodstock, and Carl Johnson, 40 years old, 7753 Maryland avenue. When Wilkersol resisted the robbers fired several shots and backed out. Wilkersol was shot in the right leg and Johnson in the hip.

LANDON BEGINS WEEK OF PARTY PARLEYS TODAY

Steiwer and Dickinson to Be Among Callers.

BY PHILIP KINSLEY.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Topeka, Kas., Aug. 2.—[Special.]—Gov. Alf M. Landon enters a week of important conferences tomorrow, with Senator Frederick Steiwer of Oregon, Republican convention keynoter, and Senator John G. Townsend of Delaware, chairman of the Republican senatorial campaign committee, first on his schedule.

Louis J. Taber, master of the National Grange, and Henry Cabot Lodge Jr., prospective Republican candidate for the United States senate from Massachusetts, also are to talk with the Republican nominee.

Senator Lester J. Dickinson of Iowa, one of Gov. Landon's preconvention opponents, is to arrive in Topeka with a group of Republican state candidates tomorrow night for a talk with Landon on Wednesday.

Will Broadcast Drouth Plans.

In addition to these campaign affairs and the routine of office and unannounced visitors the governor is to go on the air at 1:15 tomorrow afternoon in a talk with Kansas farmers about the drouth situation. Several members of his cabinet also will explain what is to be done in the water and feed emergency.

A message was received at the governor's office today from E. B. Boyd, chairman of the western trunk line committee in Chicago, regarding the rate conference suggested by the governor.

"Have arranged for our lines to meet with your representatives at the Union station in Chicago at 10 o'clock Monday," the telegram said. "It will be necessary for us to have a list of counties to which stock will be forwarded for pasture. Certificate plan for either live stock or feed no longer of value. Other method must be devised. Think we can handle satisfactorily on Monday."

Townsend May Drop In.

Although no visit has been arranged, it is quite possible that Dr. F. E. Townsend, who is to speak in the Topeka auditorium tomorrow afternoon, may call on Gov. Landon during the day. The Los Angeles doctor called on the governor last winter and they held a long conference, during which Landon said that while he sympathized with old age pensions and would do what he could to forward a plan to this end he did not think the $200 a month revolving fund plan was practicable and he "could not go along with it."

Despite this, relations between Dr. Townsend and Landon are friendly, and it is said by Dr. Townsend's friends and others who have talked with him that he would rather see Landon elected than Roosevelt. The Townsend strength in California is said to be at least 500,000 votes. Inasmuch as Candidate William Lemke has indorsed the Townsend plan, it is considered probable that the Union party will draw more votes away from Roosevelt than from the Republican ticket. This situation might prove a deciding factor in close states.

Test of Strength at Polls.

The Townsend strength in Kansas is to receive a test at the state primary election on Tuesday. Former Gov. Jonathan Davis has indorsed the Townsend pension plan and is opposed by Walter A. Huxman, who has the support of Farley's New Deal organization.

Dempster O. Potts, Wichita lawyer and Townsend plan supporter, is one of the opponents of Senator Arthur Capper, veteran Republican, who is running for his fourth term. The vote also is expected to indicate the relative strength of Roosevelt and Landon in the state. The Democrats are working hard to get out a big vote.

Harold McGugin of Coffeyville, former congressman and one of the early critics of the New Deal, is seeking to regain the seat he lost in 1934.

Gov. Landon will go to Independence, his home, to vote and visit old neighbors.

Marcella Lipski.
[TRIBUNE Photo.]

Harold Elwing, 22 years old, 2328 Southport avenue, will face a reckless driving charge this week as the result of a collision Saturday night in which his car hit that of David Lipski, 4954 North Drake avenue, in front of 3614 Lawrence avenue. In the car with Lipski were his wife and daughter, Marcella, 12 years old, who was recovering from a fractured collar bone incurred in another automobile accident on July 1. The three were shaken and bruised in the collision.

MAYOR REVIVES NEW YORK CITY DRIVE ON NOISE

New York, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Mayor F. H. La Guardia ordered Police Commissioner Lewis J. Valentine to "intensify" the campaign against unnecessary noise in the city, in a letter made public today.

Saying the anti-noise ordinance of last April and the campaign then "were not intended to be a 'nine-day wonder' in this town," the mayor urged that noise abatement enforcement be made a part of the daily routine of all police officers.

"Please intensify the educational campaign," the letter said. "You will find cases where perhaps the offender will insist upon getting a 'diploma' in the shape of a summons before he can become properly educated."

Most of Britain Expects to Do Some Traveling Today

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

LONDON, Aug. 2.—Tomorrow, a bank holiday throughout the British Isles, will see a seething mass of migrating humanity. It is estimated that 12,000,000, or about a quarter of the population, will travel on the railroads alone tomorrow. And buses, autos and motorcycles will take their quotas, so that nearly all Britain will be on the move. To meet this travel peak 2,000 extra trains will be put into service.

CHICAGO GIRL KILLED AND TWO INJURED BY AUTO

Miss Eileen O'Brien, 20 years old, 7512 West 57th place, Summit, was killed and two companions were seriously injured last night when they were struck by an automobile while walking along a highway near Delavan lake, Wisconsin, where they were staying at a summer cottage. The other victims, Miss Blanche Raliak, 18 years old, also of Summit, and Edward Delmer, 18, of Harvard, Ill., were taken to the Walworth county hospital at Elkhorn, where physicians said Delmer's injuries probably would be fatal.

Blinded by Lights, Says Driver.

The trio were returning from a skating rink when the accident occurred. Deputy sherifs questioned the driver of the car, Don Flaherty, 26 years old, of Janesville, Wis., who said he was blinded by the lights of an approaching car and did not see the young people.

Alex Szatokowski, 38 years old, 1513 Walton street, was killed yesterday when the automobile in which he was riding turned over three times on a highway 18 miles west of Kenosha. His nephew, Steve Swionek, 22 years old, 1310 Holt street, who was driving, escaped injury.

Dies of Injuries.

Joseph Urban, 76 years old, 2505 North Hamilton avenue, died yesterday in the Belmont hospital of injuries incurred Friday evening when he was struck by an automobile at Hamilton and Fullerton avenues. The driver, Douglas Lasetti, 24 years old, 2250 Southport avenue, was instructed to appear at the inquest.

From Jan. 1 to 4 p. m. yesterday, 557 persons were killed in Cook county automobile accidents. During this period within Chicago, 429 were killed and 10,253 injured.

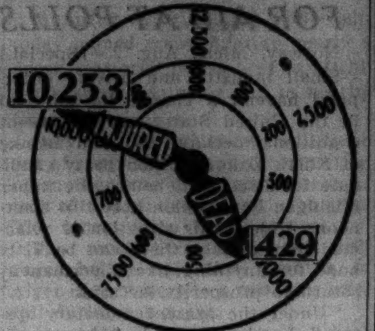
Chicago's 1936 Trafic Toll



Over 98 per cent of the city's automobile fatalities are of a nature physically impossible on an elevated highway.

Six Safety Lanes to Stay Open Nightly Till 1 A. M.

Edward J. Gorman, deputy vehicle license commissioner, announced yesterday that starting tonight six safety testing lanes for both automobiles and trucks would be kept open in the evening until 1 a. m. They are at Argyle street and Castlewood terrace, Columbus drive and 31st street, Sacramento boulevard and Grand avenue, and Sherman, McKinley, and Calumet parks. In addition to these lanes, 12 others will be kept open daily from 7 a. m. to 7 p. m., except on Sunday.

25,000 ATTEND HOMECOMING AT HINES HOSPITAL

Full Day's Entertainment Given for Veterans.

Hines Memorial hospital celebrated its 16th annual homecoming yesterday. Col. Hugh Scott, managing director of the hospital, was host to nearly 25,000 veterans, their families and friends, who gathered about the spacious grounds for the full day's program.

Those of the 1,700 patients in the institution who were physically able were brought out into the grounds to enjoy the outdoor events. The others were entertained in their rooms by stage and radio stars.

National Commander Ray Murphy of the American Legion was the guest of honor.

The day's program began with a baseball game. More than 30 Legion posts were represented in a parade preceding the afternoon program presided over by J. B. Murphy, Illinois state commander. Matthew J. Murphy, senior vice commander of the state, real the preamble to the constitution. A huge fireworks display climaxed the evening program.

Veterans of Foreign Wars, Spanish War Veterans and American Red Cross auxiliaries were also guests. Sidney T. Holzman, commander of the Cook county council of the Legion, directed arrangements.

RICH MRS. DILL CAMPAIGNS AS A DIRT FARMER

Spokane, Wash., Aug. 2.—(AP)—Wealthy Rosalie Jones Dill is campaigning for congress in the Fifth Washington district as a former dirt farmer and chicken rancher.

The divorced wife of former Senator C. C. Dill, with a new dress and bonnet for every occasion, is waging an aggressive campaign for the Democratic nomination, ringing doorbells in rural areas and providing tea and music at her Spokane headquarters.

In her campaign this wek the former suffragist "general" will carry with her a newly printed pamphlet, listing a ten point program and the experience which she contends has fitted her to fill the seat which her former husband held from 1914 to 1918.

Under "experience" she listed:

VISITORS SLOW UP THE GARNERS' FRUIT CANNING

Uvalde, Tex., Aug. 2.—(AP)—Answering a doorbell rung scores of times every day by casual visitors and tourists who hope to meet the Vice President is complicating Mrs. John N. Garner's vacation—and her summer canning.

In addition to answering the door, the Vice President's wife, who also is his secretary, answers the telephone, handles Mr. Garner's correspondence and manages the household.

She was expecting Mr. Garner back from a fishing trip today, preparatory to their trip Tuesday to Dallas, where they will be honor guests at the Texas Centennial exposition.

FORGOTTEN MAN PAYS GOVERNMENT'S BILL, DECLARES COUGHLIN

Providence, R. I., Aug. 2.—(AP)—The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin today declared that under the New Deal "the forgotten man has been remembered" in time to pay the government's bills. He spoke at an outdoor rally which he said was attended by 25,000 persons.

"Every gallon of gas you buy, every pound of butter, every loaf of bread, all your groceries and drugs, have posted on them a mortgage to the United States in favor of international bankers," he said.

He said that Herbert Hoover "and his individualism" were "the worst menace America has ever known."

In referring to the Republican presidential nominee, he called Gov. Alf M. Landon "this fellow from out west—what's his name?"

"If Herbert Hoover had been reelected," he said, "there would have been more bullet holes in the White House than you could count with an adding machine."

"But Roosevelt only stemmed the revolution. It is coming as surely as God is in heaven unless the money changers are driven from the temple. And the National Union is going to drive the servants of the money changers out of the temple and those who keep them there—the politicians."

In his attack on Roosevelt, Father Coughlin said that when the President's father "made his will he would not intrust his money to Franklin Delano Roosevelt because he did not know how to handle his own money. And this is the same man we are intrusting with millions of dollars to spend."

ZIONCHECK OUT; NINE FIGHT FOR CONGRESS SEAT

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 2.—(AP)—Representative Marion A. Zioncheck, Seattle's playboy congressman, left nine recorded candidates for his office hunting for a new target today for their campaign shafts after he declined to run again.

With his disclosure at a public meeting last night that he had dropped from the race because of his mother's illness, Zioncheck, a Democrat, snatched favorite planks from under five Democrats and four Republicans.

Virtually all of the nine, in campaign statements, pointed to Zioncheck's recent escapades in Washington, D. C., and elsewhere as reasons he should be replaced in congress.

ALBANY WOMAN REACHES 98.

Albany, Ill., Aug. 2.—[Special.]—Mrs. Peter Ege, who has lived in her present residence more than half a century, observed her 98th birthday anniversary yesterday.

LEMKE APPEALS TO FARM UNION FOR AID AT POLLS

Norway, Mich., Aug. 2.—[Special.]—Small industry and private enterprise haven't a chance for survival in the United States, under present conditions, declared William Lemke of North Dakota, Union party candidate for President, before the upper Michigan Farm union here this afternoon. Unless this situation is remedied immediately, there can be little hope for anything like a permanent return to prosperity, he said.

"Under the present monetary system," Lemke charged, "the money and credit of this nation is farmed out by your government to a few private bankers who have, in the past, and will in the future, manipulate it so as to cause other depressions, those destroying your property values and all but destroying the nation.

"In other words, the United States government, in place of issuing this money and controling it and the credit of the nation for the benefit of all, now gives it to a few private individuals."

Sister, 7, Drowns in Vain Effort to Save Brother, 4

Greensboro, Md., Aug. 2.—(AP)—A 7 year old girl failed today in a heroic effort to save her younger brother from drowning. Arlie Hobbs, 4, a deaf mute, got beyond his depth. Emma May ran to his rescue. The badly frightened boy grasped his sister so tightly they both sank.

CHARITIES TO GET 30TH OF BREVOORT ESTATE IN MONTH

Bloomington, Ill., Aug. 2.—[Special.]—The first distribution of funds from the estate of John Henry Brevoort of Rutland, who died in 1934, leaving the residue of his estate to Bloomington and Normal charities, will occur within thirty days, it was announced today.

The residual estate amounted to about $400,000, according to estimates at the time of Mr. Brevoort's death.

OUTWITS JAILERS BY POSING WITH BROOM; ESCAPES

Colored Ex-Convict Just Ushered Out of Lockup.

A colored prisoner walked out of the heavily policed detective bureau yesterday by the simple ruse of picking up a broom and posing as a sweeper.

The fugitive is Walter Brown, 32 years old, an ex-convict. He was arrested last Friday for the theft of ten dresses from a shop at 1455½ Devon avenue.

With eleven other prisoners Brown was taken yesterday from the Damen avenue station to the eleventh floor lockup at the detective bureau to be paraded before crime victims at the weekly showup.

Handcuffs Taken Off.

Policemen John Struck, Walter Conrad, and William Graham were in charge of the prisoners from whom they removed the handcuffs when the men were taken up a private elevator in the rear of the building to the eleventh floor. When they counted their prisoners in the lockup they discovered Brown was missing.

The three policemen ran back to the elevator and asked the operator, Ivan Lewis, if he had taken any one down.

"There was a colored fellow," Lewis replied. "He had a broom in his hands and when he got on I asked him, 'Where to?' and he said to the seventh floor. I let him out there. I thought he was a sweeper."

Honest—He Leaves Broom.

The policemen hurried to the seventh floor and hunted. Alongside the elevator against the wall they found the broom, but Brown apparently had walked down the remaining seven floors and out into the alley.

Lieut. Richard Barry said the door of the lockup was unfastened at the time to admit other prisoners arriving for the showup.

2 BALLOONS OFF AT CLEVELAND IN 15 HOUR RACE

Cleveland, O., Aug. 3. [Monday.]—(AP)—The balloon Goodyear took off from Cleveland stadium at 1:45 a. m. today for a 15 hour match race with its rival, The Great Lakes Exposition, and headed east in gentle winds over Lake Erie.

The Cleveland balloon, delayed by inflation difficulty, followed at 2:06 a. m. Unlike the Goodyear, it barely cleared the 110 foot stadium wall after leaving out some ballast.

Officials estimated that the two 35,000 cubic foot balloons were traveling due east at about 15 miles an hour. A crowd of 5,000 persons had dwindled to about 2,000 at the long-delayed takeoff.

Seek Two Bodies Still Missing in Ship Tragedy

Capt. Albert Gross and a crew from the South Chicago coast guard station patrolled the lake near the sunken ship Material Service yesterday seeking the bodies of two members of the crew not yet recovered. Thirteen bodies have been found since the ship sank early last Wednesday morning. Seven members of the crew were rescued. The bodies still sought are those of Marshall Oberlin, Lockport, the cook, and Odin Johnson, Lemont, chief engineer. Federal steamboat inspectors will reopen their inquiry into the sinking of the boat this morning.

BUTCHER'S HOME BOMBED.

A small black powder bomb exploded early yesterday under the front porch of Alphonse Dodero, 2417 Huron street, a butcher.

SHOWERS HELP FIRE FIGHTERS IN FOREST AREA

Munising, Mich., Aug. 2.—(AP)—Rain today helped crews fighting nearly a dozen scattered forest fires in Michigan's upper peninsula and in nearby Canada.

Only one fire was known still to be out of control, although the condition of another was uncertain because of lack of communication with the area. The others were under control.

The most threatening fire still raged half a mile from Traunik, in Alger county, despite a two hour rainfall during the night.

Western Fires Grow.

An airplane pilot who flew over Isle Royale from Port Arthur, Ont., today reported that two new fires, both small, had started there.

FIRE RAGES ON IN COAL MINE WHERE 9 DIED

DuQuoin, Ill., Aug. 2.—(AP)—Fire still raged today in a section of the Union Collieries' Kathleen coal mine at Dowell in which nine men died last night from inhaling carbon monoxide gas.

The nine, all miners or mine officials, had gone down to fight a fire which started when a transformer blew up and ignited oil.

Six of the men apparently were overcome while trying to drag their three companions to safety. Twelve others overcome by gas were revived.

A temporary seal, hurriedly constructed, today blocked off the section in which the fire still burned from other parts of the mine. Mine officials said a concrete seal would be set tomorrow and the fire would burn itself out.

SENATOR LOGAN HOLDS LEAD IN KENTUCKY POLL

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 2.—(AP)—United States Senator M. M. Logan today poised his 5,806 statewide plurality against this city's uncounted ballot boxes which held the answer to whether former Governor J. C. W. Beckham wrested from Logan in yesterday's Demacratic primary the Democratic nomination to succeed himself.

Returns from 2,573 of Kentucky's 4,296 precincts gave today: Beckham, 112,748; Logan, 118,554; John Young Brown, 62,206.

Robert Lucas won the Republican nomination easily.

Representative Fred M. Vinson was far ahead in the race for the Democratic nomination for United States representative from the Eighth district. With 402 out of 495 precincts reporting, Vinson led Frank Saulsberry 33,257 to 6,970.

Arrest Couple on Charges Made by Runaway Girl, 13

Alfred Olino, alias Martin, 1019 North Dearborn street, and his wife, Julia, were arrested by Chicago avenue police yesterday on charges of harboring a girl, 13 years old, who had run away from home. The girl told police that Olino brought men to her in his flat.

Moving Forward

Marshall Field & Company presents here each day observations and opinions intended to be of interest and value to those it seeks to serve.

THE SUPREME LESSON

By CALEB

VISUALIZE a woman. She is the eternal feminine of Chicago—or of the United States—sometimes of another continent. She feeds the myriad men of the populace, makes them comfortable, and listens to their endless tales of conquest. She is woman! She is the bride, the mother, and the housewife. In another mood and at another hour she may be the arbiter of fashion, the leader of her community, and the supreme initiator of the taste trends of her set. For she is woman—all that the word implies. She personifies the ideals of the nation, she sets the standards of the home's surroundings, and tinctures the moral fibre of the nation with her determination to better the world.

She has ideas, opinions, wants, desires, and prejudices—and generally they are constructive, worth while, and the dayspring of most of the world's happiness. For woman leavens the loaf of life.

We believe no business can have a higher calling than to cater to women. We believe no business can have a higher ideal than to anticipate the requirements of women, and to meet those requirements as they should be met—conveniently, quickly, cordially. To this end the world is full of things that contribute to catering to women. Our own case is illustrative of the very great lengths to which business goes in this task of serving the feminine taste.

Mills busily functioning here and there, offices in remote corners of the earth, buyers constantly hurrying to all the world's merchandise centers, great factories with whirring looms and machines, a thousand and one assorted endeavors and innumerable daily routines, and thousands of employes, all existing to make their contribution to the needs of woman!

There is a supreme lesson we would have our sales people and all others of our employes learn and remember in every transaction. It is this—that the vast facilities and all the assets and personnel of our business have been built up with but one intention—that we be able to satisfy the requirements of the American woman—and the American man—who with their families make up the vast body of shoppers who enter our store. That is our aim, our ambition, and our ideal.

ASSEMBLY GETS RELIEF DEFICIT BILLS TOMORROW

Three Measures Await Special Session.

Three measures drawn to meet relief deficits in Chicago and downstate counties will be introduced at Springfield tomorrow when the second special session of the general assembly reconvenes after a recess of six weeks.

Senator Harold G. Ward [Dem., Chicago], Mayor Kelly's legislative spokesman, finished the draft of the bills over the week-end. If passed, Ward believes they will furnish stopgap funds for relief needs until Jan. 1.

The Ward legislation provides:

1. An appropriation of $6,000,000 from the state treasury to the Illinois Emergency Relief commission to help pay the costs of relief administration.

2. A companion bill providing that the cost of relief may be paid from sales tax funds.

Cites Present Stipulation.

3. A third bill raising the state's relief allocation to counties from $2,000,000 to exactly one-third of the sales tax collections.

The three cent sales tax is now bringing in about $6,500,000 monthly, Ward said, but the present law stipulates that while one-third of the collections shall go to the counties, it shall not exceed $2,000,000. The new bill would increase this to more than $2,150,000.

What Gov. Horner's attitude would be toward the suggested bills was not known. It may, in part, be decided by the results of his conferences last Saturday with the other Democratic state candidates, most of whom opposed his renomination in April. So far as could be learned there is no "Horner" relief program ready for submission to the session.

Urges Prompt State Action.

A report made public yesterday by Grace Abbott, chairman of a special survey committee of the American Association of Social Workers, urged the legislature to act promptly to provide additional relief funds.

"A careful examination of existing relief practices in some twenty-nine communities," said Miss Abbott, "reveals that large groups of persons are suffering from lack of adequate food, shelter, and medical attention."

The report urged that the accumulated surplus of the sales tax be released for current relief purposes and recommended that an additional fraction of the sales tax be allocated for relief.

GHOST LINE BARS MECHANIZED FOE IN DRIVE ON CITY

An enemy army, imaginary except for units of mechanized cavalry, artillery, and aviation, "menaced" Chicagoland yesterday, but was held in check by an altogether mythical force of regulars while Maj. Gen. C. E. Kilbourne concentrated his second army of regulars and National Guardsmen to protect the central west metropolis.

At Fort Knox, Ky., his 5th corps area troops—20,000 troops of Kentucky, Indiana, Ohio, and West Virginia—were virtually mobilized last night for the three weeks of war games, and the 6th corps [Chicago] area—Illinois, Wisconsin, and Michigan—was preparing to concentrate its 24,000 men next Saturday near Camp Custer, Mich.

Everybody, from general to private, knows that the mechanized outfits will break through the fantom regulars in time to reach Camp Custer Sunday. On Aug. 20 the iron troops will attack and on Aug. 22 the 6th corps warriors will return to farms and factories.

WANATAH BAND ENTERS MUSIC FESTIVAL CONTEST

The 30 piece Wanatah (Ill.) High school band, directed by Archie Slusser of Chicago, which is entered in the class D division of the juvenile band contest of the seventh Chicagoland music festival, to be held Saturday night, Aug. 15, in Soldiers' field. The Band Mothers' club of Wanatah is sending the boys and girls to Chicago.

ENTRIES CLOSE TODAY IN TRIBUNE MUSIC FESTIVAL

When the festival office door closes at 6 o'clock tonight entries for the 1936 Chicagoland Music Festival contests will be ended. All signed entry blanks must be in Tribune Tower, room 1418, at that time. This applies to bands, choruses, drum and bugle corps, baton twirlers, vocalists from outside of Cook county, cornetists, violinists, harmonicists, and yodlers.

Gold, silver and bronze medals await the victors and many of them will be heard Saturday night, Aug. 15, before an audience of 100,000 persons at the festival concert in Soldiers' field.

One of the outstanding mixed groups entered in the competition is the Minneapolis A Capella chorus which recently won first place in a choral contest sponsored in that city by the Minneapolis Tribune and park board before 18,000 people. The Minneapolis Tribune is coöperating with THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE in presenting the festival this summer.

The second rehearsal of the south side boys and girls in the all-Chicago high school massed band of 1,100 players will be held at 11 a. m. today in room 225 in Tilden Tech High school.

12 LABOR UNIONS OF FEDERATION ON TRIAL TODAY

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2.—(AP)—With the leader of the group adhering to a refusal to appear for the proceedings, twelve American Federation of Labor unions—a third of its membership—tonight were at the eve of "trial" by the federation's executive council on charges of "insurrection."

Headed by John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers' president, the twelve unions have set out to enroll all workers in each big industry into individual large unions.

The craft union faction, dominating the council and led by William Green, A. F. of L. president, contends this move violates federation policy—that highly skilled employés should be members of unions organized by their crafts no matter where they work.

The executive council may take one of three courses:

1. Find the twelve unions "guilty" and suspend them.

2. Acquit them and allow them to continue their organization campaigns without interference.

3. Postpone action until the federation's annual convention next November in Tampa, Fla.

SALES TAX PUTS BURDEN ON POOR, ASSERTS BROOKS

Wayland Brooks, Republican nominee for governor, told a picnic crowd of 10,000 at Joliet yesterday that the Illinois 3 cent sales tax is in reality a 3 per cent income tax to many citizens of the state.

"It is a tax on the necessities of life," he said. "The man of small means spends almost all of his money for necessities. Therefore for him it is an income tax under another name. Let's put more of a burden on the luxuries. That's not radical. It's horse sense."

Earlier in the day Brooks spoke at a homecoming gathering of St. Joseph's church at Kankakee. The pastor, the Rev. Harris A. Darsche, former national chaplain of the American Legion, knew Brooks when the candidate was serving in the United States marines overseas.

The aggregate pay roll for the civilian personnel of the executive branch of the government for the month of June, according to the civil service commission, was $129,487,167.

On this basis the civilian pay roll in the executive branch alone would be $1,553,846,004 for a year, approximately one-third of the total annual revenue of the United States.

The 252,168 pay rollers added by the Roosevelt administration represent 30 per cent of the total now on the executive pay roll, so that the New Deal has increased the annual cost of government $366,153,801 by the addition of the taxeaters alone.

16,000 JAM ZOO FOR GORILLA'S BIRTHDAY PARTY

Susie, 10, Shares a Big Cake with Children.

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 2.—(AP)—Susie, a trained gorilla, observed her tenth birthday with a party today as 16,000 persons jammed the Cincinnati zoo, where she has "resided" during her seven years in this country.

The visitors heard her chatter delightedly as a birthday cake, candles and all, was placed before her in her cage. She shared the cake with children.

Annoyer Is Absent.

Many of the "guests" at the annual party expected to find a ventriloquist annoyer in the audience, but he did not appear.

Several times lately the ventriloquist has attended Susie's daily "show" and broken her composure with cat-calls, imitations of a baby crying, or a rooster's crow.

These have so disconcerted Susie that William Dressman, her trainer, at times has had difficulty in regaining her attention sufficiently to put her through her act.

In addition to the cake, two feet in diameter, Susie sat down with Dressman to a dinner of celery, gelatin, a cooked wheat cereal, tea, bread, and butter.

Children Share Cake.

She received just a small portion of the pastry, however. The remainder was cut into slices, and distributed to children among the audience.

Susie arrived in the United States aboard the Graf Zeppelin on that ship's first westward Atlantic crossing.

KIN OF "BUFFALO BILL" WILL GATHER TODAY FOR FAMILY REUNION

Marietta, O., Aug. 2.—(AP)—Hundreds of descendants and relatives of Col. William Frederick Cody will gather in this pioneer Ohio river town tomorrow to recall the stirring days when the west was young and their noted kinsman gained his title of "Buffalo Bill" as an Indian fighter, scout, and slayer of bison.

The two day annual family reunion will commemorate the 90th birthday of the plainsman's birth and the 100th anniversary of immigration to Marietta by a member of the Cody family.

Chester W. Crouch of Columbus, O., in charge of arrangements for the meeting, said 600 or 700 of the 4,000 members of the Cody Family association would attend.

New Revolt in Honduras Starts, Nicaragua Hears

[Copyright: 1936: By the New York Times.]

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Aug. 2.—There are persistent rumors here that another revolt has broken out in Honduras and that the rebels are concentrated near the Nicaraguan frontier. The rebels' reported slogan is "the constitution, free suffrage and down with the succession."

[The phrase "down with the succession" is explained by the fact that President Tiburcio Carias Andino requested the Honduran congress early this year to amend the constitution to let the president serve consecutive instead of alternate terms.]

NEIGHBORS BUY INSULL TRINKETS AT ENGLISH FARM

[Wireless to New York News.]

THEALE, England, Aug. 2.—Women tumbled over each other in the small sitting room of Pincents farm, picturesque country house on the outskirts of Theale in Berkshire, yesterday to buy the belongings "of their whitehaired friend" Samuel Insull, erstwhile American utilities magnate.

The villagers still remember Insull as the "gentleman of Pincents." Insull used Pincents farm as a country house while in England, following his flight from America, but sold the property and went to Greece. His household belongings came under the auctioneer's hammer this week-end.

Nutcrackers which cost $3 a set were sold to a neighbor for $82. Three wine coolers brought $250. The silverware, initialed "SI," was sold in lots.

LEADERS
make CLAIMS!

THEIR RECORDS
SPEAK FOR THEMSELVES!

Lindbergh doesn't have to claim he can span the Atlantic by plane single-handed. He proved he could. Shirley Temple doesn't have to claim she is first among child screen stars. The box office receipts show this to be true. Claims are the weapons of challengers. Leaders prefer to hold their lead on the basis of sterling performance. That is as true in the business world as it is in the theatrical, professional and athletic worlds. We don't have to claim that we are leaders—and that as leaders we offer greater buying advantages than anyone else. The fact that Evans is America's largest exclusive furrier proves this! Our plain, unvarnished policy of consistently delivering above the average quality and style at far below average prices is a matter of record. It was this policy, in fact, that gave us unrivaled leadership. That women would much rather put their fur coat dollars into fur coats than into fancy fixtures and fabulous rentals is shown not alone by the fact that we enjoy the largest business among all exclusive furriers in America, but also because this gigantic volume is founded on customer loyalty. In the past six months seventy-four per cent of our total business was represented by repeat and recommended patronage. Women know full well that the finest fur coat in the world is just as beautiful, just as valuable on the third floor of the Butler Building as it is in the elaborate setting of the most fashionable Parisian salon—with a considerable price difference in favor of the Butler Building's third floor. Now, during our August Value Crusade, we invite every woman to prove these truths to herself by inspecting and comparing our collection of nearly five thousand fur coat fashions for 1937—perhaps the largest in the entire world—designed and inspired from originals created by the foremost fashion monarchs of Paris. We especially urge value-wise women to check the money-saving prices at which this display of infinite variety is marked for this historic occasion. Why not do it today?

THE ATTACK ON THE COURTS.

The crop of bills to reduce in one way or another the powers or jurisdiction of the federal courts, especially those of the Supreme court, is much greater than ever in any past period of discontent. The Tribune News Service reports more than a dozen in the senate and 66 in the house, all of which died with the session but many if not most of which will be revived in the next congress, at any rate if the election preserves the New Deal.

In time of economic depression and disorder, discontent and impatient reform have always produced attacks on the constitution and its essential guardian, the judicial branch of government. Radicals know that the citadel of the order they would overthrow is the judiciary and its institutions, especially the federal Supreme court. Less extreme but short-sighted and impatient would-be reformers demand the removal of any restraint upon their pet reform, and the result is a barrage of bills embodying a variety of schemes for restricting judicial scope and authority but all directed against the protections of our system of free government.

It is to the credit of the political intelligence of the American people throughout their history that these assaults have never yet won their objectives. Yet it cannot be assumed that they never will. They are repeated in every troubled time and they must be resisted. Certainly at this time, when the forces of subversion are intrenched in power and supplied for the first time with resources never possessed by them before, it is essential that this resistance shall be made and the battle won again. The situation rightly gives anxiety to the citizens devoted to the American order, and it is natural and timely that American lawyers should be among the first to sound the alarm and enter the fray. A committee of the American Bar association has given study to all the proposals for new limitations upon the federal courts, declaring that the number and tenor of these bills indicate a lack of understanding of our constitutional system or an impatience with its restraints upon the congress and the executive that is "a disquieting portent which may easily become a serious threat to the continued existence of constitutional government."

The reality of this potential danger, as the committee points out, lies in the fact that a large number of citizens are ignorant of or indifferent to the nature of the federal government as one of delegated powers—that is, of limited power. "Enhanced prestige of that government, resulting from its constantly increasing power, both in war and peace, from the multiplication of its activities and from the wide distribution of its largesses, has engendered in the minds of many the feeling that it can do no wrong and that any curb upon its action is usurpation. In ordinary times this feeling spends itself in silent and temporary dissatisfaction. Now, however, it has become articulate. The next step conceivably may be a concerted demand for action that will remove all effective barriers from the path of federal power."

Continuing, the committee explains, and this should be read and pondered by all citizens who wish to preserve the liberties insured by the American system of government:

"The deprivation of the courts of the power to deal with unconstitutional legislation is the most insidious attack that can be made upon constitutional government. Specific amendments increasing federal power at least give notice of their purpose and permit of adequate consideration by the people. Emasculation of the courts means that all constitutional questions are remitted to congress and the executive. Theoretically this does not imply the removal of all constitutional restraints. Congress and the executive, as well as the judges, are bound by their oaths of office to observe and support the constitution. Actually, however, they are frequently laymen unfamiliar with constitutional history and law. They move in a political atmosphere and are forced to act without the benefit of having presented to them specific cases, briefed and argued by competent counsel."

Comment upon particular proposals must be postponed to another day. The general character of the movement against the federal courts, however, should be understood by lay citizens as it is by the lawyers. The characteristic powers of the Supreme court and of the federal courts generally in their interpretation of our constitutional law are essential to the preservation of the American system of government. They are essential to the preservation of the rights of the states and of the individual. They are essential to the preservation of those restraints upon centralization of power which the farseeing lovers of liberty who framed the fundamental law of the United States embedded therein. This the American people must understand if they are to remain free.

O. K. QUODDY.

It is now established that sea breeze can help a man to grow a set of burnsides to make him look like his father, but that it is not equally effective in giving a son a father's insight into economy. Thanks to Mr. Roosevelt's father's acquisitiveness and understanding of finance, he was able to accumulate a fortune for his son. That son, now our President, has just given fresh evidence of financial irresponsibility by announcing that the Passamaquoddy venture in Maine will be completed at a cost of 40 million dollars. Among innumerable foolish projects which the government has wasted money on during the Roosevelt administration there is none quite so bad as the Maine scheme to harness the tides to produce power. The army engineers told the President that Quoddy is a monstrosity. Mr. Ickes as public works administrator and the federal power commission as surveyors and licensers of power projects recommended avoidance of it. Congress, which approved of anything that the President asked for, refused at the last session to authorize funds for Quoddy.

The President has announced that he will complete the 40 million dollar absurdity, the expressed will of congress, the army engineers' report and the Ickes and power commission report to the contrary notwithstanding. That he is continuing the project after experts have said that it is a waste of money is evidence of his determination to waste as much money as possible. The fact that he announces he will complete the project after congress has voted against it shows that Mr. Roosevelt believes himself to be a dictator.

FASTER SUBURBAN SERVICE.

The country is recovering from a long siege of the measles. Just as nature aids youth to shake off the malady, so a young nation is recovering its financial health and spirits. During the long period of illness and convalescence there has been little opportunity or inclination for moving about—in fact, the patient is usually confined to a single room. When strength is restored, however, he will require additional space not only for his activities but for his home life. Building has lagged for seven long years, so that the immediate effects of recovery will be the annual construction of new suburbs with a combined population equal to that of Aurora or Kenosha.

Obviously, districts that are now regarded as suburbs will become "adjacent municipalities" with new suburban areas beyond. Chicago is happily situated for such expansion in that there are no wide rivers or bays to cross. Twenty-odd railway lines converge in the heart of the city. With their private rights of way they should be able to maintain rapid transit to and from Chicago's future suburbs at speeds that will make Chicago's wider residence zone not only livable but attractive.

Statistics show that the surface lines, the elevated, and the motor coach company are all making substantial gains in the number of passengers carried, but each of these forms of transportation has its limitations. The new riders will go to the railway lines or to the private automobile, and railway managements hold the key. Judging from the congested condition of Chicago's arterial highways, John Public, as usual, is not waiting for the utility companies, but is doing the job himself.

Railways, what are your plans for the rejuvenation of your suburban service that must come if you are to retain public confidence? If no improvements are under consideration the subject should have immediate attention. Announcements should be forthcoming as soon as possible because, as you are well aware, even rumors increase real estate values, encourage construction, and increase employment. Prevent those who are seeking more freedom in the wide open spaces from getting the automobile habit.

A few additional trains and a general furbishing of existing service will not suffice. The commuter, who has been the butt of jokes for a half dozen generations, must be given an opportunity to laugh at the city dweller. No less than frequent mile a minute service will be satisfactory. TRIBUNE Plank No. 1, "Faster Suburban Service," will remain at the masthead as a reminder.

Editorial of the Day

PROBLEM OF HUMAN FRAILTY.

[Rock Island Argus.]

Delivering the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of Coe college not long ago, Dr. Harry M. Gage declared that "health and hygiene are not best learned and practiced in hospitals. The fact," he said, "that just now so many are receiving emergency treatment for economic ailments should not be allowed to obscure what economic health is and the laws that underlie it. The appalling fact is that much of the distress that we face year in and year out, in good times and bad, is not due to genuine misfortune. Statistics for times of so-called normal employment show—send for the book—that six-tenths of the human distress is due to intemperance, habitual idleness or vice; three-tenths to old age and weakness following an improvident youth, and only one-tenth to sickness, accident, or loss of work. This is a chronic condition. Its treatment should be separated from that administered to acute suffering due to loss of jobs in unusually depressed industries. Economic reform alone will not be sufficient to relieve the perennial suffering of great masses of men. Reform, regeneration and uplift of human life is the only adequate guarantee of opportunity to the rising generation. . . . The care and culture of men, which Emerson said is the very best political economy, cannot be entrusted entirely to the economist. . . ."

No, the economist cannot solve the problem of how to incline people to be industrious, temperate and well behaved. No brain trust can solve that problem; in fact, the apostles of scientifically planned collectivism have nothing to offer. Economic reform cannot function like moral and religious reform.

Dr. Gage has given us all something to think about. With nine-tenths of human distress attributable to intemperance, habitual idleness, vice and improvidence, a situation is created that is not affected by any economic blueprints. The frailties of human nature cannot be corrected or eliminated by any man-made formula. No matter by what system a nation is governed as long as these human frailties persist, trials and tribulations are inevitable.

Men, of course, can help by sympathy and understanding and by setting a good example, but many aspects of this great problem have to do with the very souls of men. Economic planning may affect the bodies of men for good in certain instances, but it takes something far greater than economists to reach men's souls and the springs of human conduct.

A LINE O' TYPE OR TWO

Hew to the Line, let the quips fall where they may.

Reg. U.S. Pat. Office

SOMEBODY WRITES TO ME and asks what do I think should be the first rule in driving a car. The first rule I would say would be to keep severely and distinctly on your own side of the road; that is, in your own lane. If you get in the habit of riding the dividing line, some day, sure as death and taxes, you're going to be caught. A demon driver will pop up from nowhere and without slacking speed for a second will bump into you and you will be the one who is at fault "driving in the wrong lane." It won't bother you much; you'll be saying, "Hello, Charon; send over the canoe. My goodness, what a funny river the Styx is!" And secondly, brothers and sisters of the Fifty Mile an Hour Club, be mighty careful of passing the car in front of you if there is another car in sight in the left lane. The car that is coming won't draw rein for the fraction of a second; the driver of it will be saying, "This is my lane. I'm right; the other fellow is wrong, and BANG! Of course you can have a pretty fierce discussion with him as you cross over in old Charon's canoe to the mystical land beyond the Styx, but you won't get much satisfaction out of it. He'll keep on insisting it was his road ("you big bum, who told you that you could drive a car?") and you'll have to admit you were out of your lane. And I understand that people who get over into the land beyond the Styx because they were driving out of the lane or because they didn't stop when the signs said "S-T-O-P" are automatically barred from the Styx Country Club for ten years. Which is tough because you won't meet Bill Shakespeare, Alexander the Great, Noah, P. T. Barnum, Anne Boleyn, Nero, Catherine the Great, and a lot of other interesting people for a long time.

MOONRISE ON A HILL.

July nights and four of us,
Sitting on a hill;
Smoking, talking, laughing,
Waiting for the thrill
Of that yellow, golden rim
Pushing up, until
In majesty, the moon swung clear—
Ah, never, never will
Be moments quite so lovely as Those heart beats on a hill.

The radiance that flooded us,
Sitting on a hill;
It washed the heartaches all away,
But left us strangely still,
Perhaps, as I, each wondering:
Would life's relentless mill
Give us another summer,
To drink, again, our fill
Of utter peace and loveliness,
In moonlight on a hill?

EVAN S. TONIAN.

WELL, WELL! how quiet Mr. Farley is of late. One rarely hears from him these days at all. And yet he is Postmaster-General-on-a-Leave-of-Absence. Which is really quite a resounding title; yet from his silence these days one would think he had changed jobs with Mr. Garner (it is Garner, isn't it?) and had become the Vice President.

"DOG GETS NAME in New York Social Register and Stirs Up Row."—Headline. Great Scott, hasn't a dog got any rights left at all? I don't wonder the poor dog is stirring up a row. Goodness! a dog has the right to some privacy, at least LANDSCAPE.

Twisted trees as stark as doubt;
Hills like elbows sticking out;
Grass the same as matted hair;
A river like a lean blue prayer
Breathed furtively between stone lips;
Sun's smart keener than a whip's
Across the shoulders of an earth
Which no more savors an old mirth.

RAYMOND HOSKEN.

SIR: I don't know whether the Line is the right one to question about manners and culture, but I am going with a perfectly adorable man with the cutest wavy blond hair and lovely blue eyes and he has a swell job, and spends his coin on me like nobody's business, but he always says "athaletic" and "detecative" and "constitooshun" and "nooze" and really it makes me quite unhappy, for I have a swell education myself, having been fired from two high schools and three colleges. What can I do to point out gently but firmly to my boy friend that as far as culture goes he is a dirty bum? Yours anxiously, Myldred.

Dear Myldred: Whenever your boy friend pulls what you would probably call a fox pass kick him in the ankle. He will either take the hint and stop pronouncing words in the manner to which you object or he will buy a football shin guard. If he buys a shin guard he is beyond hints, no matter how hard you kick him. There'll be nothing left to do then but to ditch him.

A SONG FOR THOSE WHO SING.

To seek for Beauty, when the dawn
Outlords the climbing orb of night,
To some wide woods you must be gone
From realms bereft of all delight.

For Beauty cannot be where men
Have cast her out to worship wealth,
And burned her fanes to build again
The mightier fanes of gain and stealth;

Profusely peopled avenues
And dim deserted streets of pain
Have little of Beauty left to lose
And none to haunt a mad refrain!

PYGMALION.

BIG FISH STORIES are not heard of this season. The water is so low in the ponds and rivers that the fishermen no longer use rod and line. They just wade in and when they stumble over a fish they reach down, pick it up by the tail and throw it in a basket. Which is no more exciting than sodding the front lawn or washing the automobile.

PECULIARITIES OF TEMPERAMENT.

LET us assume that we know all about appendicitis and its recognition. Would we permit a member of the family to develop an acute attack with rupture of the abscess into the abdomen? Of course not. Rather would we seek skilled aid speedily—otherwise we would be considered by our friends and neighbors as criminally negligent.

And yet, possessing some knowledge of the early signs of a psychosis, we either fail to identify the symptoms or are too timid to admit their existence. Should a young adult develop a mental quirk we may say pretty definitly that the fault lies with the parents.

People do not "go off" mentally without a substantial reason and a careful investigation will show usually that the factors involved have been built up slowly year by year until finally the explosion point arrives. It is like narrow building blocks piled one on top of the other. After a certain height has been reached over goes the pile. In fact, mental illness casts a long shadow that may reach backward into childhood. Hundreds of thousands of children will show some personal peculiarities. While this does not mean that a single one will manifest a psychosis, nevertheless a tendency may be present and if there are enough scoldings, fault-findings, or expressions of anger and disappointment on the part of parents emotional injury may be deep enough to invite disaster.

I have in mind the case of a young man who had a hard time of it for several years. His elder brother, the favorite of both parents, so bullied and cowed the younger that he dared not claim his soul as his own. The result was the development of a timidity which was quite foreign to his nature. The older brother's domineering influence continued into the college period in a school located in the home town. Too honorable to adopt the tricks of schoolmates, too shy to assert himself, he was dropped from the rolls for poor scholarship. "He is a nitwit," said one of his teachers. On leaving the university his home reception deepened his depression and he became convinced that he was a failure, an underdog, and would always remain so.

The family physician, sensing the situation, brought about a separation of the two young men. A post was found in a manufacturing plant in a distant city and in this new environment the younger son threw off completely the blanket of inferiority.

Two years later, on a visit to his parents, he expressed vigorously his resentment at the bullying tactics of his brother. So forceful was he that they came to blows—with the younger an easy victor. From that time on there was an even tempered friendliness between the two. Today the aforetime timid, shy, bullied lad is forging ahead rapidly and is holding a more important position than his brother. Needless to say, it was the physician's firm faith that inspired the lad to make a declaration of personal independence.

An inclination on the part of youngsters to be alone must not be encouraged. In fact, exactly the opposite treatment is demanded.

Again, there is the young person who is unable to concentrate or pursue a continuous line of activity. Whatever he does appears to be accomplished at a great expenditure of effort. There is a lack of urge, of necessity, of seeming ambition. He is reluctant to start anything, and even though driven into a task requires an interminably long period for its completion. His face is expressionless and his attitude is apathetic. This is an early sign of a depression—one that should be recognized promptly because the situation can be remedied.

But what of treatment? Obviously, physical illness should be sought for and corrected if found. The resistance of the body should be raised and this includes a certain amount of outdoor exercise, sunshine, and careful attention to the digestive tract. Psychotherapeutic management, however, must be relied upon in those cases in which physical stamina will not reëstablish a complete victory over depression, fears, or irritability. The family doctor who knows enough psychiatry to understand these early trends will prove of inestimable value to the community that he serves.

BOY'S LEGS ACHE.

Mrs. M. E. writes: My 6 year old boy complains that his legs ache after he goes to bed. I find his legs cold and only through brisk massage can they be made comfortable. Is this a forerunner of some disease, or will it pass off as he grows older?

REPLY.

The symptoms indicate a disturbance of circulation. Have your son examined for possible infection, anemia, or heart weakness. Sometimes a poorly balanced diet is the cause.

ENLARGED HEART.

A. C. K. writes: Six years ago my doctor told me my heart showed a slight enlargement. Is this dangerous? Is there any effect on pregnancy? Is there a cure?

REPLY.

Heart enlargement may be connected with some form of heart disease or it may be a natural condition and of no significance. Its effect on pregnancy would depend upon the type of enlargement. Slightly enlarged hearts —unless occasioned by a disease of one or more valves—may be forgotten.

UNEVEN SHOULDERS.

M. L. writes: I have a son whose one shoulder is higher than the other. Do you think any treatments or a shoulder brace would help? He is 6 years old.

REPLY.

It is quite normal for one side of the body to be slightly larger than the other. However, if there is a decided difference in the height of your son's shoulders, it would be well to have him undertake systematic exercise. A shoulder may be raised a half inch or more.

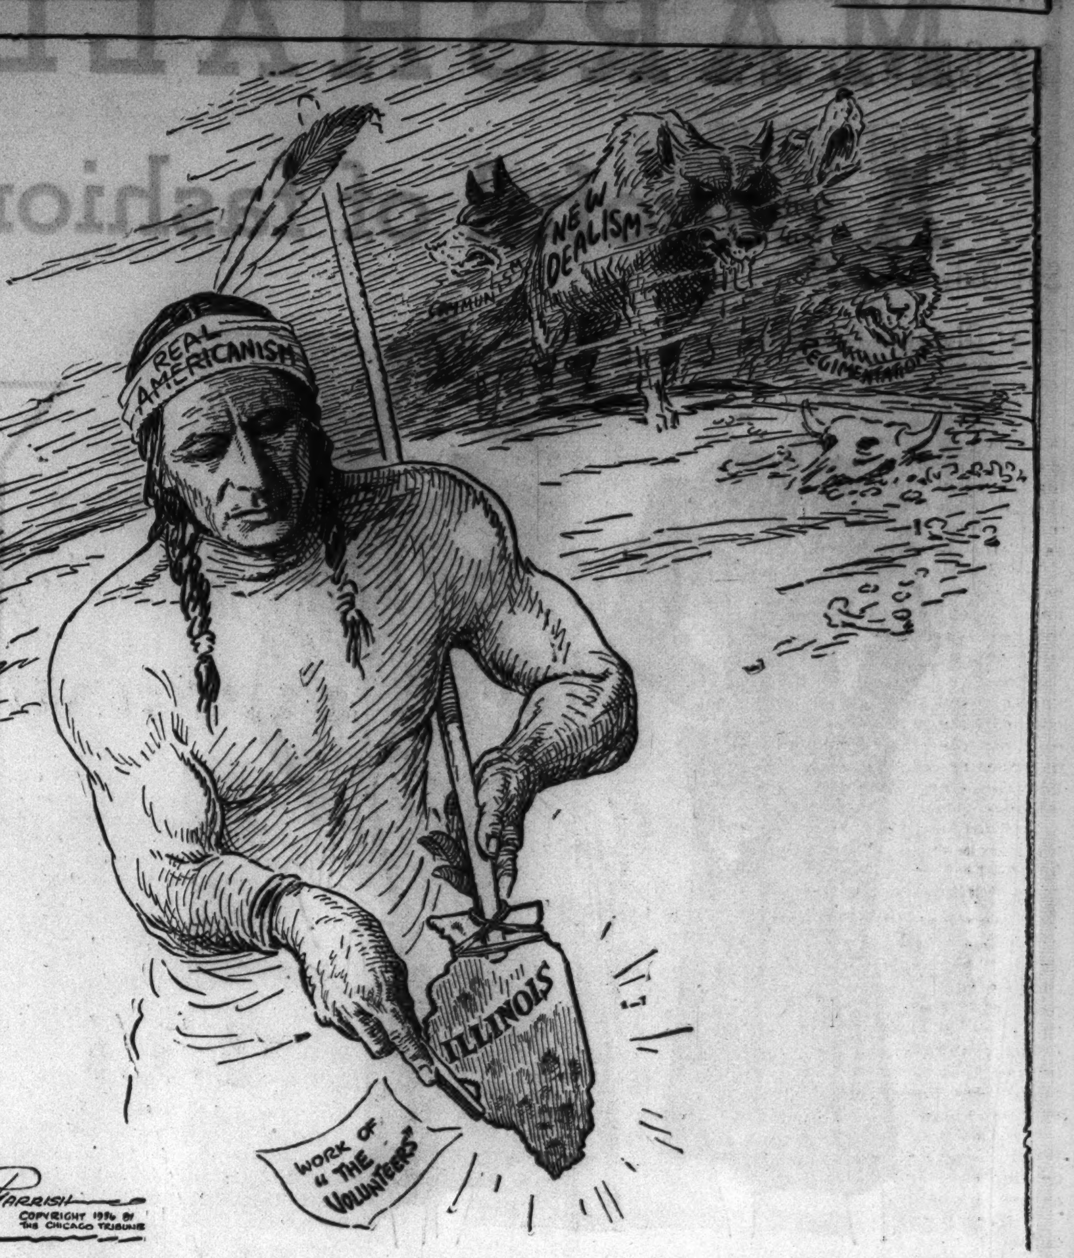
CONSTANT HEADACHES.

S. B. writes: I have had constant headaches for several years, especially when it rains. Does this mean I have sinus trouble? I am 18 years old.

REPLY.

Headache from sinusitis is usually intermittent, often worse in the morning, being relieved as the person gets about and the drainage becomes freer. There are about a thousand causes for a headache and only a thorough search can point the way to the correct remedy.

SHARPENING THE SPEARHEAD



DAY BY DAY IN THE MAKING OF THE CONSTITUTION

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 3, 1787.—[Convention in recess. No report by Madison.] The committee on detail is completing its labors of bringing forth a form of constitution which will be derived from the Virginia plan, submitted by Mr. Randolph, the plan recommended by Mr. Patterson of New Jersey, representing the desires of the small states; the plan suggested by Mr. Pinckney of South Carolina, and the agreements arrived at by the delegates in the sessions of the house. The recess permits a continuation of the biographical sketches of members of the convention by their fellow delegate, Maj. William Pierce of Georgia.

More of the Gentlemen of the Convention

From North Carolina: William Blount is a character strongly marked for integrity and honor. Richard Dobbs Spaight is a worthy man of some abilities and fortune. Without possessing a genius to render him brilliant, he is able to discharge any public trust that his country may repose in him. Hugh Williamson is a gentleman of education and talents. He enters freely into public debate from his close attention to most subjects but he is no orator. In his manners there is a strong trait of the gentleman. William Davie is a lawyer of some eminence in his state. John Martin was lately governor of North Carolina, which office he filled with credit.

From South Carolina: John Rutledge is one of those characters who was highly mounted at the commencement of the late revolution; his reputation in the first congress gave him a distinguished rank among the American worthies. Charles Cotesworth Pinckney is a gentleman of family and fortune in his own state. He has received the advantage of a liberal education and possesses a very extensive degree of legal knowledge. When warm in debate he sometimes speaks well. Mr. Pinckney was an officer of high rank in the American army and served with great reputation through the war. Mr. Charles Pinckney is a young gentleman of the most promising talents. He is, although only 24 years of age, in possession of a very great variety of knowledge. Government, law, history, and philosophy are his favorite studies.

From Delaware: John Dickinson has been famed throughout all America for his "Farmer's Letters." He is a scholar and said to be a man of very extensive information. From Maryland: Luther Martin was educated for the bar; so extremely prolix that he never speaks without tiring the patience of all who hear him. Daniel of St. Thomas Jenifer is a gentleman of fortune in Maryland. He is always in good humor and never fails to make his company pleased with him.

Q.—How much will the annual interest on the national debt be at the end of this year?

A.—Approximately $850,000,000.

Q.—How has President Roosevelt raised money for his spending program?

A.—Senator Carter Glass, Democrat, declared on Feb. 21, 1935: "The banks have been brought to a state in which they are literally obliged to take treasury issues whether they want them or not . . . a depreciation of 10 per cent in government bonds would render insolvent 90 per cent of the banks of this country."

THE FORGOTTEN ENGINEER.

Chicago, July 30.—Your editorial, "The Forgotten Engineer," in THE TRIBUNE for July 25 is opportune. Chicago's local transportation, particularly in so far as the street car system and the elevated lines are concerned, is an eyesore and a detriment when viewed in the light of what is possible these days. Poor old rattly, dirty cars and stretches of snakelike rails; should some of these cars ever become involved in a serious collision it would be just too bad for the people inside. Most Surface Line tracks are located on streets carrying heavy automobile trafic, and passengers are risking life and limb most every time they board and leave the cars.

One is reminded of a sardine can when he sees a street car on some of the lines during the busy hours. Cars with seats for forty people too frequently are loaded with as many standing, resulting in discomfort for all concerned and quite likely trampled toes, soiled clothes, and ruffled tempers. The workers and shoppers who use our local transportation systems are the backbone of Chicago business life. They are entitled to rapid, clean, comfortable, courteous service in return for the fares they pay. They are not now getting it.

Better coöperation by the various departments of the city and the gas and electric companies with the transportation companies would result in much better service to the people. Witness the mess and confusion now existing at Archer and Western avenues. Our mayor should know about this.

You are correct that certain arrangements are possible, with and between the present steam railroads, which would greatly facilitate the rapidity and comfort of traveling within and to the city. A board of engineers composed of men skilled in modern local transportation methods and practices and unhampered by politics is necessary. It is the only way that Chicago can hope to have a local transportation system which will be a delight to the people and a real asset to the city.

Finally, may I ask, do I understand you correctly that "the city has 60 million dollars and more in the traction fund" in cash, or the equivalent of real cash?

A. G. SHAVER.

GREAT SCOTT! BEETHOVEN?

Chicago, July 28.—The city council committee on changing street names now desires to change the name of Scott street to Beethoven street, thereby honoring a German musician at the expense of an American general. Scott street was named in memory of Gen. Winfield Scott in the year 1866, the year of his death. Why, 70 years afterward, should the name of this street be changed?

If Scott street and Beethoven place are continuations of each other, with the exception of four intervening blocks, then why not name the entire street for the distinguished American general? Without exception, every resident of Scott street wishes the name retained and have so petitioned the council.

EDWARD KING.

TAVERN NIGHTS.

Chicago, July 30.—On July 25 one of your readers complained about a tavern in his neighborhood. I can well appreciate Mr. Mateto's story.

Here is a typical schedule for any Wednesday, Friday, or Saturday night. The tavern across the street from where I live hires a saxophonist to begin his nerve racking wailing at about 10 o'clock. This continues until 1 or 2 o'clock in the morning. Fist fights, filthy language, loud talking, the tooting of horns incessantly all night—these are just a few of the nuisances I have to tolerate. And after all this I'm supposed to get up and be fit for a day's work. The tavernkeeper probably goes home to enjoy a full morning's rest while I have been cheated out of my sleep.

Can't something be done about this? Who can help us? I would welcome suggestions.

NOISY PEDDLERS.

Chicago, July 25.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I have been under the impression that peddling was not allowed before 9 a. m.

Every morning for the last few years there is an iceman who bellows his wares right under my window at 8 a. m. Recently he has started at 7:30 and comes again at 8. In the past he has been reported several times, then he is quiet for a few days and starts right in again at 8 in the morning. He is not the only offender; there is another iceman and a ragman who do the same thing. M. E.

An iceman drove through the alley and was advised by the investigating officer that residents there were complaining of unnecessary noises, and the iceman promised to discontinue calling his wares in the early morning hours. Another iceman drove through the alley and informed Officer Arthur Georg that all his customers now place signs in their windows when they want ice, and that he does not find it necessary to holler when going through alleys.

A station complaint has been made, and instructions issued to officers traveling post in that vicinity to pay special attention and to take prompt action if any violation is observed.

NONCITIZENS, ALL.

Chicago, July 24.—[Legal Friend of the People.]—I am informed that my father, who came to this country from Sweden in 1871 and has since passed away, had not completed his application for citizenship. What effect would that have on his children who came to this country at the ages of 2, 4, and 6, respectively?

C. O. H.

It appears that the children, in order to become citizens, should file declarations of intention [first papers] and, when the same are at least two and not over seven years old, apply for final papers.

LINDY IN BERLIN 12 DAYS; FAILS TO MEET HITLER

Sat Only Few Feet Apart at Olympic Opening.

BERLIN, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh ended a twelve day stay in Germany today without meeting Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler although it was disclosed they sat almost within speaking distance of each other at the Olympic games.

The American flyer and Mrs. Lindbergh took off quietly for Copenhagen after the colonel paid tribute to the progress of Germany's aviation industry.

After his departure it became known that Lindbergh and Hitler occupied seats within a few feet of each other at the ceremonies yesterday opening the Olympic games. Nobody, apparently, made any effort to introduce them.

In American diplomatic quarters it was explained "no time could be found that was convenient to both for which to arrange a meeting."

Develops Diesel Motors.

"Germany leads the world in lighter than air craft," Lindbergh commented to friends before his departure. "That, of course, is something we all knew before I came. I was genuinely surprised, however, to find that Germany had so thoroughly developed Diesel motors for aviation purposes.

"In this, too, she leads the world. We in America have not begun to develop and exploit the Diesel motor as has Germany.

"Germany was in front before and during the war as regards heavier than air craft but she naturally lost the lead on account of post-war conditions. She is coming up fast, however, and sailplaning, too, is a great art in Germany."

When the colonel and Mrs. Lindbergh took off from Staaken airdrome only a few members of the American embassy and minor officials of the German air ministry were at the airport to see them go.

Earlier in the day Col. Lindbergh, returning from an automobile drive, learned of the death of the French aviation pioneer, Louis Bleriot.

Col. Lindbergh said he would deliver condolences privately to the Bleriot family, whom he had met on his solo flight to Paris.

Visits Greenland Friend.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh flew here today from Berlin to prepare to exhibit his artificial heart [which he developed in medical research] before a medical congress.

Accompanied by Mrs. Lindbergh, he landed unceremoniously in Denmark and was greeted only by airport officials. The Lindberghs drove immediately to Charlottenlund, a suburb, to visit Capt. Andreas Dam whom they met during their flight to Greenland in 1933.

The colonel intends to start assembling the "mechanical heart" apparatus invented by him and Dr. Alexis Carrel of the Rockefeller institute tomorrow in order to show it at the convention which opens Aug. 9.

ELEVATED BEGINS THREE RIDES FOR 25 CENTS TODAY

Starting at 12:01 a. m. today three elevated fares will be sold for 25 cents instead of the straight 10 cent rate. Transfers to buses and street cars will not be issued, however, to buyers of the three for a quarter fares. Such transfers will be issued only on the straight 10 cent fares.

The reduction in fares, voluntarily made by the Rapid Transit lines, became effective through a petition filed with the Illinois commerce commission asking permission to lower fares for an experimental period of six months. Britton I. Budd and Col. A. A. Sprague, co-receivers for the elevated lines, said the new fare is a return to the low price levels of 1922 and they expressed the opinion the reduction should be helpful to all business and to all workers in the city.

A reduction in the unit cost of school children's ticket books is also in effect, the new rate being twenty rides for $1. The 3 cent fare for children between 7 and 12 years of age remains the same.

Church Services Spurned by Girl Killer of Mother.

Bayonne, N. J., Aug. 2—(AP)—The fathers of Gladys MacKnight, 17, and her sweetheart, Donald Wightman, 18, radio religious hour singer, held for the hatchet slaying of the MacKnight girl's mother, today made plans to defend their children.

Edgar W. MacKnight, cable company official, whose daughter yesterday confessed she had hacked her mother to death Friday evening in the kitchen of their home while Wightman cried "hit her again," said his attitude was "the same as that of any father toward his daughter."

Father to Visit Son.

Wightman's father, Joseph, steward at the Robbins Reef Yacht club, said he would visit his son in the Hudson county jail at Jersey City tomorrow. His wife, Alice, 40, has been a patient at Bayonne City hospital since June 30. She underwent an operation two weeks ago. Hospital officials and Dr. Lucius Donohoe, Bayonne mayor, have given orders that newspapers and accounts of the slaying be kept from her.

MacKnight, meanwhile, went ahead with plans for a private funeral for his wife, Helen, 47. He said the body would be shipped to West Bathurst, New Brunswick, Canada, for burial.

It was learned that both Wightman and the girl refused to attend religious services in the jail today.

Jail Visitors Barred.

David T. O'Regan, Hudson county prosecutor, today ordered that no visitors except their attorneys see the couple over the week-end.

R. Louis Kennedy, Bayonne attorney, announced he had been retained by MacKnight to represent his daughter and had seen the girl twice in her cell. He said the girl said she was "awfully sorry for mother, and father, too."

Detective Captain Thomas J. McGrath, who questioned the two after their arrest Friday night in Jersey City, said the girl still was reluctant to face her father. He said MacKnight had wanted to see her before she was taken to Jersey City following her confession yesterday, but that she had cried "No, no" when told he was in the jail building.

Both Sign Confession.

Police Chief Cornelius O'Neill said the girl's request that she be given an early supper had brought on an argument between the girl and her mother which preceded the slaying.

He said the girl in her confession declared her mother had brandished a bread knife and that Wightman had pinioned her mother's arms while she struck her on the head with a hatchet. O'Neill said Wightman signed a similar statement.

Increase in Registration at U. of I. Is Predicted

Urbana, Ill., Aug. 2.—[Special.]—With registration about six weeks distant, indications point to an increased enrollment in the University of Illinois this fall. A total of 2,088 permits to new students to enroll have been issued by the registrar's office, an increase of 272 compared to the number granted at this time last year. Rushing cards filed by fraternities with the dean of men's office total 2,716, three less than at this time a year ago.

INAUGURATE N. U. SCHOOL OF CRIME DETECTION TODAY

Prosecuting attorneys from more than 50 cities throughout the country will assemble today at the Northwestern university crime detection laboratory for a week's study in the latest scientific methods of criminal investigation and prosecution.

The course, the first of its kind offered in this country, will consist of lectures and demonstrations by staf workers of the laboratory and members of the law school faculty. Developments of new crime detecting devices will be shown.

The lie detector, or polygraph, will be demonstrated by Prof. Leonarde Keeler, who has developed and used it in numerous investigations.

T. P. Sullivan, superintendent of the Illinois state bureau of criminal identification and investigation, will talk on finger print technique in the solution of crimes. Other lectures will deal with firearms, personal identification, evidence in trials, and photography of crime scenes.

Dies of Beating Received During Holdup a Year Ago

Elmer Robinson, 48 years old, 722 West 59th street, a concessionaire at Riverview park, died in the Mt. Sinai hospital yesterday, apparently from injuries received a year ago when he was assaulted by two robbers who were accompanied by two women. They obtained $200 and a ring valued at $100. Robinson frequently complained of head pains after the assault, according to his wife. He was taken to the hospital a week ago where his illness was diagnosed as a brain tumor resulting from the injuries. The robbers were not caught.

A SHOE, A HORSE AND A RIDER all were lost, according to Benjamin Franklin.

Preparing to leave the train at Memphis, where he was to play golf the following day with an important customer, a business man discovered his golf bag was missing. It had been left on another train when he transferred the night before.

An appeal was made to the Illinois Central—and the next morning at 8 the missing bag was delivered to him.

This business man has told this story many times, and it always ends: "I travel on the Illinois Central whenever I go where it goes."

JUST as par is the standard of golf, so is satisfactory service the standard of good railroading. Champion golfers beat par, however, and champion railroads give patrons a little more for their money than they ordinarily expect.

FREE!
Send for free copy of a startling article on syphilis from the Readers Digest. Written by Dr. Thomas Parran, Surgeon General of the United States Public Health Service, it describes the dreadful results of neglecting syphilis and tells how it can be stamped out. Mailed in a plain sealed envelope.

DON'T LOSE OUT on good times this summer because of a neglected venereal infection!

Gonorrhea or syphilis needn't bar you from sports if you'll procure treatment from your family doctor or this reliable clinic—at once!

SUMMER is a season of happy days—days of swimming, hiking, baseball, golf and other outdoor activities. But they hold little joy for sufferers from venereal diseases, as these infections make it extremely dangerous for their victims to take part in vigorous sports unless they are being properly treated.

Thus all men and women who have gonorrhea or syphilis should hasten to obtain dependable medical attention. For not only will they be barred from good times until they get under treatment, but if they continue to neglect their infections they may become permanently disabled!

Neglected gonorrhea, for example, may extend to the prostate, bladder or even kidneys, resulting in serious disorders. Or the germs may penetrate to the joints, causing crippling rheumatism. It is the foremost cause of sterility, and is responsible for most of the mutilating pelvic operations performed on women.

Neglected syphilis is still more dangerous, for it may lead to insanity, blindness, deafness, locomotor ataxia, apoplexy, paralysis, ulcers of the skin or bone destruction! Neglected syphilis is also accountable for more stillborn and defective babies than any other cause.

It's risky to wait a day!

Hence it's extremely reckless to neglect a venereal disease, or to try to cure it yourself. For the sooner a competent physician or clinic is consulted, the better are your chances of recovery. Thus every month, week or even day you save has an important bearing on the final outcome of your case!

Especially is this true of syphilis, for unless treatment is begun in its earlier stages it may not be possible to do any more than stop further progress of the disease. So, if you know or suspect that you have a venereal infection, don't continue to neglect it or aggravate it by self treatment but immediately consult your family doctor or the Public Health Institute!

The friendly, sympathetic men and women physicians of the Public Health Institute specialize in the examination and treatment of venereal diseases. To date they have given more than 4,000,000 treatments to almost 250,000 individual patients! Each patient is promptly attended in a private room, and for the sake of even greater privacy is known by a number instead of by name.

Treatments as low as $1.00

Organized by public-spirited citizens as a corporation "NOT-FOR-PROFIT" under the laws of the State of Illinois, the Public Health Institute offers low cost venereal disease treatment to those unable to pay higher fees. A complete examination for gonorrhea and syphilis, including urinalysis, smears and Wassermann blood test, costs only $3.00, while some treatments for syphilis cost as little as $1.00 and some of those for gonorrhea still less!

Thus it's foolish to allow a venereal infection to keep you from having good times this summer and perhaps disable you permanently. For not only can the very best of medical attention be obtained confidentially and at nominal cost, but even persons who are temporarily pressed for funds can arrange to be treated.

NOTE: The Public Health Institute has no connection with any other Chicago health or medical institute, and should not be confused with those operated for personal gain!

TELLS EASTMAN STORY OF GIFTS FOR EDUCATION

Opposed Higher Schools as Donations Began.

Rochester, N. Y., Aug. 2.—(AP)—George Eastman, the camera magnate who gave more than 100 million dollars to colleges and universities, began his munificent gifts with the statement he was not interested in higher education, an article published today in the Alumni Review of the University of Rochester reveals.

During the years in which he gave away a fortune, the article reveals, the famous industrialist forsook his early indifference and in 1924 acknowledged that "the progress of the world depends amost entirely on education."

The story of his gradual reversal of his point of view over a thirty year period is related in an article by Ernest A. Paviour, university trustee, as told to him by Dr. Rush Rhees, president-emeritus of the university and intimate friend of the late Mr. Eastman for three decades.

First Modest $10,000.

The industrialist's great benefactions, shared by the University of Rochester, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, and Hampton and Tuskegee institute, began modestly in 1902 with a $10,000 gift to the University of Rochester, which in total received more than half of the 100 million he gave away.

The first gift, for a science laboratory building for which a fund was being raised, he later increased to $60,000 when he learned subscriptions were coming in slowly, according to Dr. Rhees. At the time he was quoted as saying:

"That's the last dollar I'll give to the university. I gave it to Dr. Rhees because he let me alone."

When the building was completed the cost was $78,000, but without a word Eastman wrote a check for the balance.

Sends $500,000 Check.

Another gift a few years later was contingent on success of a public drive for $1,000,000. When Dr. Rhees wrote Eastman that the latter amount had been raised he received a check for $500,000 in the next day's mail with a simple note:

"I like to get such things off my mind."

Eastman's gifts to Rochester grew steadily. Proposing a music school for the university, he agred to give $2,000,000, receiving an agreement the cost would be no higher.

Despite the agreement he turned over to the university stock worth twice that amount and later gave an additional $2,139,000 for endowment of the Eastman School of Music.

When the general education board, through Dr. Abraham Flexner, proposed a $6,000,000 medical school for Rochester, Mr. Eastman turned solicitor as well as philanthropist. He offered to give $4,000,000 if the board would give $5,000,000, far above its original plans. The offer was accepted and the school founded.

JAILED MAIL ORDER ROMEO GIVES DATA ON 13,000 BRIDES-TO-BE

Oakland, Cal., Aug. 2.—(AP)—Samuel Frank, whose mail order canvass of prospective wives landed him in jail, said today that school teachers predominated on his list of 13,000 would-be brides.

Nurses ranked next numerically, declared the 42 year old war veteran, who said he formerly was a Fort Worth, Tex., minister and a Denver, Colo., educator. Unemployed old maids came third, he added.

Ages of the 13,000 "candidates," he asserted, ranged from 11 to 103 years. The "application" from the 11 year old, he declared, was accompanied by a letter of consent from her parents.

"It's no crime to try to find a wife," he declared, concerning the charge of Mrs. Louise Kennedy, a widow, that he fraudulently obtained $125 from her on promise to marry.

"I didn't take any money under false pretenses," he said.

Frank said his venture into prematrimonial research started when friends at Modesto, Cal., played a joke on him by sending a letter to Gov. James V. Allred of Texas saying he wanted to find a southern girl for a wife.

The letter was given out for publication and the results were "amazing," Frank declared.

U. S. WILL OPEN LAND AGAIN TO HOMESTEADERS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2.—(AP)—Americans soon will regain the privilege of staking out homestead claims on the public domain as they did in the days of the covered wagon.

Interior department officials said today they were preparing regulations under which homesteading—halted for more than a year under a presidential order withdrawing all public land from entry—will be revived under carefully specified conditions.

The maximum claim will be limited to 320 acres and prospective settlers must select really good land that will not be in danger of abandonment. Issuance of the regulations has been delayed by Secretary Ickes pending decision on whether the grazing division or the department division of investigation is to verify assertions that the acreage is fertile enough and gets enough rain for cultivation.

In addition to claims to be filed under the new regulations, Officials said they expected squatters, who have been living on public land without filing a claim, to ask for clear titles sooner or later.

MILK TRUCK DOES THINGS THAT GIVE POLICE A START

Policemen John Spratt and Frank Miller of the Englewood station stared at a dairy truck yesterday which suddenly started up from in front of 5961 South Halsted street and took a perilous course north in Halsted street, barely missing other motorists.

The policemen commandeered a passing car and pursued. The truck drove through a stop light at 59th street, and a block further north it suddenly swung left in front of oncoming trafic and ran up over the sidewalk and through a wooden fence around a filling station on the corner. Crashing into a steel tire rack, the truck came to a stop against the building.

Out climbed Robert Neveau, 10 years old, 4643 Wallace street, a student in the fourth grade at the Montefiore school.

"I never drove a car before," he explained to the astonished policemen, "and I guess I'm not so good."

Robert said he decided to take a ride in the truck which he found unlocked at the curb. Police took him to the Juvenile home. He said he ran away from home last Friday.

PIONEER WOMAN WHO CAME HERE IN 1840 DIES; 106

Mrs. Esther Beers Saw Chicago as a Village.

MRS. ESTHER BEERS.

Mrs. Esther M. Beers, who came to Chicago when the city was a village, died yesterday in the home of her granddaughter, Mrs. William R. White, 6514 Bosworth avenue, where she had lived for 26 years. Mrs. Beers was 106 years old on March 6.

Despite her advanced age, Mrs. Beers maintained an active interest in world events, reading the newspapers every day. At her last birthday celebration, four generations of the family helped her celebrate.

Mrs. Beers was born near Rome, N. Y. In 1840, when she was 10 years old, her parents brought their family of five children westward in a covered wagon, a journey considered very hazardous then.

She Recalled Early Days.

Chicago then had been chartered as a city for three years but it was only a straggling village on the marshlands near the mouth of the Chicago river. The community, as Mrs. Beers often recalled, centered about the fort and trading post run by John H. Kinzie.

Mrs. Beers' father, John Salisbury, looked the town over and decided he didn't want his family to live here, so he moved on and settled at Crystal Lake in McHenry county. As their covered wagon passed through Chicago, Mrs. Beers later told her own children, it became mired down in the mud, hub deep.

Mrs. Beers lived at Crystal Lake until her marriage to the late Dr. E. A. Beers, when they moved to McHenry. Dr. Beers served as a surgeon with the Union army during the civil war.

Retained a Keen Memory.

The life of a settler in northern Illinois in those early days was still vivid to Mrs. Beers in her later years. Roaming tribes of Indians were a commonplace sight. In Chicago she recalled the old Wigwam, and remembered seeing Lincoln before and after he was elected President.

Surviving Mrs. Beers are three children, Mrs. Jennie E. Tyrrell of Chicago, Mrs. Etta E. McKinstry of Hollywood, Cal., and Charles H. Beers of Hoxie, Kas. Private funeral services will be held tomorrow in the chapel at 7066 North Clark street. Burial will be at McHenry.

Michael Doran Dies at 82; Funeral Rites Tomorrow

The funeral of Michael C. Doran, 82 years old, a resident of the south side for 71 years, will be held at 9 a. m. tomorrow from his home at 7042 South May street to St. Brendan church. Burial will be in Mount Olivet cemetery. Mr. Doran died Saturday night in St. Bernard hospital. He was the father of the late Rev. James M. Doran, former superintendent of the St. Mary's Training school at Des Plaines. Four sons and three daughters survive.

News of the Radio Stations

BY LARRY WOLTERS.

Rudy Vallee is to pick his weekly guest stars henceforth, in so far as it is possible, from personalities in the news—particularly entertainment celebrities. Also in collaboration with a news magazine the Vallee program will dramatize each week an outstanding news event or human interest story.

It may be a coincidence, but Kate Smith, who soon will be on CBS at the same hour Vallee works on NBC, has a program idea similar to the one underlying Vallee's.

Two young singers who have lately achieved star billing are Jean Dickenson, operatic soprano and a protégé of Lily Pons, and Judy Starr, a hotcha cutie of the Rudy Vallee program. Both are heard on Monday evenings. Both are promising.

Smiling Ed McConnell, the singing philosopher, Irma Glen, organist, and Palmer Clark's orchestra have been signed up as headliners for a program sponsored by a paintmaker starting Sunday, Aug. 23, over WMAQ-NBC.

Sunday on CBS in the fall is to be filled with big names. Following the New York Philharmonic concerts, which run to 4 p. m., will be Guy Lombardo, then the program of Rubinoff and Virginia Rea, Phil Baker, Nelson Eddy, Eddie Cantor, the Ford Sunday Evening Symphony hour and then the Community Sing.

Speaking of community sings, Homer Rodeheaver, who pilots the one on Wednesday evening, has started a marriage rush. The other evening he suggested, "Pop the question while the lights are dimmed and we're singing a love song, wherever you are." The results have been startling. One arm drivers have been writing letters of which this one from New Brunswick, N. J., is typical: "After listening to your program this evening, I too became engaged. Mr. Rodeheaver put it in such a way while we were driving that we did just what he suggested and now we are going to be married Sept. 26."

Some changes are due in Show Boat, which follows the Vallee hour. Al Goodman's orchestra is to replace Gus Haenschen's, which has been working on the program for almost three years, on Aug. 20, the same day Lanny Ross returns following a European vacation.

WALTER UFER.

Santa Fe, N. M., Aug. 2.—(AP)—Walter Ufer, 60 years old, internationally noted artist of Taos, N. M., died in a hospital here today following an emergency operation Wednesday.

When 17 he earned his passage abroad as a kitchen helper on a steamer, studying at the Royal academy at Dresden. Later he studied several years at Munich with Walter Thor. He painted in Paris, Italy, and north Africa until 1913, when he returned to the United States.

His paintings hang in several noted national and foreign galleries. Ufer had lived at Taos since 1916.

He was an honorary member of the Boston Art club, the Modern Society of Artists of Los Angeles, a fellow of the Royal Society of Arts of London and a life member of the National Arts, Salmagundi, New York.

Wed at Harbor Point

[Du Bois Photo.]

Mrs. Andre James Perry is the former Helen Barkhausen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry G. Barkhausen of 1430 Lake Shore drive. Her marriage to the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Perry of Fond du Lac, Wis., took place Saturday at the summer home of her parents in Harbor Point, Mich., and was one of the gayest events of the Point's summer season. Many Chicagoans attended the ceremony, for there is a large summer colony of Chicago residents at Harbor Point. Miss Kate Barkhausen, the Barkhausens' subdeb daughter, was her sister's only attendant. After a wedding trip to Banff and Lake Louise, Mr. Perry and his bride will be at home in Fond du Lac.

Ravinia's 1936 Festival Ends; Praise Janssen

BY EDWARD BARRY.

Werner Janssen, the eighth guest conductor to appear at Ravinia park during the last five weeks, directed the Chicago Symphony orchestra yesterday afternoon in the twentieth and last concert of the 1936 Ravinia festival. A large audience and perfect weather helped to bring the season to a close on a note of decided cheer.

Mr. Janssen is a young American who has enjoyed considerable success in Europe and in the east, and who only last Thursday made his first appearance in the Chicago district. He has been handicapped during this visit by illness, but rose successfully above all difficulties in the performance of the Sibelius Second Symphony yesterday. He has studied this work with an especial fervor, and was able to project both its subtle and its obvious beauties in a manner calculated to bring a spontaneous burst of approval from his hearers.

In four days of acquaintance Mr. Janssen and the orchestra have gradually come to a better understanding of each other's desires and capabilities. This fact was demonstrated beyond the possibility of argument by the great superiority of the last movement of the Sibelius symphony yesterday to anything on Thursday's program.

The lack of color and of brilliance, which were noted in this column last Friday after Janssen's debut of the night before, gave way yesterday to a bold and extremely effective treatment of the orchestra as a whole and of its three main divisions. Especially the woodwinds, a department upon which Sibelius often relies for the eerie tone colorings which the atmosphere of his music—and sometimes even its type of thematic material—demand so insistently.

The Sibelius filled the entire second half of the afternoon. Preceding the intermission were the charming and open hearted Overture, Scherzo and Finale of Schumann [which has been played in the regular series only at long intervals] and the Prelude to "Parsifal." Between these two standard works were Samuel Barber's prize winning "Music for a Scene from Shelley" and a gay and attractive trifle called "Buffalmacco," by Albert Gasco.

The Barber music offered conductor and orchestra both a chance to demonstrate their virtuosity. It ranges through the entire dynamic scale, and is built from material so tenuous as to require the greatest care in handling.

The demonstration which followed the end of the program may have been intended as much for the festival committee and the other men and women responsible for the reopening of Ravinia park this year as for Mr. Janssen and the orchestra. Now that the park has reopened, it will in all probability become permanent, and regain its old place in the summer musical life of the city and suburbs. The season next year will be six weeks instead of five. The committee passed out cards yesterday asking for the suggestions of patrons on the subject of program policy.

"Private Business," Says Lily Pons of Wedding Date

"This is our private business," Miss Pons said of the wedding date.

R. J. Beatty Jr. and Janet Ayer Are Betrothed

Popular Young Couple to Wed in September.

BY JUDITH CASS.

OF more than usual interest this morning is the announcement that Mr. and Mrs. Walter Ayer are making of the engagement of their daughter, Janet, to Ross J. Beatty Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross J. Beatty of Highland Park. Mr. and Mrs. Ayer gave a small informal cocktail party at the Saddle and Cycle club yesterday afternoon to tell the romantic news to all of Miss Ayer's and Mr. Beatty's close friends. The guests were limited to young people because most of Mr. and Mrs. Ayer's many relatives are out of town for the summer. The wedding will take place in September.

Miss Ayer, who is one of the most charming and popular young women in society, made her debut during the winter of 1931-'32, when she was among the most fêted debutantes of the season. Her parents gave a ball at the Blackstone on Christmas night, which her cousin, the former Patsy McCormick Goodhart, now Mrs. James Gibson, came from Washington to attend.

Miss Ayer is related to two families which long have been prominent in Chicago society. Her father's sisters are Mrs. Samuel T. Chase, Mrs. Kellogg Fairbank, and Mrs. Cecil Barnes. Mrs. Ayer is the former Phœbe McCormick, sister of Robert Hall McCormick, Miss Elsie McCormick, and Miss Mildred McCormick.

Miss Ayer was graduated from the Ethel Walker school in Simsbury, Conn., and spent a year traveling abroad before she came out. Later she and her mother and Miss Mildred McCormick spent several months traveling in the orient. Robert McCormick Ayer, the bride-to-be's only brother, also is widely traveled. He is working in New York, and was not able to come west for the party yesterday, but he will come for his sister's wedding next month.

Mr. Beatty prepared at Lawrenceville for Princeton, where he was graduated in 1929. He has one brother, John Townsend Beatty, who married the former Miss Jane Confer in Minneapolis in the fall of 1934, and one sister, Miss Veronese Beatty, who, like Miss Ayer, is an active member of the Chicago Junior league.

Marjorie Williamson Will Be Wed this Month.

Invitations will be in the mail this morning for the wedding of Miss Mary Marjorie Williamson, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Frank Kemper Williamson, and Henry Pfeiffer Bruner, son of Prof. and Mrs. Henry Lane Bruner of Indianapolis. The invitations will come as a surprise to the many friends of the young couple for there has been no formal announcement of their engagement.

The wedding is to be at 4 o'clock the afternoon of Saturday, Aug. 22, in the Bond chapel on the campus of the University of Chicago. Dr. Winfred E. Garrison of the department of religion at the university will read the service. There will be a reception following at the Windermere East and then Mr. Bruner and his bride will leave on a wedding trip in the west.

Miss Williamson reflects the intellectual traditions of her family—her father is a member of the faculty at Northwestern university. She took both her bachelor and doctor's degrees at the University of Chicago and since then has taught comparative literature in the state college in Las Cruces, New Mexico.

Mr. Bruner, who maintained bachelor quarters for a number of years with Harney Bassett who married Betty Scriven, is another scholar. He is a graduate of Butler university and the Harvard School of Business Administration.

Mr. Bruner and Miss Williamson already have selected their apartment at 6844 Jeffery avenue.

Many of the faces familiar at Arlington will be seen for the com-

that enliven the daytime hours; the mournful peep of the sandpiper and the raucous utterance of the sea gull, that disturbs early morning slumber, have been left behind. Vividly remembered, as well as the sounds of the northern Michigan woodland country, are the sights—the trunks of white birches silhouetted against blue water; ancient forests and groves of slim young trees under a canopy of green; meadows of sunset grass luminously pink in the last rays of the setting sun; and friendly little gatherings in cottages with white pine walls, wide fireplaces of field stone, and Indian rugs for floor coverings.

ONE of the finest collections of Indian rugs in existence is that of Joseph E. Otis, Chicago banker, at his great white country house built of cedar shingles, and surrounded by green lawns dotted with white birch trees and gardens glowing with delphinium, snapdragon, hollyhocks, and roses. He has been collecting the rugs for nearly fifty years and among his treasures are a pair of rare rugs—the only two Indian rugs in the world said to be identical. He owns a number of very old Navaj rugs of unusual coloring and pattern, and it is interesting to observe how modern the patterns are.

A DESIRE to know the names of wood plants, vines, and flowers stirs in the urban breast and one wanders about, Sandy and Binge in attendance, taking note of leaf shapes and bark texture, and murmuring, as a litany, "Meadow rue, wintergreen, fireweed, huckleberry, Grass of Parnassus, lobelia, mint," with E. Schuyler Mathews' "Fieldbook of American Wild Flowers" in hand to help out. One also tries an unpracticed hand at transplanting—wild asters from the beach, a young cedar to a spot that would be improved by a tree, forget-me-nots to the little spring-fed pool at the foot of the bank.

A REMINDER of Chicago arrives when a friend, celebrating his birthday anniversary in his summer home, receives a telegram in honor of the occasion. It read:

THROUGH THE LOOKING GLASS

By all odds the best bargain in beauty kits came to our desk last week. How the maker does it for the price we'll never know. And if you don't own one, or buy up a flock of them for gifts you're passing up a marvelous bet.

These bags—called beauty utility bags—are stunning looking, made of fabricoid and can be either white, black, red, or brown. They're fitted with beautiful preparations, assembled for either dry or oily skin. They're small, smart and sensible.

A swell bag for a week-ender, a traveler or any woman who likes to keep her good looks insured when she goes places. And such a kit would be a godsend to the office girl, since it's compact, contains everything and is easily within her financial reach.

In some miraculous fashion the designer of this bag has been able to equip it with eight preparations—and generous portions of 'em, too. There's a fat tube of rich cleansing cream, a deservedly famous cream any woman would like to use. There's a generous jar of tissue cream, a bottle of toning lotion, and even some excellent hand lotion.

The makeup aids are perfect. You'll like the makeup lotion, one of the best powder foundations your money can buy. You'll like the cream rouge, too, and the marvelous black paste that is both a darkener and a growth-encourager for pale, sparse lashes and brows. And to top all this there's a big box of fine face powder.

We've never been so enthusiastic about a smart beauty buy as we are about this. Don't miss it!

Chicago Gets First Look at New Film Star

John Gielgud of England Is in "Secret Agent."

"SECRET AGENT."

Produced by Gaumont British.
Directed by Alfred Hitchcock.
From novel "Ashenden" by W. Somerset Maugham.
Presented at the Palace theater.

THE CAST.

Caypor	Percy Marmont
Mrs. Caypor	Florence Kahn
R.	Charles Carson
Lilli	Lilli Palmer

By Mae Tinée.

Good Morning!

Behold! A new screen personality! John Gielgud of England!

This British favorite is an engaging player. Looks something like Harold Stokes—and, though there is a sterner quality to his technique—acts a lot like Leslie Howard. He is poised, adept, and it won't be long, I reckon, before beckoning hands from Hollywood will lure him to the California shores.

He's one of a foursome of able leads who endeavor to make credible the not very plausible spy drama at the Palace.

Glamorous Madeleine Carroll is his feminine running mate. Robert Young—cast differently than I've ever before known him to be—is the "other man." Peter Lorre sweetly, greasily, sinisterly snaky, does dirty work as only he knows how. [I don't know of any personality in this world that makes my skin creep as does that of this—really!—most remarkable actor.]

A Somerset Maugham story served as basis for "Secret Agent" in which practically everybody turns out to be a spy.

Miss Carroll joins the English intelligence service for the excitement of the work. She is sent to Geneva to pose as the wife of Mr. Gielgud—high light of the organization. Working with Gielgud, is Lorre—frog-eyed, smiling — wistful — relentless. Pushing people off cliffs! Throttling them! Carrying on little affairs with servant girls that result in their betrayal of secrets—and clamping down on the romance of Madeleine and John when it in any way threatens to interfere with the grim business of espionage . . .

The finale is hectic, I can assure you!

So far as the acting goes the picture is aces. Also—the producers were smart in their disposal of Robert Young. [You'll know why when you see the picture.] The production has several intensely suspenseful episodes. BUT—[why must there always be a "but"!——]

As to narrative, direction, continuity and technical getup, "Secret Agent" simply doesn't satisfy.

See you tomorrow.

Y. M. C. A. Summer Camp Will Start Canoe Trips

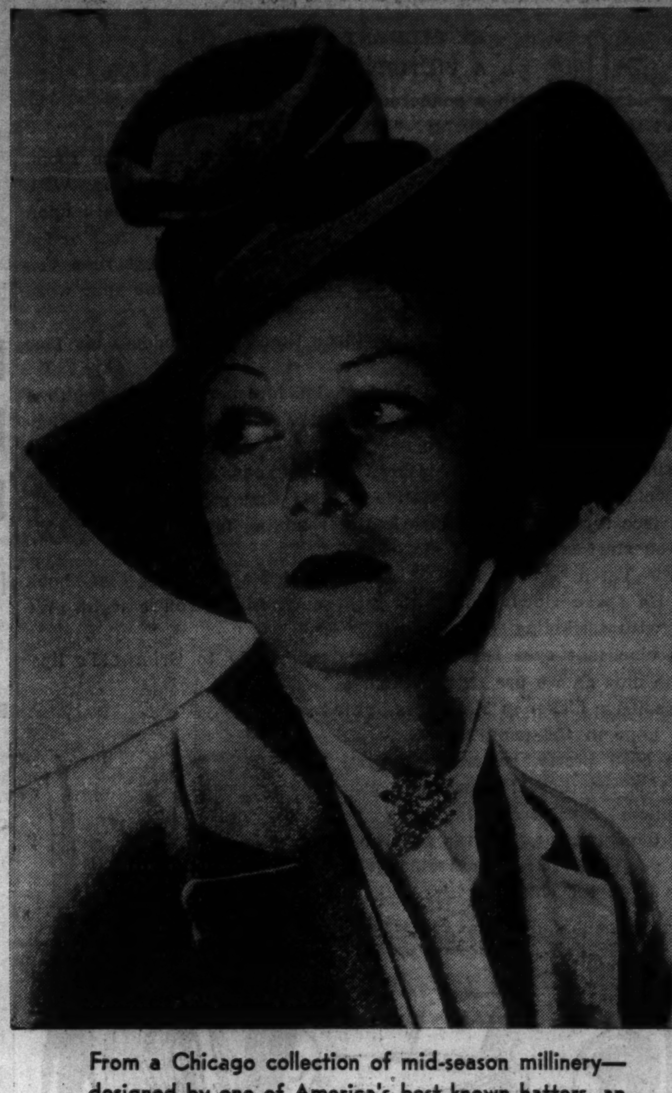
A Quaint Hat for Fall



From a Chicago collection of mid-season millinery—designed by one of America's best known hatters, an early fall model features soft, dull, black felt. A quaintly puffed crown assures any height needed. The flattering upturned side brim allows the curls of a new hair dress to be properly framed.

BY RHEA SEEGER.

Plenty of loot to lure you into shops to spend money! Lots of new things wherever you look, from the most exciting of early fall evening clothes, of the always magical dressed-up taffeta, to the fur coats with tempting special prices featured in August.

The taffetas are hard to pass by, especially the swirling, long taffeta capes that will cover you from shoulder to floor line. Black, crisp, rustling yards of it make the full skirted, tight bodice dresses. Fringed old-fashioned rouching trims, waist length capes.

The shops are full of clever tunic outfits—from tunic blouses, sold separately to slim smart tunic dresses in thin wools and dull silk crêpes. These tunics are surprisingly easy to wear, for short or tall, plump or thinnish. No wonder they are the most popular buys in town. And they are practical because you can vary the color contrast with skirts.

Other new items that loom large on the fashion front are hats—hats of velvet, of felt, of satin and combines that show new skylines for all interested hat collectors. Most of the hats are trimmed, but with brims that are under control, fetching shadows more or less, for sun weary eyes. There are flattering midseason arrivals in smart black, more than welcome after a summer of whites and pastels and colored straws.

Lily Dache designed the one illustrated in the Fashion photograph . . . it is of dull black felt, cut with a most convenient deep back. The brims give way at the side to show any new hair dress.

SYNOPSIS.

Shortly after the world war Roger Mallard, handsome young Englishman, is embittered by the loss of hearing in one ear from a war injury. Mal has been raised by his godfather, William Grimwold, an actor. Grimmy persuades Mal to attend Maude Copley's New Year's eve party, where he meets lovely young Pamella Wyeth, though he forgets her on meeting Zelda Manners. A month later Mal marries Zelda. After two years the marriage ends disastrously. In a rage at his failure to make a living on the stage Zelda flings a mirror at Mal and unknowingly destroys the hearing in his one good ear.

INSTALMENT VII.

A VICTORY WON.

Grimwold got up with a ponderous deliberation.

"Don't talk," Mal said thickly. "Too much effort. . . ."

Grimwold slowly advanced to meet him in the center of the room, and, shooting out a big fist, knocked him down. Mal fell sprawling. With each of the attempts he made to get up, Grimwold cuffed him back upon the floor.

"Look at me. Make an effort. . . . I told you the next time you came home like this, I'd thrash you. Are you ready to give me your word of honor that you'll quit?"

After he had repeated this slowly three times, Mal nodded, his face crimson.

Grimwold dragged him up on his feet, led him across the room to a water basin and doused his head under a tap. Then he pushed the boy into a chair.

Mal slumped forward with his head in his hands.

Grimwold drew up a chair beside a table that separated them.

Mal's face turned sick. He clenched a trembling fist.

"If you start scribbling at me, I'll—"

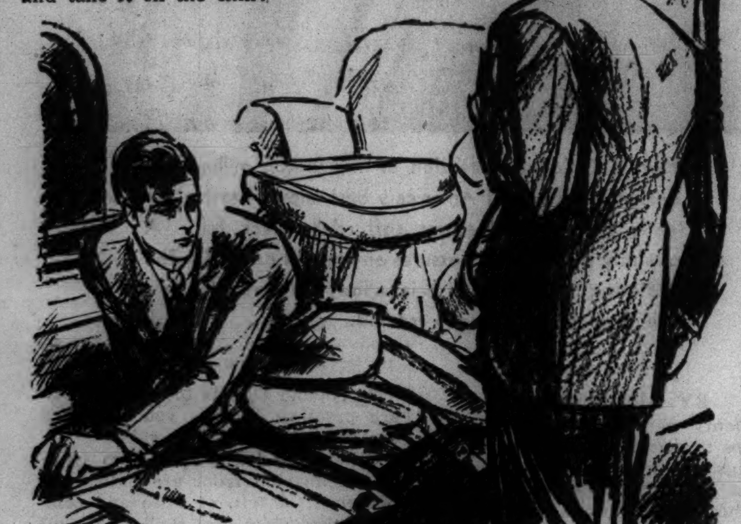
"You — listen — to — me," Grimwold leveled a forefinger that shook slightly. He spoke slowly and with great emphasis. "You're right. We are done with scribbling—"

Mal's bloodshot eyes began to cling despairingly to Grimwold's lips.

"From now on we use this method."

A responsive flicker in Mal's eyes lighted a ray of hope in Grimwold's.

"I've been pretty patient. At first, I thought this reaction of yours natural—all circumstances considered, including your brand of temperament. But it's gone on too long. Are you ready to pull yourself together and take it on the chin?"



"I told you the next time you came home like this I'd thrash you."

Grimwold repeated this until Mal, with a gleam of sardonic humor, rubbed his chin as if he had already taken it there.

"It's about time you began to play cricket. I'm ready to go on helping you. You've had seven months' instruction from the best expert in Europe, and have only about half applied yourself. If you befuddle your brain nightly, what progress can you expect? . . . You have everything in your favor—more than most poor devils in your position have. You're young, to begin with. You've spent your entire life with people who make their living by the way they use their lips and tongues and faces. You lapped in all the tricks of diction with your mother's milk. You have a perfectly placed voice yourself and know how to manage it. Your own diction is practically flawless—I've seen to that since you were a child. You have a brain as quick as a squirrel. And finally you've a beauty of person and mind—except when you debase it—that might be made use of profitably for everybody's good. . . . Mal—do you know what I've been saying?"

Mal's stony face began to quiver with such a white-hot look of astonishment that Grimwold, for an instant, was almost undone.

"My God—Grimmy—I believe—I believe I do—"

"Very well, then, go on listening," Grimwold said gruffly, "for my category of your acquired and innate assets leads me to something important. . . . Today that American cinema star I met in Hollywood had tea with me here—Rose Stanton—"

Grimwold paused and through a blur in his eyes watched Mal's face. A tremendous battle of doubt and fearful hope and amazed delight was going on there.

"The name—again—please—"

"Rose Stanton—"

"Rose—"

"Yes—Stan-ton. . . . You know—the greatest actress the American cinema can claim. . . . She is assembling a company to go to Rome to produce The Marble Faun. . . . Shall I write it?" he asked craftily.

"No—no!" Mal exclaimed and for a moment again looked sick. "Let me—The Marble—"

"Faun," said Grimwold. "F-a-u-n—"

"Yes," Mal whispered in a blaze of joy painful to watch.

"Well, she—Rose Stanton—wants a dark, superbly eerie—eerie is the word—leading man. She has been hunting everywhere with no success. The actor she'd engaged broke his leg on the boat coming over. . . . I intimated I had the very fellow for her. She was greatly taken with your photographic possibilities when she saw your portrait there on my desk. . . . I told her all about you, Mal. What I told her only added to her interest. I'm to let her and her director know tomorrow if there is any use for them to meet you—"

Mal staggered to his feet and leaned, trembling, against the table.

"Grimmy—do you know what's been happening? I've understood almost every word you've said. . . . Understood you, I tell you . . . with little effort—"

"Yes," Grimwold whispered.

"Think what this means! To understand. I can hardly believe it! I—"

"Mal, you understood months ago, but stubbornly refused to realize it. . . . There! Say nothing about that. Just let me go on doing for you. . . . Come! Come! This is no time to go to pieces. . . . Listen—for I haven't finished. This cinema angle is important. It is developing—why, who knows, some day they may make it talk! It certainly has a future, and great artistic and financial possibilities—perhaps for both of us. Now then, will you meet these people tomorrow?"

"Meet?" . . . Yes, I'll meet them. If they want me, I'll give it a try—for your sake, Grimmy. And for my own so that I—I can pay—her off to divorce me." Mal still refused to speak Zelda's name.

Grimwold watched him, troubled. Here was one of Mal's difficulties he couldn't cope with. He was pretty thoroughly convinced that if money ever began to roll in, Mrs. Mallard would see fit to remain a legally wedded wife.

But Mal didn't notice the troubled look on Grimwold's face. He was walking, rather drunkenly to be sure, up and down the room, his voice choked with triumph.

"I've got it licked, Grimmy! I've won a victory. Or rather, you have. I swear, I'll make you proud of me. I'll make all your trouble over me worthwhile. . . . I've got the confidence now. . . . Confidence. . . . I know I can do it. . . . I'll go on with those lessons. I see how I'll improve and improve with practice. I'll get so diabolically skilful, I'll confound the world that has confounded me. I'll be its eighth wonder. . . . I'll—"

Grimwold turned a stooped shoulder upon his godson's transports. Taking a neatly folded hankerchief from his left breast pocket, he furtively dabbed at his eyes.

Outwardly it was like all the other New Year's of the past fourteen years except that its arrival, twenty-four hours hence, was awaited by the world with such desperate hope.

As usual, Miss Pamella Wyeth faced the New Year alone from her villa in the Sierra Madre hills above Pasadena. With her colors flying, she attempted to hide behind this gallant display the fear and heaviness of her heart.

Alone in a bungalow at the Excelsior hotel, Mr. Roger Mallard, quite forgetful of Miss Wyeth's existence, was also whipping up his courage to bear his own heavy weight of sorrow.

Young David Barkley, however, was troubled by neither sorrow nor efforts to be courageous. He was merely temporarily inconvenienced by having to make a decision—whether to go on a major or minor bat for the evening.

Parents Should Be Critical of Help They Hire

Influence on Children Can Be Good or Bad.

BY GLADYS HUNTINGTON BEVANS

What do you know about the girl you hired to be mother's helper, or the children's nurse?

From what kind of home does she come?

With what sort of people did she live?

What type of friends has she, and where and how does she spend her leisure?

Is she in good health?

What is she like as an individual? Are her disposition, her standards, her attitude toward children what they should be?

These are only some of the things you should know about the person to whom you are going to entrust your most precious possession—your child.

Yet the questions most people ask, or the matters they're much more apt to investigate, concern cooking and serving, and uniforms and aprons. I continually am amazed to see mothers trust their impressionable children to strangers, about whom they know little or nothing.

The woman who has an active social life can't be with her children a great deal, neither can the mother who is forced to work, and has to be away the better part of the day. What could be more important to her in that case than a thorough investigation of the absolute stranger who is coming into her home to dress, bathe, feed, train, and act as a companion to her child?

There are many girls and women who are devoted to their young charges. There are nurses like Robert Louis Stevenson's Alison Cunningham, or those from the "old south" who were playmates, friends, and almost mothers to their "children," and so earned their life long devotion as well as the gratitude of their "children's" parents. Although these people aren't easy to find, there are many such kind and intelligent women. But mothers must be willing to take the time and the trouble to look for them.

[Copyright: 1936: By The Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Syndicate, Inc.]

Many children's nurses write in for our booklets on "Obedience" and "Patience." Each one of these requires a stamped self-addressed envelope.

Mrs. Bevans' column also appears in the Sunday Tribune.

Goldwyn Goes Ahead with 2 New Musicals Without Eddie Cantor

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 2.—(AP)—Eddie Cantor's film plans for the future were unknown today, but Samuel Goldwyn's studio was proceeding with plans for two musical films to replace the one Cantor vehicle on its program.

The producer yesterday granted Cantor's request for a release from the contract which has bound them together in an annual film production since 1929.

In San Diego, where he is appearing in vaudeville, Cantor said yesterday he would not plan further film work until he has completed a stage tour which will include Los Angeles and San Francisco. He denied, however, that he planned to sign with Twentieth Century-Fox.

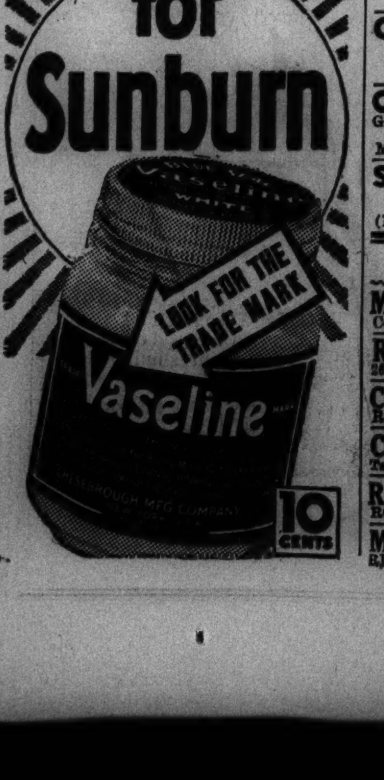
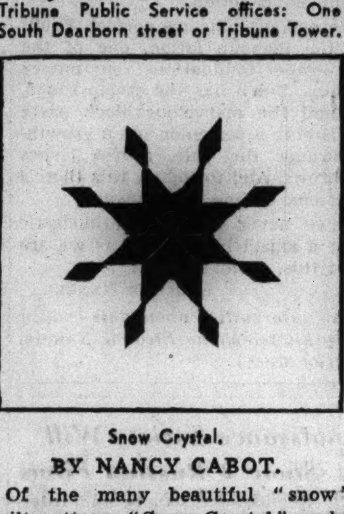
B-B-Busted!

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 2.—(AP)—Roscoe Ates, stuttering comedian of the films, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, court records revealed today. Ates' petition listed debts of $19,365. It showed no assets other than a soldier's bonus for which exemption is claimed.



"Snow Crystal" Is Popular Old Quilt Pattern Revived

Patterns of this design are 5 cents, stamps or coin. Address Nancy Cabot, Chicago Tribune, or call at one of the Tribune Public Service offices: One South Dearborn street or Tribune Tower.



Snow Crystal.

BY NANCY CABOT.

Of the many beautiful "snow" quilt patterns "Snow Crystal" ranks among those of outstanding beauty. It is as delicate and lovely as the crystal for which it was named. It is an old quilt whose popularity has just been revived. It has probably been hiding in some attic for a good many years, because it was one of the favorite applique patterns in 1870. A white background with two shades of blue crystals was the original color arrangement. With our present day variety of blues, an ice blue background with deeper blue crysals would make an effective coverlet for any bedroom.

N. U. Astronomer Flies to Mexican Observations

ing month at the Washington Park track where Chicago's racing season is being extended for 31 days. The Jocky club had open house at the track yesterday for directors, officials, horse owners, and jockies, many of whom gathered at the club for a buffet luncheon.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter L. Gregory have made reservations for luncheon today, and Mr. and Mrs. John E. Hughes, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Wright, the Harry H. Lobdells, the John R. Thompsons, the Philip D. Blocks, and Robert Rasmussen will entertain there later in the week.

The Chicago handicap will be today's featured race. Gerald Cudahy will be a missing figure at the track this year, for he is leaving for California to take up residence with his sisters, the Misses Mary and Elizabeth Cudahy, at their Santa Barbara home. Mr. Cudahy has been one of the "regulars" at Arlington.

When Dr. and Mrs. Alfred Uihlein pass through Chicago the middle of the month on their way east from her father's ranch in Montana they will say good-by to their Chicago and Milwaukee friends for a whole year. Young Dr. Uihlein has received a scholarship from Johns Hopkins in Baltimore, where he has been studying medicine, to the University of Freibourg, and with his wife, the former Paula Uihlein, daughter of Edgar J. Uihlein, and their year old daughter, Paula Melita, Dr. and Mrs. Uihlein will sail for Germany at the end of the month.

Dr. Uihlein's vacation began July 1, and he and his wife and the baby went from Baltimore to Mr. Uihlein's ranch to spend a healthy out-of-doors summer. Young Edgar Uihlein joined his father and sister and brother-in-law at the ranch, and he and Mr. Uihlein probably will remain west until Edgar leaves to enter Princeton. He spent two months at Princeton last year, but left college to take a trip around the world with his father.

Miss Pauline Seipp returned to Barrington Saturday evening after a pack trip through the Canadian Rockies, but she did not see her uncle, Mr. Uihlein, for her travels did not take her anywhere near his ranch. When Dr. and Mrs. Uihlein sail for Europe his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Uihlein, will go from Milwaukee to accompany them abroad.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Daggett Harvey left on Friday to spend three weeks at a ranch in Wyoming. Her brother, Edward Wilhelm, accompanied them west.

Mrs. Chatfield-Taylor and Daughters to Leave.

Mrs. Wayne Chatfield-Taylor and her daughters, Adelaide and Rose, and her son, Hobart, are leaving on Wednesday for a ranch in Montana where they will spend the month of August. The pretty, blonde Chatfield-Taylor girls will be missed by all of the young set in Lake Forest, for they have taken a lively part in the subdeb whirl during the month that they and their mother have been occupying their Lake Forest home.

Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Haskins, the former Dorothy North, arrived Friday from their home in England, and will spend the next two months at Northcroft, Mrs. Haskins' farm west of Lake Forest. Mr. Haskins' brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. John Saunders, have come with them on what is their first visit to America.

Mr. and Mrs. William S. North went west Friday to spend a fortnight on a ranch in Montana. Francis S. North, who has been mountain climbing in Jasper National park since his graduation from Harvard in June, is joining his brother and sister-in-law at the ranch.

Mr. and Mrs. Eliot Goss, the former Lucy Stone, arrived Saturday for a visit with her parents, the John Shepard Stones. Henry Mears took them to Ravinia Saturday night and on to the dance at the Exmoor club, and Wednesday night Miss Evelyn Bouscaren is entertaining for them at dinner in Winnetka. The Gosses probably will be here for a fortnight before returning to their home in Waterbury, Conn.

Also dancing at the Exmoor Saturday night was Miss Gwendolyn Seybours, danghter of Countess Tolstoi of Grosse Pointe, Mich., who spent the week-end with Count and Countess Potocki. The Potockis are spending the summer in Mrs. Moisant Griffiths' apartment in Lake Shore drive.

Mrs. Griffiths, who is the Countess Potocki's mother, is in Europe. She writes that Paris is packed with Americans and that it is difficult to get reservations at hotels. Mrs. Griffiths will return to Chicago late in September.

Miss Welthyan Harmon Will Arrive Tomorrow.

Miss Welthyan Harmon is arriving in Highland Park tomorrow for a two weeks' visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Harmon. Miss Harmon has been working in New York for the past several months. She is living at the Studio club there, and spends week-ends in the country with her uncle, Arthur Harmon, and Mrs. Harmon.

Hubert Harmon Jr. is expected in New York Oct. 1 after his second year of study in Paris. He and Miss Harmon will take an apartment together in New York, where he will continue designing.

The junior W. Edwin Stanleys are looking forward to the middle of the month when they will leave for Desbarats to visit his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Edwin Stanley, at their island home. Mrs. Stanley and Miss Barbara Stanley have been spending a few days in Chicago, seeing the races, but they are returning to Canada this week. Mrs. Victor Elting Jr. will accompany her brother and sister-in-law, the junior Stanleys, when they go north.

When the Raymond S. Pruitts set off in their yacht, the Joanbar, soon, they will head for Georgian bay to spend several weeks cruising in that beautiful body of water and doing some fishing.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Pitz, 1109 North Lockwood avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Majorie Loretta, to Kenneth A. Nelson, son of Mrs. E. N. Nelson, 753 North Central avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Frankenstein of 3100 Sheridan road announce the marriage of their daughter, Louise, to Dr. M. David Allweiss, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Allweiss of 4340 Clarendon avenue. Dr. and Mrs. Allweiss will live at 3100 Sheridan road.

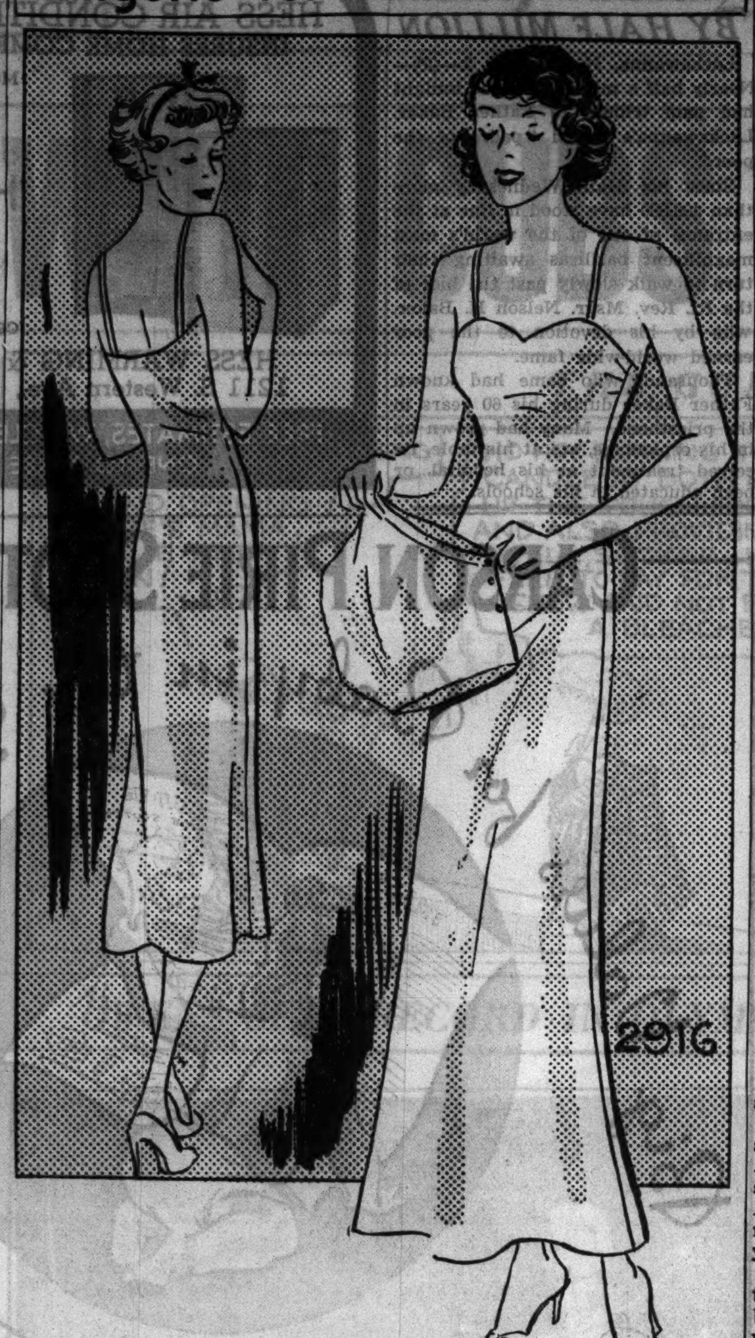
Lingerie for Summer Frocks



JUNIOR LINGERIE.

Summer being at its height, sheer frocks for both informal and formal wear are much in evidence. Frocks such as these demand slips which fit perfectly to the figure and create no folds to destroy the lines of the dresses. The lingerie garments illustrated today, a trim slip and matching panties, are designed especially for slender silhouettes. These "undies" are delightfully easy to sew. There are virtually only the side seams to join, the other dressmaking details being exceedingly simple to master. The slip moulds the figure perfectly through the bodice and is trim in every inch, all the way down to the hemline.

The panties are brief and cut to the figure. There are no trimming details or extra fullness to destroy the fitted lines of pencil-slim frocks.

Because this lingerie set is delightfully easy to make and inexpensive, too, you will want several for your summer wardrobe. You will need one or two slips in ankle length for your dressy evening frocks, and several in street length.

Satin or silk crêpe are the most practical selections for this lingerie ensemble, but there are many other fabrics which might better suit the nature of your frocks.

Style No. 2916 is designed for sizes 11, 13, 15, and 17 years. Size 15 requires 2⅝ yards of 35 inch material for the full length slip, with 1⅛ yards of 35 inch material for the panties.

Warners Act to End 6 Months' Copyright Conflict Over Songs

New York, Aug. 2.—[Special.]—The Warner Brothers' music copyright war in which the casualties among theme songs have been terrific all the way from Tin Pan Alley to Hollywood, is nearing an armistice.

Warner Brothers, wearying of the six months' legal strife, during which it filed through a subsidiary some 200 suits, totaling $2,000,000, has applied for reinstatement in the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers.

The major radio broadcasting systems, NBC and CBS, have barred Warner songs from their broadcasts during the copyright war.

E. C. Mills, general manager of the American Society of Composers and Producers, said today that the Warner petition would be considered tomorrow. Observers believe the vote will be favorable.

Co-Eds, Accomplished in Home Economics, Here on Way to Camp

Twenty-one young women, selected as outstanding in the junior home economic classes of 19 land grant colleges, were entertained in Chicago last evening on their way to the American Youth Federation's Camp Miniwanca, near Shelby, Mich. The co-eds are recipients of the four week business fellowships awarded annually from a foundation established by William H. Danforth of St. Louis. They spent two weeks in St. Louis studying business methods in large firms and the remaining two weeks will be spent in a leadership course at the camp. For the last eight years the Danforth foundation scholarships have been awarded to male agricultural students and this year is the first for the girls.

They arrived by a chartered bus from St. Louis and were given a reception by the Home Arts guild, of which Mrs. E. J. Robinson is managing director, at 205 North Michigan avenue. After the reception they left by train for the camp.

BY MARY MEADE.

Among my scrapbook treasures is a colored picture of two kewpielike kittens with fat tummies, sublime smiles, and wide, innocent eyes. About them are strewn what look suspiciously like canary feathers. And the caption under the picture reads: "No, ma'am. We ain't seen your birdies!"

Perhaps my chief reason for liking this picture is that it seems to symbolize childhood facing its mother with angelic countenance, mumbling through the telltale cookie crums, "No, mother, musta been somebody else ate your cookies!"

It is my belief that every mother whose aim is to give her youngsters a happy childhood should keep a well stocked cookie jar and permit occasional infractions of the no-eating-between-meals rule. Think back to your own childhood. Doesn't the memory of that crock of mother's ginger cookies bring a wave of nostalgia? And send you to your own kitchenette, so much more cramped than mother's roomy bakeshop, to stir up a batch of cookie dough?

Six dozen cookies, enough to last—well, several days, anyhow—can be made from this old time recipe with a few modern variations:

SOFT MOLASSES COOKIES.

3 cups sifted cake flour
1½ teaspoons soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon ginger
1½ teaspoons cinnamon
½ cup butter or other shortening
1 cup sugar
1 unbeaten egg
⅓ cup molasses
1 cup sour milk or buttermilk
1-3 teaspoon vanilla

Measure flour after sifting and add dry ingredients, except sugar. Sift together three times. Cream the butter or other shortening and add the sugar gradually, creaming until light and fluffy. Add the egg, beat well; then add the molasses. Add flour alternately with milk, a small amount at a time, mixing well after each addition. Add vanilla. Chill for several hours or until firm enough to hold shape. Drop from a teaspoon on a lightly greased baking sheet, placing about two inches apart. Bake in a hot oven [400 degrees] for 13 to 15 minutes, or until done. Chill cookie dough between bakings if all of it cannot be baked at once.

Our cookies should be even better than mother's or grandmother's because it is convenient for us to chill our dough before baking the cookies, and of course less flour is needed then to keep them in shape. The more flour the tougher the cookie, you know.

A more modern cookie and one which won't last long in your cookie jar is the peanut butter hermit. It's simple to make.

PEANUT BUTTER HERMITS.
[Two dozen.]

½ cup peanut butter
1 can sweetened condensed milk
1 cup sifted graham cracker crums
¼ teaspoon salt

Blend peanut butter and milk thoroughly and add the salt and crums. Drop by spoonfuls on a greased baking sheet. Bake in moderately hot oven [375 degrees] about 15 minutes, until brown. Remove from pan at once.

Park Water Carnival.

A Venetian water carnival will take place Wednesday evening at the Humboldt park lagoon, Augusta boulevard and Kedzie avenue. All parks in the northwest section of the park district will contribute to the program.

According to CULBERTSON

WHEN TO MAKE A MINIMUM OVERCALL.

A minimum overcall [a bid of exactly as many tricks as you need to overcall your opponent's bid] shows three things:

1. Enough winners, under the rule of two and three, to be safe.

2. A five card biddable suit. At the range of one, a strong four card suit may occasionally be bid. When vulnerable, an overcall of two or three usually requires a rebiddable suit.

3. One and a half honor tricks or more.

Thus it will be seen that at the range of one you must have four winners if not vulnerable and five winners if vulnerable; at the range of two, five winners if not vulnerable and six if vulnerable, etc.

Hari Kari.

Squeeze plays are fairly common and in most cases the player who is inexorably squeezed deserves sympathy rather than censure. But what can one say of a declarer who squeezes himself more thoroughly and effectively than could be done by his bitterest enemy?

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 no trump	Pass	2 clubs	Pass
3 clubs	Pass	3 no trump	Pass
Pass	Pass

North's raise to three no trump was the best bid at his command after he had located through South's club raise either the A K x, or the A Q x in the no trump bidder's hand.

West opened the fourth best diamond; East played the king and returned the suit and declarer split his honors. West won the ace and attacked dummy's entry by leading a heart, but declarer was careful to win this trick in his own hand, after which he laid down the ace, king, and a small club. East won the third round and returned a heart. Now, without the slightest "stock taking," declarer merrily ran off dummy's clubs until he was suddenly shocked by the discovery that he could no longer discard in safety. On the fourth club he had discarded a spade and on the fifth a diamond, neither of which was fatal. But when it came to finding a discard for the sixth club it was another matter. He had the choice of blanking his spade king, throwing away his heart protection, or letting go his winning and suit blocking diamond, any one of which, with East discarding properly behind him, had to result in his defeat.

How simple a matter it would have been to have left dummy's last club severely alone and to have shifted to a spade while he still had the king-queen of spades, the high heart, and the high diamond. In other words, with one sure diamond trick, three heart tricks, and one spade trick, he needed only four tricks in the club suit. The fifth was not only redundant but fatal.

TODAY'S QUESTION.

Question: Dealer opened with one spade. My partner doubled. The next player bid two clubs. I passed and so did the dealer. My partner then bid two spades. All passed. My partner claims his bid was like another takeout double and that I should have bid. Is this correct?

Answer: No. It should have shown a spade suit and your pass was correct. If your partner wanted to cue bid he should have done so at the first opportunity.

Gives Samples of Small Talk on Movie Sets

BY GEORGE SHAFFER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 2.—[Special.]—Following the sound of vigorous pounding we entered one of the sets of "Champagne Waltz" at Paramount studio. The pounding was being done by five strapping fellows in workmen's overalls. Unlike the studio workmen these were in white and gray overalls instead of blue and they were on the front side of the camera.

Beside them stood two actors, one in gray derby, mahogany cane, striped vest and spats, the other with top hat, luxurant black mustache, fanatic eyebrows, and cutaway coat. They were trying to transact a deal for the Vienna appearance of an American entertainment troupe. But they couldn't hear each other for the din of the hammers. The louder they talked the louder the hammers.

Finally the fashionable one of the gray derby and gray suit subsided. He was Jack Oakie. "Time out for narcotics," Oakie said, raising his hand in a mandatory gesture. Then he drank a glass of water. The other man, still spluttering German dialect, ran his hand around the top of his stiff collar, for the temperature on the sound stage was away up in the nineties. He was Herman Bing. He looked around for a glass of water for himself. But Oakie had drunk that, too.

Looking on from the side of the stage was Ann Ronell, a blonde, slight young woman with attentive features such as you would expect to find on a normal school campus. Instead of that, however, she is the composer and lyrist of "Three Little Pigs," "Rain on the Roof," and other popular tunes. For "Champagne Waltz" she has written a number called "The Merry-Go-Round."

Also amusedly following the scene between Oakie and Bing were Veloz and Yolanda, the latter in light blue sweat shirt with attentuated sleeves, navy blue slacks, black hair net over her black hair which was slicked back to a bun, and a little brown mole directly under the right side of her chin, as an arresting beauty mark. She was leaning backward with her weight on the back of a chair, resting between dance rehersals.

Her husband and partner, Frank Yolanda, in gray coat and trousers and low cut white shirt without cravat, was in lively discussion with an assistant director. Moving into ear shot we found that the subject of discussion was which city gets hotter in the summer, St. Louis or Washington, which will pass for a sample of what the prominent dancers think about in midsummer.

Moving directly from the two empty glasses of water which an attendant had fetched them, to the cooler, Oakie used his cane to parry defensively at the sharp glances directed at his girth. "How much you weigh now, Jack?" a friend querried.

"What do you think I am, a football player?" Jack retorted acidly. "What does it matter what Oakie weighs? This is going to be the year for fat men. Thin men are not the style any more. That is what I tell 'Pigeon' [the new Mrs. Oakie]." Oakie said that in time he expected Pigeon to believe it. Right now she doesn't.

'Canned Tan' Is Effective If Well Applied

May Not Be Becoming to All Types.

BY ANTOINETTE DONNELLY.

It's a wonderful thing to have all the makings of a summer tan within your reach. BUT you can make yourself startlingly ridiculous with it, too, as the young woman on a certain busy metropolitan street did the other day. True, she drew all eyes, if that was what she wished, but she looked so startling, men and women looked and turned to smile one at the other. That is not being smartly made up any more than it is being smartly dressed to wear clothes that make people stare and gasp.

You want to do a bit of experimenting behind closed doors before going forth with the "canned" tan. If you are going in for the Indian reds, as the girl mentioned above did, you should be particularly critical. First, you should be sure you are the type that can get away with it well.

Then, you want to remember that there is a lot of yellow in such makeup, and ask yourself just how well your hair and eyes and skin can take this yellow, or copper. If you are the type that was born to blister rather than tan, then a golden brown is your best synthetic tan, not the strong copper shades. I speak, of course, of blondes and redheads. Brunettes can be Chinese, Indian, or coppery, as they like, as a rule. And they can get the natural dark color out under the sun if they choose.

The medium types are those who, with the summer colors, can give themselves a different air. They can get the look of radiant, outdoor health, and because their hair is chestnut, plain brown or mouse-colored, they can be a bit more daring. The thing to watch out for is that tomato tint that is sometimes the result of the odd rouge shade. That's what was spread over the face of the young woman who stopped the parade.

True, you are permitted to be a great deal more gay in color things in summer. Nevertheless, the best dressed women and the best groomed do not go in for the spectacular. It's a rare woman who can be spectacular without being cheap.

Sally Will Take 100 Guests to the College Inn

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Well, what did you youngsters think of the news of our next party? Doesn't it sound like loads of fun?

I know that all the boys and girls who accompanied me to the College Inn Ice Carnival last year had a grand time, and the youngsters who win invitations to our next party there on Aug. 13, will have even more fun, if that's possible!

Most children would never have an opportunity to see the College Inn, but the management has promised to put on a special floor show for us, early in the afternoon. There will be music and singing and dancing, but the main treat will be the marvelous skaters who will perform on the big ice rink which has been erected in the center of the beautifully furnished room. It's real, honest-to-goodness ice, too!

In addition to this George Givot who has been so funny on the radio as the "Greek Ambassador" and who made every one laugh in "Paddy O'Day," Jane Withers' last movie, has promised to put in a special appearance for my small guests.

As usual, I am looking for one hundred youngsters who are especially interested in seeing this sort of entertainment, and would have an especially good time at this kind of party. If you think you qualify, write and tell me all about it. I want to know why you'd like to come with me on Aug. 13. Just tell me in your own words, and don't worry about your writing or spelling, but do write your own letter. And it must reach me by next Thursday morning.

It's going to be a very jolly party, I assure you, so if you'd like to come you'd better get that letter written and mailed to Sally Joy Brown, THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, Chicago.

PHYSICIANS SEE WAYS TO REDUCE WAR DEATH TOLL

Science to Curb Plagues, They Believe.

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2.—(AP)—Gunpowder may kill more men in the next war, but medical officers of the armed forces said today they believed science would curb war-born plagues—even those which might be deliberately cultivated by some ruthless belligerent.

Scientific advances in medicine, surgery, sanitation, and diagnosis of disease since world conflict swelled mortality lists two decades ago have rendered less deadly the "bugs" which decimated large groups of men brought under arms. Those germs, some scientists contend, decided the outcome of many campaigns.

The same improved preventive measures will be equally useful in protecting troops against threats of bacterial warfare, making such possible weapons no more dangerous than the same bacteria prevalent in civil populations continuously, the medical officers said.

Plan Improved Care.

Maj. Edgar E. Hume, librarian of the United States Army Medical museum, declared that in addition to normal preventive measures already in use which have practically eliminated such diseases as typhoid, typhus, smallpox, and scurvy, efforts were being made to insure more adequate medical care in all armies during actual conflict.

"Unquestionably the airplane ambulance will be a great factor in any future war," he said. "In addition preparations are being made to standardize the medical equipment of all nations in order that they may be used interchangeably and to devise an international marking system for medical supplies and surgical dressings to preserve them for actual use. Efforts are being made to devise adequate defense measures against chemical warfare for noncombatants."

Vaccines Are Improved.

Col. E. R. Gentry of the army medical corps added that improvements in vaccines for smallpox and typhoid are being made, relegating those diseases further to the background, and that a new toxoid for immunization against tetanus was under laboratory scrutiny.

Epidemic typhus, which some army historians credit with having caused Napoleon's retreat from Moscow, is no longer a threat to armies since bodily cleanliness and the elimination of lice have been found to curb it, said medical officers.

Some diseases such as influenza are still on the "unconquered" list of science, it was explained, but intensive work on these problems continues.

RECORD CROWDS THRONG BEACHES IN NEW YORK CITY

New York, Aug. 2.—[Special.]—With perfect weather prevailing today, highways were jammed and beaches in the metropolitan area drew crowds estimated at more than 2,500,000. The high temperature for the day in the city was 91 degrees. The beach at Coney Island led other sectors in attendance with an estimated total of 1,000,000 persons, many of whom found it impossible to get near the water.

Record Crowd at Atlantic City.

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 2.—[Special.]—The largest crowd of bathers in this resort's history were on its beach and in the surf today. Dr. Charles L. Bossert, head of the Atlantic City beach patrol, estimated there were 550,000 bathers and at least another 100,000 on the boardwalk.

HERMAN NEEDS MONEY AND GOES IN AFTER SOME

Herman Swanson, 29 years old, 1700 Albion avenue, bought a new automobile last spring, when his painting and decorating business was brisk. Lately he has been worrying about how to meet the August payment on the car.

Last night Swanson climbed through a window at 4028½ North Paulina street, the home of the Misses Emma and Gertrude Clavey, who were absent. A neighbor notified police, and several squads headed by Sergt. James O'Neill surrounded the building. They forced Swanson out by threatening to toss in some gas bombs and found he had packed clothing and jewelry, ready to be carried away.

At the North Damen avenue police station the prisoner said: "I needed money. I didn't want to lose my car." He is married and has a daughter 5 years old.

PAY HOMAGE AT BIER OF BLERIOT, PLANE PIONEER

PARIS, Aug. 2.—(AP)—The body of Louis Bleriot, French air pioneer, lay in state today in his home, surrounded by flowers from admirers. Bleriot, first to fly the English channel in 1909 and an outstanding aviation engineer, died suddenly last night of a heart attack. He was 64 years old. Burial will be Wednesday in Versailles cemetery.

Former Premier Pierre-Etienne Flandin, Marc Rucart, minister of justice, and most of France's famed pilots visited the Bleriot home to pay their respects.

Bleriot's name was closely linked with the development of modern aviation, not only as an early, adventurous pilot, but as an important technician. His enterprise helped lift aviation from a curiosity. Besides flying from capital to capital in Europe to convince the skeptical and train young pilots, Bleriot founded the first airplane factory in France.

Jet-Black Persian Lamb, $295 to $650

These in the Carson collection—whether of Hudson Seal, Caracul or Persian Lamb, are notable for the "blacker black" of the peltries—a black that will keep its depth and its lustre; for the pliant quality of the skins; for the fashion importance of lines and details.

Hudson Seal dyed muskrat may be had in swaggers, boxy types, full length silhouettes. The style shown is from a large group at $195. The caracul coats, fashioned of beautifully matched skins, are supple and loose-hanging, with small, flattering collars—note the one sketched at $395. The Persian Lambs are expertly tailored and finished in swagger, full length and princess styles, with interesting sleeve and collar treatments. The style shown, $295.

BEES WHIP CUBS TWICE; WHITE SOX WIN TWO

DAVIS FAILS AS RELIEF HURLER; WARNEKE LOSES

Boston Wins, 4 to 3 and 3 to 2.

BY EDWARD BURNS.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Boston, Mass., Aug. 2.—The Bees today showed unprecedented treachery by whipping the Cubs in both games of a double-header, 4 to 3 and 3 to 2. This wicked activity, combined with happenings in Philadelphia, reduced the Cub lead in the National league to a mere technical whisper, a matter of 2 percentage points over the Cubs' next adversaries, the St. Louis Cardinals.

Danny MacFayden was the winning pitcher in the first affair, which ended after two were out in the ninth, the first inning pitched by Curt Davis as Bill Lee's reliever, after Lee had collapsed in the eighth. The pitching was mostly to blame in this one, though the supporting cast had little about which to brag.

Demaree's Error Hurts.

The loss of the second game, in which Ben Cantwell got the decision over Lon Warneke, was traceable to two runs which bloomed in the first inning as a result of a dropped fly by Demaree. Here, again, the cast was culpable because of inability to deliver base hits at proper moments.

None but the oldest settlers can remember when the Bees or Braves took a vital series from the Cubs. This year they had won three games in sixteen played prior to this woeful day.

The double blistering sent the Cubs home to face the Cards bemoaning a road trip in which they were the losers in seven games and winners of six. They took their first series from the Dodgers, two games to one, split four with the Phillies, then lost two of three at New York and here.

Lee was breezing along to what looked like a 2 to 0 Chicago victory when he lost control after one was out in the eighth. He walked Rabbit Warstler on four pitches and Rupe Thompson on six pitches. He struck out Gene Moore, but his first serve to Wally Berger was a setup and Wally drove it into the stands for three runs to put his team ahead, 3 to 2. Wally, incidentally, spent all day yesterday in bed with a high fever.

Four Hits Good for One Run.

The Cubs tied the score in the ninth, making one run on four hits, an error, and some extra hazardous base running by Phil Cavarretta, who scored from second on an infield hit.

Then Curt Davis came in to do the pitching in the home ninth. He yielded three hits, but probably would have escaped if he hadn't walked Pitcher MacFayden or if Johnny Gill hadn't juggled the ball on Warstler's short single.

In the second game, the first two batsmen, Stan Hack and Ethan Allen, scored. After that the champions were helpless, though they did manage to get the potential tying run to second base in the eighth and ninth innings. The Bees scored the deciding run in the fourth on a single by Hal Lee and a double by Al Lopez.

FIRST GAME

The first two Chicago hits were singles by Allen. The first one in the first inning, was wasted, but the second one, with two out in the third, drove in the first run of the afternoon. After Stainback had fanned and Bill Lee had popped to Cuccinello in the third, Hack walked and stole second. He ran home on Allen's single to center. Allen also stole second, and Herman walked, but Hartnett flied to Hal Lee.

In their first three innings the Bees couldn't get a real threat rolling. Stainback opened the Cub fifth with a double to left, but the next three went out.

Grimm Drives in Run.

The Cubs scored their second run in the sixth inning. Herman was hit

U. S. MATMEN WIN FIRST MATCHES IN OLYMPIC GAMES

BERLIN, Aug. 2.—(AP)—America's catch-as-catch-can wrestlers in the lighter divisions won their first round Olympic matches today.

Frank Lewis, Oklahoma A. & M. welterweight from Cushing, Okla., pinned Beke of Belgium in 5:03 and Harley Strong, another Cushing boy in the lightweight division, won a decision over Soganli of Turkey, but incurred one penalty point in the match.

Ross Flood, Oklahoma A. & M. bantamweight from Blackwell, Okla., took a unanimous point decision from Jurado of the Philippines. Francis Millard, featherweight from North Adams, Mass., pinned Jean Chasson of France outside the mat after five minutes of wrestling, but required 13 minutes to win on a fall.

Both winners and losers compete in the second round tomorrow.

EGYPTIAN LIFTS 753½ POUNDS TO SET NEW RECORD

BERLIN, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Mohammed Ahned Mesbah, an Egyptian government employé from Alexandria, established a new Olympic weight lifting record tonight to win the lightweight championship after Tony Terlazzo of York, Pa., had taken the featherweight title with a lift of 687½ pounds.

The Egyptian lifted a total of 753½ pounds. Second place among the lightweights went to Fein of Austria, who hoisted the same total weight, but was placed below the winner because of his greater weight. Janses of Germany was third with 720½ pounds.

American entries in the lightweight division finished fifth and eighth, respectively. John B. Terpak lifted 709 pounds and Robert Mitchell 693. Both are from York, Pa.

As a result of Terlazzo's featherweight victory and a sixth place in the same division by John Terry of New York, the United States held second place in the point scoring after tonight's events with 12 points as compared to 20 for Egypt.

SMITH, GULDAHL SMASH PAR; TIED IN SEATTLE OPEN

Seattle, Wash., Aug. 2.—(AP)—MacDonald Smith, Nashville, Tenn., and Ralph Guldahl, St. Louis, tied today at 285—seven under par—for first place in the $5,000 Seattle open golf tournament.

Guldahl swept through the last 18 of the 72 holes in 70—three under par—to make up for a bad morning round of 76 and overtook Smith, who shot 72 on the last 18 after a morning round of 73. Guldahl had 139 at the end of the qualifying 36 yesterday and Smith had 140.

Tournament officials said Smith and Guldahl could play off tomorrow for first prize money of $1,200 or split first and second money as they chose.

JACK DORVAL, EX-BOXER, DIES IN PLANE CRASH

St. Marys, Pa., Aug. 2.—(AP)—Jack Dorval, 28 year old former heavyweight boxer, died instantly today as an airplane crashed on a farm near here.

Frank McDowell, 38, of Bradford, Pa., pilot and only other occupant, escaped serious injury. He declined to ascribe a cause for the sudden fall of the ship, which occurred as it flew low.

Dorval, whose home was in Emporium, Pa., retired from the ring after fighting Ernie Schaaf at Boston.

Hilde Fleischer of Germany, who won the Olympic javelin championship with a toss of 148 feet 2 25-32 inches at Berlin yesterday, breaking the Olympic record of 143 feet 4 inches set by Babe Didrikson at Los Angeles in 1932.

American Men Fencers Defeated by Belgium

BERLIN, Aug. 2.—(AP)—The American men's fencing team was defeated, 12 to 4, by the Belgium team in the Olympic foil preliminaries today after winning from Norway, 12 to 4, and from Switzerland, 13 to 3.

HANDICAP TODAY OPENS RACING AT WASHINGTON PK.

Fifteen Named to Start in Feature.

BY FRENCH LANE.

The horses will be "off" at Washington Park this afternoon for a thirty-one day run of fine racing.

Topped by the Chicago handicap at 6 furlongs and with the Englewood Claiming handicap as a secondary feature the program today is one of the most attractive initial cards ever offered at Washington Park. The official starting time is 2:20 o'clock.

Fifteen were named for the Chicago handicap which carried an added money prize of $2,500. Visigoth, which has trained sensationally for the race, likely will rule as the favorite with Rock X, Isaiah, and Billy Bee also expected to muster much support.

Whereaway no doubt would be the post time choice but for the hard race he had in the Arlington Futurity on Saturday. His stretch battle with Sun Teddy surely took something out of him and it is hardly likely his owner Tony Pelleteri will ask him to go after today's prize.

First of Seven Stakes.

The Chicago handicap is the first of seven stake races that are to be run during the Washington Park season. The nomination lists indicate that they will attract all the leaders in each of the various age divisions.

Every feature of modern racing, including the "Eye in the Sky" and betting totalizator has been installed at the Washington Park plant and racing will be conducted there under ideal conditions. The Eye in the Sky is located in a tower 116 feet above the track.

This recent creation has a new name at Washington Park. It has been dubbed the Tower of Babble because in addition to housing the camera it will house the man at the "mike" who describes the races over the loud speaker system and the booths from which various radio reports go out over the air.

That a very friendly relationship has sprung up between the horsemen, Walter L. Gregory, the new president of the Washington Park Jocky club, and other officials of the Washington Park association was indicated yesterday afternoon when more than 800 guests, most of them owners, trainers and jockies gathered at the track for a get together party.

New President on Job.

There was a floor show and free food. The latter item in particular made a great hit with some of the horsemen whose steeds did not run up to expectations during the Arlington Park season which ended last Saturday.

Mr. Gregory, who succeeds John P. Harding as president, is one of Chicago's best known civic and business leaders. For years he has helped carry on the affairs of the Potter Palmer estate and the Palmer house. He is also an executive of the State street council. Mr. Harding will continue to serve as a member of the board of directors. Roy Carruthers, executive director of the racing at Arlington Park will serve in a similar capacity at Washington Park.

Horses were arriving at Washington Park from Arlington Park throughout the day yesterday. Last night there were about 1,200 of them quartered at Washington Park and Lincoln Fields awaiting this afternoon's opening.

During the 31 days of racing a total of $300,000 will be distributed in stake and purse money with no less than $8,000 offered on any single day. The racing today marks the beginning of the second half of the racing season in Illinois.

As this is the first racing of the year on the south side a record breaking opening day crowd is in prospect.

BEAT BOSTON, 9-1, IN OPENER; TAKE 2D, 12-11

Climax 8 Run Rally in 12th Inning.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

The White Sox progressed from rough and ready to sensational yesterday. They were rough enough in the first half of a double-header to defeat Boston's gold flaked Red Sox, 9 to 1. Then they put real, dazzling color into their work to capture the second game. They whittled down an enemy lead of 10 to 1, tying the score with a pair of runs in the ninth, then triumphed, 12 to 11, in the 12th inning to ascend to third place.

Approximately 28,000 saw Merrit [Sugar] Cain coast to victory in the first game on a combination of his own pitching and the batting power of his mates. Later they saw Vernon Kennedy wilt in a tussle with the snarling, tempermental Wes Ferrell. But they also saw the great Ferrell blasted out of the picture in the ninth inning and one of his successors, Fritz [Lefty] Ostermueller, succumb in the 12th when Larry Rosenthal doubled himself into position to score the winning run on a single by Jack Hayes.

The Great Ferrell Goes Boom.

Until the eighth there was no reason to doubt Ferrell's 15th victory of the year was a cinch. He went into the inning leading 11 to 4. Hits by Hayes, Grube, Kreevich, Rosenthal, and Bonura brought him out of the inning with his seven run lead reduced to two runs. Then when Hayes opened the ninth with a double Ferrell was yanked. It took two men, Jack Wilson and Ostermueller, to end the inning, but even they did not succeed until after a single by Rip Radcliff, his only hit of the long afternoon, had driven in the tying runs.

A few words about what happened to the Red Sox power after it had driven Kennedy away and apparently ended his ten game winning streak: Clint Brown was summoned to conclude the turbulent fifth which netted six runs. Thereafter he gave up only one run until withdrawn in the ninth for Pinchhitter Tony Piet, who scored the tying run. And after Brown had departed, Italo Chelini, the kid southpaw, carried on. He allowed only three hits in the last three innings before getting the run that credited him with the triumph.

Cain Has It Easy.

It was principally a case of Bonura, Appling, Hayes, and Sewell that made Cain's first game task simple. One of two hits by Bonura was his eighth home run of the year. Appling came up with four hits for a perfect performance. Hayes figured in the run-getting with a double and two singles. Sewell's bit was four hits on which three mates scored.

It wasn't the same in the second game except with Bonura and Hayes. Zeke pounded loose four more hits and Hayes three. But fresh help came from Rosenthal, who succeeded Mule Haas in the third inning, to score three runs and drive in two as the result of a pass, triple and his 12th inning double.

FIRST GAME

Just before registering their first pair of runs in the opening game, the White Sox pepped up the patrons with a dazzling escape from a tight spot. Foxx doubled to start the second inning and Kroner grounded out. Cronin tapped to Cain and Foxx was trapped, but outfoxed the Sox and got back to third, Cronin taking second. Dykes ordered an intentional pass to Werber, filling the bases. The strategy succeeded when Berg hit into a double play, Hayes to Appling to Bonura.

The initial incident of the home second was Bonura's No. 8 home run which landed in the left field pavilion. Appling singled to left for the first of his series of hits and two Finns and two Germans bettered existing marks.

OWENS SETS NEW WORLD MARK IN OLYMPIC SPRINT

Americans Make Sweep of High Jump.

Owens' victories in the 100 meter trials were the most sensational performances of the day. Athletes from the Olympic Village swarmed toward places of vantage when he toed the mark and the throng in the massive stadium focused their attention on the colored star whose reputation is universal. His victories were cheered as enthusiastically as were those of Fraulein Fleischer and Woellke.

Owens Never Challenged.

Owens, away from his mark ahead of his field in each heat, strode smoothly and swiftly into a lead which he held unchallenged to the tape. He defeated the Japanese star, Sasaki, by five yards in the first heat and had a four yard margin over Haenni of Switzerland, in the quarter final, in which he set the new world's and Olympic record. A slight wind was blowing across the track, but the officials announced without hesitation that his time was a new mark.

Metcalfe was pressed to win his two trials, being timed in :10.8 in the first heat in which he beat Sir, the noted Hungarian sprinter, and in :10.5 in the quarter final heat where he conquered Pennington of England. Wykoff won his first heat in :10.6, but finished third behind Strandberg of Sweden and Osendarp, the Holland champion. Strandberg's time was 1:05.

Johnson Misses Record Try.

The day's program was climaxed by the Americans' performance in the high jump, where they fared as had been expected. Johnson, who with his teammate Albritton holds the world's record of 6 feet 9¾ inches, drew rounds of hearty applause from the intensely partisan German crowd as he cleared each new height on the first attempt until he reached 6 feet 7 15-16 inches. Albritton, Thurber and Kotkas tied for second at 6 feet 6¾ inches. The Finn was eliminated on the jump-off.

Later Johnson asked that the bar be moved up to 6 feet, 10 inches, a new world's record, and while the multitude sat in rapt expectancy he made three unsuccessful attempts to clear it, barely missing on the last attempt when his hand touched the bar as he came down.

The performance of the shot putters and Lash were as disappointing to the American delegation as the success of Owens and Johnson was stimulating. Disappointment was particularly poignant in the case of Jack Torrance, behemoth from Louisiana State, holder of the world's shot put record of 57 feet 1 inch, established two years ago.

Francis Beats Torrance.

Torrance barely qualified, having trouble making 48 feet on his first three throws. He got off one good toss to finish fifth in the final with 50 feet 5 17-32 inches, 2 24-32 inches less than his left handed teammate, Sam Francis, of the University of Nebraska, who finished fourth. Dimitri Saitz, the third American, competed with an injured hand and finished sixth.

Woellke's victory, with a toss of 53 feet 1 13-16 inches, was the signal for a great demonstration by the enthusiastic German audience. His triumph assumed added importance in the eyes of the Germans because it had been scored over the giant Torrance. Baerlund of Finland was second with 52 feet 10 21-23 inches and Stoeck of Germany third with 51 feet 4 51-64 inches.

Lash Handicapped by Injury.

Lash entered the 10,000 meters run with little chance of winning. The hard working American had pinched a nerve in practice yesterday and was unable to run with his full stride. It is doubtful, however, whether he would have been able to keep up with the Finnish trio, which went methodically about the job of running the race with utter disregard for the other contestants.

Under the watchful eye of the peerless Paavo Nurmi, who trained his countrymen, the Finns stepped along in even, perfectly timed stride: allowing the courageous little Japanese Murakoso to make the pace for the first fifteen laps of the twenty-five lap race. Lash, never better than sixth at any time in the race, hobbled along behind, beaten, but never far out of the race until the Finns began stepping up the pace near the end, after passing Murakoso.

Salminen won the event after a thrilling duel down the stretch with Askola. His time was 30 minutes 15 4-10 seconds, two-thirds of a second faster than Askola's. The Finns had lapped the field coming down the stretch, catching Lash about 15 yards from the finish on the 400 meter track. Iso-Hollo trailed his victorious countrymen, Salminen by 15 yards.

Germany Gains First Victory.

The day's competition opened auspiciously for the German spectators when the Reich flag was run up signalizing Fraulien Fleischer's victory in the javelin throw and giving Germany the first Olympic championship. She and Luise Krueger, a teammate who finished second with a toss of 142 feet ⅝ inches, were congratulated personally by Hitler while the 90,000 stood and cheered.

Her victory cast a cloud over the American contingent where it was expected that Mrs. Gertrude Wilhelmsen would be a prominent factor in the event. Mrs. Wilhelmsen was unable to match the mighty muscled women of the continent, however, and finished eighth with a best effort of 122 feet 6½ inches. Martha Worst and Betty Burch, the other Americans, finished tenth and thirteenth, respectively.

Edwards Beats Hornbostel.

The American 800 meter entries qualified as they pleased in the preliminary heats, exerting just enough effort to earn places in the semifinals. Hornbostel competed in the fastest heat, being beaten by Phil Edwards, the former New York university and Canadian Olympic veteran, by a foot. Both were timed in 1:53.7.

Woodruff, a tall, slender colored youngster, was in no hurry at any time in the fourth heat and finished third in 1:58.7, behind Backhouse of Australia, who won in 1:57.7, and Szabo of Hungary. The showing of the American trio made it the favorite in this event, although Anderson of Argentina, who cantered to victory in 1:55.1, and Edwards loomed as dangerous threats.

Lash's performances today coupled with Harold Manning's slow recovery from a heavy cold and Joe McCluskey's doubtful form left the Americans with little hope of success in the 5,000 meters and the 3,000 meters steeplechase. The steeplechase is scheduled for tomorrow. Lash may be able to recover from his accident yesterday before he is called upon in the 5,000 meters test, for which he has evinced a preference. Trainers, however, were fearful lest today's grind may have tired him too much to make his customary good showing in the shorter event.

Crowd Cheers Hitler.

Showers greeted the athletes when they awoke this morning, but the weather cleared and the sun broke through as the competition got under way. Ceremonies attendant on Chancellor Hitler's arrival added a festive touch to the program and the crowd cheered loudly as the Fuehrer took his place in the official box. Hitler remained throughout the afternoon and personally congratulated most of the athletes.

The major surprises of the day included the defeat of Ryutoku Yoshmoka of Japan, a 100 meter finalist at Los Angeles four years ago, and the failure of Christian Berger, the Netherlands champion, who had been regarded by continentals as their chief threat to the wing-footed Owens. Paul Martin, the veteran Swiss, reached the end of his long Olympic career when he was eliminated in the 880 meters. This was Martin's fifth Olympic appearance, and he had been classed as sufficiently fast to qualify for the finals.

Ernest Sutter Ranked 1st in College Tennis

New York, Aug. 2.—(AP)—As a result of his victory in the national intercollegiate championships at Evanston, Ill., in June, Ernest Sutter of Tulane has been given the No. 1 place in the intercollegiate tennis rankings for 1936, announced today by the intercollegiate committee. The rankings recommended by the committee must be approved by the United States Lawn Tennis association at its next anuual meeting.

Behind Sutter, whose brother Clifford topped the intercollegiate rankings in 1930 and 1932, is placed Vernon John of Southern California, with third place going to Ramsay Potts of North Carolina. The Stanford team of Ben Dey and William Seward heads the doubles rankings, followed by Norman Bickel and Norbert Burgess of the University of Chicago. Dey and Seward won the national intercollegiate title.

California players dominate the field of 16 players ranked in singles with five men. The midwest is represented by four players, the south by three, and the southwest and east by two each.

The rankings, as announced by the committee composed of Thane R. Halstead, chairman; Dr. D. A. Penick, C. S. Garland, Karl Kamrath, Ernest Sutter, Ralph Minnich, and John R. Law, follow:

Silver Hind Is Double Winner in Snipe Races

Silver Hind, W. B. Park's racing sloop, won both of yesterday's races held by the Wilmette Snipe class fleet. K. Eastman was Skipper Park's crew.

Silver Hind defeated Paul Hansen's Kristina by 1 minute and 15 seconds. The winning time was 58 minutes and 30 seconds for the three and a half mile course.

The afternoon race was double the distance of the first contest. In a freshened wind Silver Hind defeated Moby Dick, Fleet Capt. Percy Wilson's flagship by 3 minutes and 15 seconds. Silver Hind's elapsed time was 1 hour 28 minutes 30 seconds. Eight Snipes competed in each of the two races.

Skipper Park's entry is leading the fleet's season competitions with an average high of 1,661 1-10 points out of a possible 1,700. Kristina is second with 1,611 points. Silver Hind will be shipped to Oshkosh, Wis., at the end of this month to represent Wilmette and Chicago in the international Snipe class championships.

Washington Breaks Seven Game Losing Streak.

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 2.—(AP)—Washington bounced back into the victory column today after seven straight defeats by falling on Recruit Jake Wade for three runs in the ninth inning to defeat the Tigers, 5 to 3.

Wade, making his debut as a Tiger, granted nine bases on balls in addition to 11 hits, but was saved by brilliant fielding until the ninth. A double by Kuhel, a pass to Reynolds and a triple by Hill pushed over two runs. Then Hill stole home while Wade was winding up. Score:

CARDS WIN TWO FROM PHILLIES, 13-4 AND 11-8

St. Louis Now in Virtual Tie with Cubs.

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 2.—[Special.]—The St. Louis Cardinals won both games of a double-header with the Phillies today, 13 to 4 and 11 to 8. The double victory enabled the Cardinals to go into a virtual tie for the National league lead with the Chicago Cubs, who lost a twin bill at Boston. Old Jess Haines pitched the first game for the Cards. He allowed twelve hits, while the gas house gang pounded Bucky Walter and other pitchers for eighteen hits, including a home run by Pepper Martin.

Another veteran, George Earnshaw, started the second, but weakened in the eighth after his teammates had given him a big lead and was relieved by Dizzy Dean. The Phils scored three runs before Dean could retire the side. Scores:

SALAY IS WINNER IN 40 LAP RACE AT LINCOLNWOOD

Mike Salay of South Bend won the forty lap feature race for big cars yesterday at the Lincolnwood motor speedway. Red Campbell of Indianapolis finished second after having the crowd in a frenzy with his sensational driving. He had to stop at the pit to change tires, losing several laps, but showed sensational speed around the curves. Everett Rice, favorite in the race, dropped out in the sixth lap due to motor trouble.

Blim Rutherford went through the fence but escaped serious injury.

Sox Defeat Boston Twice, 9-1 and 12-11

scored on Hayes' double to left. Dykes bunted Hayes to third, but he languished there.

The top of the Boston batting order produced a run against Cain in the third. Cooke scratched a single to Hayes with one out and dashed to third on Cramer's single to center. Cooke ran home while Manush was forcing Cramer and the mild flurry subsided when Foxx grounded to Dykes.

Bonura, Appling, and Hayes were back in the fifth to assist in the second pair of runs off Russell. Bonura blew a single through Werber with one out. Appling singled to right. Hayes lined a single over third to score Bonura. A fly to center disposed to Dykes, after which Sewell singled, Appling scoring and Hayes moving to third. Cain flied to Cramer.

Appling Comes Through.

The three run eruption which blew Russell out of action in the seventh began with a pass to Bonura and Appling's third single. They moved up on Hayes' bunt. Dykes was walked, loading the bases. Sewell poked a single through Cronin, scoring Bonura. Cain's single sent Appling and Dykes across the plate, whereupon Wilson stepped in and checked the gaiety.

Haas doubled in the eighth to inaugurate a two run sortie against Henry. Bonura popped out, but Appling came through with his fourth single, Haas scoring. Appling counted a moment later on Sewell's fourth single.

SECOND GAME

Kennedy was stylish enough at the start of the second game, but began to melt in the second inning, one run scoring. A single by Foxx, a double by Kroner, and an infield out caused this damage. The third was worse, three scoring on four hits. Ferrell singled and was forced by Melillo. Cramer singled and Manush popped out. Then Foxx singled and Melillo counted. Kroner tripled to right center, sending Cramer and Foxx across. Cronin hoisted a fly to Kreevich for the third out.

Kreevich beat out a bunt to Ferrell with one out in the third and was forced by Haas. Bonura walked, Appling slapped a single into center, Haas scoring and Bonura going to third and Appling to second on Cramer's wild return throw. Ferrell, who was in the midst of one of his tempermental outbursts because he thought he hadn't handled Kreevich's bunt properly, wriggled out of the jam on Hayes' tap to Kroner.

Kennedy Banished in Fifth.

Before Kennedy could get away in the turbulent fifth five men had faced him and none was retired. Melillo's single and Radcliff's error on the hit started the six run uprising. Cramer also singled and Melillo scored. Manush singled and Foxx walked, loading the bases. A single by Kroner shoved Cramer and Manush over the plate. The hit also was potent enough to shove Kennedy to the shower faucet. Brown stepped in and his greeting was Cronin's triple, Foxx and Kroner scoring. Cronin carried home the sixth run on Berg's fly.

The domestic Sox countered with two runs in their half of the fifth. Ferrell issue free passage to Kreevich and Rosenthal, who had taken the place of the ailing Haas. A single to short by Bonura loaded the bags. Kreevich scored on Appling's infield out and a wild pitch let Rosenthal sneak home.

The Fun Begins.

Singles by Manush and Cronin gave the Red Sox a run off Brown in the sixth. The next scoring came from the Chicago side. Kreevich singled and scored on a double by Bonura in the seventh. Then the White Sox put it on good in the eighth. Hayes doubled, Dykes walked and Grube singled to score Hayes. Brown flied out and Radcliff forced Grube, whereupon Kreevich singled to score Dykes. Rosenthal banged a triple to center, sending Radcliff and Kreevich home. Rosenthal scored on a single by Bonura before Ferrell restored order.

Ferrell went into the ninth with his two run lead and was delighted to be excused when Hayes led off with a double. Wilson rushed to the rescue and when he fanned Dykes and Grube the show looked to be about over. Piet batted for Brown and walked. Under the prevailing pressure Wilson let go with a wild pitch, putting Hayes on third and Piet on second. Then Radcliff hammered his single into center to send the tying runs galloping home. Radcliff stole second and Kreevich was purposely passed. Oestermueller replaced Wilson and walked Rosenthal but with the bases loaded Bonura flied to Cramer, so the battle continued for three more innings. In the 12th Rosenthal doubled with one out. Bonura was purposely passed and both runners moved up a base on Appling's infield out. Then Hayes slapped the single that scored Rosenthal with the winning run.

by a pitched ball and was forced on Hartnett's bunt. Demaree singled to right, Hartnett stopping at second. Grimm singled to center, Hartnett scoring and Demaree reaching third. Jurges then bounced to MacFayden, and Demaree was out at the plate, MacFayden to Lopez. Stainback forced Jurges.

Bill Lee suddenly lost control after throwing out MacFayden at the start of the home eighth. He walked Warstler on four pitches. Thompson also walked. Moore fanned but Berger leaned on Lee's first pitch for his 18th home run, scoring Warstler and Thompson to put the Bees ahead, 3 to 2.

Cavarretta Slides Home.

O'Dea batted for Stainback at the start of the ninth and flied to Warstler. Cavarretta, batting for Lee, singled to left and took second when Hal Lee juggled the ball. Warstler stopped Hack's roller back of second, but overran the ball. Cavarretta dashed home and slid under Lopez with the tying run on an eyelash decision. MacFayden pitched out while Allen was trying to execute the hit and run, and Hack was out at second. Allen then beat out a bunt toward third, and Herman singled to left to make it four Chicago hits in a row. Hartnett ran the count to three balls and two strikes and then flied to Berger.

SECOND GAME

Each team made two runs, two hits and one error in the first inning. Hack opened with a single to left and stopped at second on Allen's single to right. Herman bunted and the bases were full when Cantwell made a high throw to first. O'Dea forced Herman, Hack scoring. Demaree walked, again filling the bases. Grimm forced Demaree, Allen scoring. Jurges flied to Berger.

Thompson walked with one out in the Boston half, and stopped at second on Moore's single to left. Berger fanned, but Demaree dropped Cuccinello's fly, Thompson scoring, Moore reaching third and Cuccinello second. Lee walked, and Urbanski beat out a high bouncer to Warneke, Moore scoring. Lopez popped to Herman in short right center.

Bees Take Lead.

The Bees took the lead in the fourth. Lee opened with a single to left, paused while Urbanski flied to Stainback, and scored on Lopez' double to left center.

Warneke was hit by a pitched ball, but the Cubs decided it was too early to sacrifice, so Hack tapped into a double play, making it three double sinkings in five innings for the Bees.

Allen singled to center with one down in the eighth and reached second while Thompson was making a nice play to retire Herman. O'Dea then struck out. Demaree fanned to start the ninth, and Grimm bounced to Warstler. Jurges singled to center, and Cavarretta, batting for Stainback, singled to deep short. Hartnett batted for Warneke, but grounded to Warstler.

OLYMPIC GAMES.

If the Olympic games ever are suspended or if some nations refuse to participate, it more likely will be an aftermath of world politics than of sport politics, possibly some action of spectators rather than of participants.

While there have been minor sports arguments in the past, while lack of a uniformly recognized scoring system has allowed different nations to claim victory on their own basis of points, the athletes, on the whole, have comported themselves with sportsmanship.

One of the purposes of these games held every four years is to promote international amity. That purpose may be frustrated just as the league of nations was nullified by national rivalries and jealousies. Sports, per se, will not be the cause.

First, there was some opposition in this country to participation, which had been promised, because of Germany's racial discrimination. Now there is a question whether America's representatives, at the official opening parade, were given the equivalent of our "raspberry" by a portion of the crowd. Because of our flag regulations, our colors were not dipped when passing the reviewing stand.

The Wake thinks such an incident, even if it took place, might easily be overemphasized. Naturally, one would feel affronted. On the other hand, suppose the scene was here. It is almost certain parading Germans here would be booed or hissed by some uncontrolable part of the crowd opposed to Nazi policies. No one in authority is responsible for such outbreaks, but they create resentment in the nation offended.

We are familiar with the severing of athletic relations between colleges. It usually results from sentiment of undergraduate bodies, seldom from actions of opposing athletes.

International sports contests at this time are full of dynamite when held on an Olympic scale. That is because of world tumult and world distrust. It may be hoped the Olympic games will not fall victim to this madness.

When I Take Mary Dancing.

There's romance in a summer night
When I take Mary dancing!
The moon swings low, the stars are bright,
When we go off a-prancing.
The lake rolls in and hums a tune,
The trees bend low with laughter,
The music sighs, a crooner croons,
And fellows are all after
Me, to let them meet my girl!
And am I proud of Mary?
She snuggles to me as we whirl,
The music doesn't tarry,
But glides into some dreamy thing.
And with her arms around me,
My feet just seem to grow some wings!
[Guess at last love's found me.]
What other girl could make the moon
And night seem so entrancing?
I'm going to marry Mary soon!
As soon as we stop dancing!

ARON, WOODS TO MEET TONIGHT ON MARIGOLD CARD

Singh Wrestles Rasputin at White City.

The Card

Milt Aron vs. Chuck Woods [10], 149.
Gene Higgins vs. Bus Breese [5], 141.
Joey Miehielove vs. Art Brewer [5], 136.
Tuffy Breese vs. Sonny Batson [4], 137.
Lou Naseef vs. Duke Davis [4], 140.

Milt Aron, 20 year old Dubuque, Ia., welterweight, tonight will demonstrate whether he belongs in or out of the topnotch boxing ranks in a ten round bout with Chuck Woods of Detroit at Marigold Gardens, Broadway and Grace street.

The Chicago born youngster gave a good indication that he belongs among the elite in his last eight starts, seven of which he won, four by knockouts. Woods is considered his strongest antagonist, however, and he will have to box his best if he expects to continue his victorious parade, a parade which includes 28 triumphs in 32 appearances.

The 24 year old Detroit fighter, who holds a decision over Tony Canzoneri and another over Billy Celebron, was stopped by Champion Barney Ross at Louisville last Derby eve, a setback which had Aron's backers visualizing an easy victory. The elegant manner in which Woods knocked out a bitter home town rival, Joe Sutka, at Detroit last Wednesday has changed this feeling of confidence to anxiety. At the same time Woods mustered so much backing after the triumph it is evident he will enter the ring the favorite to win.

Aron started his most recent victory string by beating Puggy Weinert at Marigold Nov. 18. Then in order he whipped Billy Miller and George Engel, knocked out Pete Nebo and Lou Halper, boxed a ten round no decision bout with Mickey O'Shea, and stopped Ralph Leslie and Frankie Sagilio.

The secondary feature involves a five rounder between Gene Higgins, Catholic Youth organization junior welterweight, and Bus Breese, Manhattan, Kas. Another combat at this distance matches Art Brewer with Joey Miehielove, lightweight stablemate of Woods. Two contests at four rounds and a wrestling exhibition round out the program.

Nango Singh and Ivan Rasputin will be windup principals tonight in the wrestling show at White City, 63d street and South Park avenue. Supplementary matches bring together Rudy Kay and Pat Kelly, Phil Gruber and Frenchy La Rue, Tony Falletti and Babe Kasaboski, and Ray Ryan and Denny Lentz. The main event is booked for one hour, the other encounters for 30 minutes.

VICTORY POST BEATS JOLIET, 11-4, TO WIN TITLE

Kankakee, Ill., Aug. 2.—[Special.]—Victory Post of Chicago became the Illinois Junior American Legion baseball champion when it defeated Joliet, 11 to 4, in the second game of the series here today.

A slugging attack, marked by three home runs, coupled with some brilliant pitching by Schwarz, who struck out 16 batters and allowed eight hits, led the Cook county champions to the crown.

Max Marek and Al Nettlow, former Golden Glove boxers, were honor guests of the Legion at today's game.

MILWAUKEE WINS.

New London, Wis., Aug. 2.—(AP)—Defeating Wisconsin Rapids, 12 to 9, Milwaukee won the state American Legion junior baseball championship today and the right to oppose the Illinois champions in the next eliminations leading to the national tournament.

GRAINS ROCKET AS WORLD-WIDE SCARCITY LOOMS

Corn Derth Follows Wheat Shortage.

BY THOMAS FURLONG.

A domestic wheat shortage against a background of world-wide scarcity, coupled with the prospect of a disastrous corn harvest, last week provided the basis for one of the sharpest upturns in grain prices on the Chicago Board of Trade in recent years.

Returns received last week suggested that the final tally on the American wheat harvest may show production slightly larger than was indicated by the last official report of the department of agriculture. Any gains in that direction, however, are dwarfed by the destruction that has taken place in the corn belt.

It is now generally conceded that the corn harvest will drop to about a billion and a half bushels—a billion bushels less than the country normally produces, measured by the average over a period of years.

Corn Shortage Prime Factor.

With such a curtailment in the available supply of corn for feeding the effects will be felt in the prices of all other grains.

Theoretically this year's wheat harvest is about equal to domestic requirements. Actually, however, the country has a shortage of certain grades of wheat, which will necessitate imports at least equal to the 40 million bushels which came over the tarif wall during the last season.

In addition, part of the crop of about 650 million bushels was produced in the Pacific northwest and can be distributed in other parts of the country only at high cost. The cost of shipping this wheat to parts of the country east of the Mississippi is equivalent economically to stiff tarif.

May Use Wheat for Feed.

With a meager corn supply and resultant high prices it seems certain that a great deal of wheat will be diverted to feed livestock. This will further diminish supplies in a year when the adjustment between supply and prospective demand is very close.

About the only encouraging feature of the feed situation is the hay crop. In nearly all parts of the country farmers harvested a good early hay crop and the feed scarcity does not equal in degree that experienced in the great drouth year of 1934.

Farmers in some sections had the best wheat harvest in several years. In some areas farmers will have a fair return on their corn. Over the country as a whole, however, scarcity appears certain to insure a high level of prices for both grains.

Corn Crop May Be Lowest.

A corn harvest of a billion and a half bushels would still be larger than the crop in 1934 of 1,377 million bushels, which was the smallest in forty years. Some observers, however, believe that before the crop is harvested it will be reduced below that record figure.

Wheat prices rose approximately 10 cents a bushel in the Chicago market last week. A comparable advance was made in Liverpool. Liverpool wheat is now selling approximately equal to Chicago wheat. A month ago the Chicago market level was 5 cents higher than the English market.

The advance in prices in the international market in Liverpool is a significant reflection of the world-wide wheat situation. After a decade of plentiful supplies the world has approached the point where its reserve supplies are inadequate.

Wheat Sellers Control Prices.

The market has again tipped in favor of the seller and against the consumer. For years the importing wheat countries have bought wheat at pretty much any price they chose to pay despite nationalistic attempts to peg prices, notably in Canada.

The world wheat surplus, which has been the subject of frequent international trade conferences in recent years, no longer exists. The world has eaten up its surplus, and scarcity, if not actual shortage, exists.

Soda Fountain Institute Formed to Promote Sales

Establishment of the Soda Fountain institute, for the promotion of sales and the bringing about of improvements in one of the nation's most important trades, was announced yesterday. Headquarters will be at 210 East Ohio street. L. D. Ely, president of the Siren Mills corporation, has been named head of the new institute. Other officers include Edward R. Finnegan, vice president, and C. Wendel Muench, executive secretary.

Rival Utilities Vie to Acquire Old Insull Unit

New York, Aug. 2.—[Special.]—Rivalry between the two most powerful public utility groups in the east will come to a head when representatives of the Public Service corporation of New Jersey and of the Associated Gas and Electric system enter their bids for 712,411 shares of Jersey Central Power and Light company common stock, to be sold at public auction in Jersey City on Sept. 30.

This block of stock, representing 68 per cent control of the Jersey Central company, is among other securities being placed on sale on behalf of debenture holders of the National Public Service corporation, and is the only asset of value left to these security owners following the collapse of the Insull utilities in 1932.

Loses Control by Default.

As a result of a default in interest Aug. 1, 1932, on the company's secured debentures, National Public Service, a former unit of the Middle West Utilities company, lost control of Jersey Central and other properties as stock of these subsidiary companies was pledged as security for the debentures. The present auction sale was announced by the New York Trust company, trustee under the indenture.

The Associated Gas and Electric system already owns 32 per cent of the Jersey Central stock. In addition, the Associated Gas interests own considerably more than 25 per cent of the National Public Service debentures, which appear to have been acquired to protect the minority investment in Jersey Central.

Jersey Central Power and Light company is an $85,000,000 property. It supplies electricity, gas and water to 252 communities in northern and eastern New Jersey, consisting of two divisions.

Holds Important Franchise.

Of great importance to the current rivalry over ownership of the property is a strip franchise, or charter, connecting the northern and eastern divisions directly across the properties of Public Service Corporation of New Jersey.

Thomas N. McCarter, president of the Public Service of New Jersey, a few months ago wrote to the protective committee for the National Public Service corporation that if it offers the Jersey Central stock for sale before Oct. 1, 1936, his company was prepared to bid $5,000,000 for the block of stock.

While the Associated system has refused to reveal its position, it is known to have indicated to the National Public Service committee its ownership of debentures, in addition to that of the 32 per cent stock interest in Jersey Central. This points to a plan to include the property in its network.

Bakers Claim First Place in Job Placement Program

The baker is claiming first place in industry's reëmployment march. He was supplying jobs to 16 per cent more persons than in 1926, while business as a whole was employing 14 per cent less, Henry Stude, president of the American Bakers' association, asserted yesterday. The baker's pay roll was likewise increasing, Stude said. Compared to 1926, he said the figures were: Baking industry, 100.6 per cent; food industry, 96 per cent; all industries, 79 per cent.

HESITANT MOOD RULES TRADING IN STOCK MART

Profit Taking Slows Long Advance.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

New York, Aug. 2.—Share market prices have settled into a somewhat hesitant mood after their sustained advance and traders are showing a disposition to trim their sails pending some definite indication of future trend.

Such selling as appeared last week, particularly in the last two or three sessions of the period, was generally set down to profit taking and what the street calls readjustment of speculative positions, however, rather than to the development of any pronounced bearish sentiment.

Gain for Month.

Certainly no "important holdings" appeared to have been disturbed by the offerings and although the "averages" finished the week about a point and a half lower than at the end of the preceding week, they still showed a net gain for the month of 6.74 points, the best monthly gain since June, 1935.

Business statistics of market import continue uniformly favorable and the major foreign development of the week, the increasing gravity of the situation centering about the indicated participation of other nations in Spain's civil war, had no appreciable effect on trading sentiment in any quarter.

The domestic drouth news served to depress the farm implement shares and related descriptions to some extent, although brokers thought the edge had been pretty well worn off the "drouth" selling of the stock of companies which are more or less dependent on agricultural income.

Steel Shares Firm.

Steel shares reflected some disappointment over the earnings and dividend report of the United States Steel corporation but braced up later on reports that Pittsburgh production—the key district—will reach a new six year high during the forthcoming week.

Railroad shares fared a little better as a group than most other sections, thanks in some measure to freshening evidences of a gradual pickup in business for the carriers. Friday's freight loadings, for instance, exceeded those of any previous week of the year and were 22¾ per cent above those for the corresponding period of 1935. The roads, it now appeared, may cover their fixed charges for the first time in several years.

Industrial corporations generally so far reporting second quarter and six months' earnings show increases of around 60 per cent in profits as compared with a year ago.

A number of well known companies will act on dividends the coming week, among them Coca Cola, General Motors, Standard Oil of Indiana, and International Nickel on Monday; Homestake Mining, Sears, Roebuck, and Socony Vacuum on Tuesday; Phelps Dodge on Wednesday, and Crown Cork & Seal on Thursday.

RAILROAD REVENUES IN FIRST SIX MONTHS SHOW SHARP INCREASE

New York, Aug. 2.—[Special.]—The class 1 railways of the United States in the first six months of this year had an operating income of $238,243,934, compared with $194,776,454 in the first half of 1935, the Association of American Railroads announced today. The gross revenues of these 140 railroads were $1,872,928,867, compared with $1,635,535,933, an increase of 14.5 per cent.

In June these railroads had an operating income of $50,312,580, compared with $34,102,703 in June, last year. Gross revenues in June were $330,691,513, against $281,328,058, an increase of 17.5 per cent over June, 1935.

In the first half of this year twenty-seven of the class 1 railroads failed to earn expenses and taxes, of which nine were in the eastern district, four in the southern and fourteen in the western.

In the eastern district the class 1 carriers had a total operating income of $161,543,115 in the first half of the year, against $143,065,483 in the similar period last year. Southern district carriers had an operating income of $32,366,971, compared with $24,425,031 in the first half of 1935. In the western district the roads had a total operating income of $44,333,848 in the first half of this year, compared with $27,285,940 in the corresponding period of 1935.

Reynolds Metals Report Share Earning Doubled

Reynolds Metals company and subsidiaries, makers of lead, tin, and zinc foils and other products, reported consolidated net earnings for the three months ended June 27 of $600,535, equal to 55 cents a common share. This compares with $319,552, or 26 cents a share, in the like period of 1935.

AUTO INDUSTRY WORK PROGRAM CALLED SUCCESS

Detroit, Mich., Aug. 2.—(AP)—The Automobile Manufacturers' association said in a statement today that average earnings of automobile factory workers are 16 per cent higher this year than in the 1935 production season and 52 per cent higher than in 1934.

As a result of the industry's stabilization program, the statement said, the number of employés at work has shown a fluctuation of less than 6 per cent during the eight months from November, when production started, through June.

"This record," the association said, "resulting from combination of the industry-wide stabilization program undertaken last fall and the material growth of business, exceeds the stability and continuity of employment experienced by the industry in any previous year, and finds no parallel in strictly comparable industrial operations.

"In terms of weekly earnings the average for all employés during April and May of this year was $32. Against this is a previous mark of $35 in the spring of 1929 when, however, the cost of living was much higher."

The statement estimated that "at least 150,000 persons were kept employed last winter in automobile and allied plants, who normally would have been laid off awaiting a later start of production."

ASK FOREIGNERS JOIN IN TRADE MEETING HERE

An intensive campaign to attract foreign delegates to the National Foreign Trade convention to be held in Chicago Nov. 18 to 20 was begun yesterday with the distribution of 100,000 invitations among local exporters for transmittal to their foreign customers.

Silas H. Strawn, chairman of the special Chicago convention committee, organized for the purpose of promoting the meeting next fall, said that it is desired to obtain a large delegation from abroad, motivated by a belief that if business men in the various countries understand the problems of each other a healthier flow of international commerce will result.

"If dumping of imported merchandise is harming business in the United States, for example, the exporters in the offending country will voluntarily correct the abuse, once they understand the facts," he said. The necessity of embargoes or drastic import quotas, often inspired by a spirit of retaliation, and always generating ill will, would thus be obviated, to the benefit of all concerned."

MAKERS OF OIL BURNERS UNITE IN MANUFACTURE

Negotiations have been completed whereby oil burning units will be manufactured coöperatively by the National Radiator corporation, Johnstown, Pa., the Nu-Way corporation, Rock Island, Ill., and the Cleveland Steel Products corporation, Cleveland, O., these companies have announced.

National Radiator also announced the formation of a subsidiary company, National Air-Conditioning, Inc., to take over the oil heating division of the company and extends its activities to include air cooling and air filtering.

BUSINESS IN CHICAGO DURING JULY IS FAR AHEAD OF YEAR AGO

Chicago trade turned in a performance during July that far eclipsed its record in the corresponding month last year, Chicago Association of Commerce observers reported yesterday.

Taken as a whole, it was said, last month probably will be found to have put wholesalers 25 per cent ahead of their turnover figures a year previous. The most noticeable spurt was in ready-to-wear lines and in furniture.

The belief was expressed that, while last week's business was "satisfactory," it will prove only the curtain raiser for the activity of this week, when the semi-annual invasion of buyers for the fall market shows gets into full swing.

Several important trade shows and the congregation here of thousands of out-of-town retailers for the meeting of the Interstate Merchants' council probably will see wholesalers and manufacturers taking rapid forward strides.

Volume of sales at retail last week held to seasonal proportions. Local manufacturing held steady.

GOLD FLOW TO U. S. LAID TO UNREST, BUSINESS GAINS

Washington, D. C., Aug. 2.—(AP)—To foreign "financial and political uncertainties" and the attraction of improved business conditions here Secretary Roper today attributed 1935's huge flow of gold to the United States.

In a foreword to the department's annual review of the balance of international payments, previously published in summary form, he termed the gold movement the year's "outstanding" factor, and fixed America's net imports of the metal at $1,739,000,000.

While "financial and exchange difficulties in many countries" continued to act as a deterrent on world trade, he said, American exports were 7 per cent above 1934, reaching a total cf $2,283,000,000, as compared with imports 24 per cent above the preceding year.

As an underlying reason for the gain in imports, he cited "the year's improvement in domestic economic activity in this country," which, he said, "stimulated the demand for raw materials and other products" from abroad. Summing up all merchandise and service items involved in the balance of international payments, Roper reported an excess of receipts of $208,000,000, as compared with $461,000,000 in 1934.

BUDD COMPANY 6 MONTH PROFIT RISES SHARPLY

Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 2.—[Special.]—The Edward G. Budd Manufacturing company reported today for the six months ended June 30 net operating income of $685,835, after all charges, but without provision for the new federal undistributed profits tax. This compares with a net of $278,983 for the first half of last year.

"Both from the standpoint of volume of business and of earnings the first half of 1936 has been the most satisfactory six month period your company has experienced since 1930," Edward G. Budd, the president, wrote in a review for stockholders.

Reserve Level Boost Held No Inflation Cure

New York, Aug. 2.—[Special.]—The raising of the reserve requirements of member banks and resulting elimination of a portion of the excess reserves, while an important step in the direction of credit control, is not, however, the final answer to the question of inflation, according to the August monthly bank letter of the National City Bank of New York.

It is further contended in the letter that the actual exercise of control over credit expansion by federal reserve authorities through open-market operations will be largely influenced by the status of the federal budget.

Reserves Still Large.

Discussing the question of excess reserves and the probable effects of the increase in requirements, the letter said in part:

"Even with the new reserve requirements in effect, the reserve board has calculated that excess reserves will be in the neighborhood of $1,900,000,000. While it now appears that this figure may have been somewhat overestimated, surplus reserves are certain to be far in excess of anything known prior to the last two years, and capable, if drawn fully into use, of supporting a very large expansion of credit.

"Should they be augmented by the issuance of currency against the silver seigniorage and by the utilization of gold held in the stabilization fund, the total of excess reserves might easily rise to levels higher than ever before."

Trade Continues Active.

The bank pointed out that trade and industrial activity continued to make a highly favorable showing during July, notwithstanding the drouth, and that the improvement now being registered in business generally extends over a broad front.

"In general," the letter states, "the picture presented by business is an encouraging one, and but for the drouth and the threat of labor trouble in steel and certain other industries there would be little disposition to question optimistic forecasts for the balance of the year.

"In a summary of the trend of business the fact must still be stressed that government spending in excess of receipts is an influence in the situation. This is an unsatisfactory condition of affairs, for until business has demonstrated ability to stand on its own feet full confidence in the validity of recovery must be lacking. In this connection encouragement may be derived from the current favorable showing of corporation profits. There is no better tonic for business, or remedy of unemployment, than good business profits."

RATES ON MONEY REVEAL LITTLE CHANGE IN JULY

New York, Aug. 2.—[Special.]—Except for slightly higher discount rates for bankers' acceptances, quotations for money in July were unchanged for the second consecutive month. Four maturities of Bankers' bills were raised 1-16 for 1 per cent on July 22, following three days of split bids.

The increase, which was the first since October, 1934, lifted 30-60-90 day bills to ¼ bid, 3-16 asked, and four months' bills to 5-16 bid, ¼ asked. These fractions of 1 per cent represent the market discount for bills when purchased. Five and six month maturities were unchanged at ⅜ bid, 5-16 asked.

Call loans on the New York Stock exchange were made at 1 per cent and at 1½ per cent on the New York Curb exchange, compared with ¼ of 1 per cent and ¾ of 1 per cent, respectively, in July, 1935. Time loans maturing up to six months were offered, without bids, at 1¼ per cent, contrasted with the depression low of ¼ of 1 per cent a year ago.

PROFITS STEADY FOR TEXAS GULF PRODUCING CO.

The Texas Gulf Producing company, oil concern, yesterday reported net income of $414,674, or 46 cents a share on 888,081 shares, for the six months ended June 30. This compares with $408,103, or 46 cents a share on 889,606 shares, in the first half of last year.

For the twelve months ended June 30 net income amounted to $804,753, compared with $800,364 in the preceding twelve months. Figures include provision for estimated federal taxes, including excess profits and surtax, which for the twelve months are placed at $50,244, against $42,986 in the preceding twelve months, an increase of 16.89 per cent.

STEEL OUTPUT RISES TO EQUAL YEAR'S TOP RATE

Mills Operating at 71½% of Capacity.

Led by a 2 point increase in the Pittsburgh district, the national steel works operations rate last week advanced 1 point over the previous week to 71½ per cent of plant capacity, equal to the year's highest mark, the magazine Steel said yesterday.

The July operating rate was approximately 69.3 per cent, only fractionally below the June average, and was by far the best July since 1929 and considerably ahead of July, 1935, when the average was 39.44, the journal said.

The Pittsburgh increase advanced operations there to 69 per cent. In the Chicago district operations were up 1 point to 71 per cent, while Wheeling showed a gain of 3 points to 92 per cent. Buffalo was down 3 points to 81 per cent; Cleveland, 3 points to 82 per cent, and other districts were unchanged.

Rising Prices Denote Scarcity.

Swiftly advancing prices of iron and steel scrap testify to the scarcity which has been apparent at mills for the last month. Steel's scrap composite is up 54 cents to $13.66, about midway between the levels for the first and second weeks in May. For five consecutive weeks this index has advanced steadily from $12.47, and indications point to a further upward movement in the near future, the magazine said.

New business last week showed a slight decline at some mills, but heavy backlogs provide an ample cushion for any falling off which is not too extensive at the present time, according to the magazine.

Auto Output About Steady.

Automobile production last week held almost even with the previous week, the 95,970 assembled units being a decline of only 893. Demand for steel for the 1937 models became more apparent, with Ford coming into the market for material for 157,000 units, mainly for 1937 models, and Chevrolet and other General Motors units following the same procedure, according to the journal.

Due to the increase in scrap prices, the iron and steel index last week moved up 21 cents to $33.72. Steel's finished composite remains unchanged at $53.40.

TOURISTS RETURN TO FRANCE, BUT THEY DON'T BUY

So Dressmakers Plan to Open London Shops.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

PARIS, Aug. 2. — When Charles Spinasse, Socialist minister of national economy, announced the other day that France's devastating tourist slump had ended and that the number visiting France this year is 28 to 40 per cent greater than last year, he was just whistling in the dark, according to many observers.

The newest proof of that lies in the dressmaking situation. Paris couturiers are establishing branches in London and whenever France's high cost of living and political street disorders choke down the moneyed tourists to too low a figure, they will close up shop, take the dress designers across the channel and continue to do business in London.

Figures Are Misleading.

All this is common talk in dressmaking circles and it is buzzing more than ever today with a report that Worth, one of the most famous Paris shops, has just bought out a London shop. Schiaparelli and Molyneux already have London branches.

Spinasse's figures are supported by tourist agency and steamship figures and other statistics. But they are not worth their face value. There has been an increase of Americans and Britons but they do not stay long. They used to come to Paris and stay weeks, spend all their money and then squeeze in a few days in other parts of Europe. Now the process is reversed in a great percentage of cases.

Hope to See Street Battle.

Dozens of visiting Americans feel they ought to take a peek at Paris before returning home. They often ask where is the best place to see streets battles and then plant themselves in a Champs Elysees cafe terrace, hoping that nationalists will come along, sing the Marseillaise and provoke a fight. But American visitors are shocked at French prices and many resentfully remark they will do the rest of their shopping when they get home.

Spinasse's figures are a drop in the bucket in the face of this fact: France's tourists sank from 1,911,000 in 1929 to 779,000 in 1934. Italy's visitors, for instance, at present number 11 times as many as 15 years ago.

TO REVISE CAPITAL STRUCTURE.

U. S. Radiator corporation announces a proposal to revise its capital structure. The plan would extend the maturity date of the company's debentures to 1946 from February, 1938, reduce the dividend requirements on the preferred, and issue new common stock on the basis of one share for each two held.

U. S. Rubber.

Investors' Guide: I would like information about the bonds of United States Rubber company, their past and future.—M. H. C.

Answer: The company is the second largest manufacturer of tires and other rubber goods. The du Pont interests acquired controling interest in the company in 1928. About one-third of the company's rubber is obtained from its own plantations in Malay and Sumatra.

The company operated at a profit in 1935 for the first time since 1927. Net income was $2,231,000 which covered only 43 per cent of preferred dividend requirements. Losses reported in previous years were: 1934, $544,000; 1933, $606,000; 1932, $10,358,000; 1931, $9,473,000; 1930, $18,064,000.

The company has called for redemption, Sept. 1, 1936, of $4,000,000 of 6½ per cent notes, due 1939. Bond retirements since 1929 of more than $50,000,000 have been made by the company without recourse to borrowing. The resulting savings in interest charges amounts to more than $3,000,000 a year. Funded debt will amount to about $54,000,000 on completion of the present redemption operation.

The company's first mortgage 5 per cent bonds, due 1947, are regarded as a business man's risk.

The last dividend on the 8 per cent noncumulative first preferred stock was paid in 1928. There are 1,464,000 shares of the stock outstanding. It is a speculation. There are outstanding 1,464,371 shares of no par common stock.

Miehle Printing Press.

Investors' Guide: I will appreciate any data you have pertaining to Miehle Printing Press 5½ per cent bonds due in 1948.—H. H.

Answer: Earnings of Miehle Printing Press and Manufacturing company, one of the leading manufacturers of printing press equipment, have recovered sharply in the last two years. Net income in 1935 was $653,000, equal to $8.88 a share on 73,531 shares of stock outstanding. In 1934 the company earned $170,000 or $2.31 a share. Fixed charges were covered 4.20 times in 1935 and 1.78 times in 1934. In 1933 and 1932 the company reported losses of $325,000 and $520,000, respectively, before provision for bond interest. Results for the three preceding years were not reported.

At the close of 1935 the company was in a strong current financial position with current assets of $4,177,000 and current liabilities of $526,000.

The company's 5½ per cent debentures, due in 1948, are somewhat speculative.

SECONDARY RAIL BONDS FEATURE WEEK'S MARKET

Larger Earnings and Gain in Trafic Expected.

New York, Aug. 2.—(AP)—Medium and low priced rail loans brightened the bond market last week, some of them pushing to new highs for the year or longer.

Speculative interest in this sector was attributed in Wall street to sharply higher net operating income reported by numerous systems for June and to the outlook for a better than seasonal expansion in freight loadings next fall.

Also stimulated by better earnings were various industrial liens. Allis-Chalmers 4s were at times conspicuous on the advance.

Utility Issues Irregular.

In the utility division International Hydro-Electric 6s enjoyed a good speculative following. International Telephone issues were weak under selling prompted by fears over the outlook for the company's properties in strife torn Spain.

United States government obligations, after drifting irregularly most of the week, braced up somewhat.

Foreign issues were quiet. A fair demand for South American loans contrasted with a brief spell of easiness in French bonds, which was explained partly in terms of the reported slow progress of the French government in putting its financial house in order.

Idle Funds Chief Influence.

An upswing of $60,000,000 in excess reserves to $3,050,000,000 served to remind bond men of the sturdy technical support underlying loan prices. This factor, they said, will obtain even after surplus banking funds fall just under the $2,000,000,000 level at mid-August, when higher federal reserve bank requirements take effect.

Pronounced firmness in some bonds provided the background for a slight increase of new offerings, in which all types of issues were represented except utilities, which held about even with the output of the preceding week.

Chicago's largest REAL ESTATE Market

During each of the past twenty years the Tribune has printed more real estate want advertising than any other Chicago newspaper.

The growing interest in real estate is reflected in the fact that during the first 30 days of July the Tribune carried 43.1% more real estate want advertising than it did during the same period last year.

If you are interested in real estate of any kind, check the offers in the Tribune want ad section regularly.

BUILDING-LOAN LEADERS ASSAIL U.S.'EASY MONEY'

Say Investors Are Driven Into Speculation.

Directors of the United States Building and Loan league last night issued a statement charging that the government, which claims to save the individual from the evils of speculation, is about to drive him headlong into it by its policy of depressing interest rates.

Fourteen directors of the league signed the statement, which was issued after a meeting here. The signers included Morton Bodfish of Chicago, who is executive vice president of the league.

"In order to make a favorable market for government securities there has been persistent emphasis upon lower interest rates in every channel where money from small savers and investors has customarily been put to safe and sound use," the statement says.

Sees Investors Discouraged.

"Every policy holder in a life insurance company, every shareholder in a savings, building and loan association, and every owner of a savings bank account is discouraged in his efforts to build up a competence by placing his savings in a sound and safe channel.

"The real danger to the social fabric of the nation is that each will be led into speculative ventures in his desperation over the impossibility of getting a logical return on his money in the older channels.

"It is an anomaly that the government, which has placed so much stress upon protecting the saver from speculation, should present this threat as a by-product of its own interest rate emphasis," the statement says.

U. S. Loan Rates Not Low.

The league directors found cause for encouragement in the trend away from government loans, now that the public is aware that Federal Housing administration rates are really 6.4 per cent, and no more liberal than the terms procurable in many long established institutions.

Concerning the Home Owners' Loan corporation, the directors said that "more rapid retirement from its field of activity than now contemplated might be beneficial to itself and to the nation."

The directors also reported definite improvement in loans made by the established private thrift and home financing institutions, with half a billion dollars loaned during the first half year, more than 60 per cent of it in the last three months.

MANUFACTURERS WILL OPEN NEW MARTHERETODAY

A new merchandising venture in Chicago to be known as the United Manufacturers' Mart, located in the Hotel La Salle, will be opened today by forty manufacturers, it was announced yesterday.

Only manufacturers of small items, such as toys, novelties, cosmetics, toiletries, sporting goods, and gift and art items, which can be shown conveniently in the hotel rooms on the fifth floor, will be represented at present.

Y-O-U-R O-W-N
B-U-S-I-N-E-S-S

Would you be interested in starting a business for yourself without one cent of investment on your part?

Well, that is exactly what we have done for many men in this territory.

These men are previous storekeepers, doctors, lawyers, shop workers, mechanics, etc., who are now earning and receiving in percentage as much as $50 in a single day.

We are an old line, nationally known manufacturer of electrical units that defy competition and for which there is a constant, increasing demand.

Now here are our requirements: You must be under 50, preferably married, honest, reliable, possess a neat appearance and possess at least a grammar school education.

At this time we will only interview men living on the South Side of Chicago, northern Indiana, and northeastern Illinois.

Every man answering this advertisement will be given a confidential interview and if selected will be trained at our expense in our methods, which are successful.

There are no strings attached to this offer as we even pay rent, light, heat, telephone, girl hire, consign your merchandise, and finance your accounts.

Apply Monday, 2:30 p. m. or 7:30 p. m. These hours only.

WE'LL HIRE A MAN LIKE THIS MAN!

A. P. came into this organization late last year after he had discovered that the cigar-making business which he had been in prior to 1930 simply would not come back for him. He had fiddled away five good years, and was finally ready for something new.

The first 6 month of this year A. P. received $1,056 in paid percentages, and this is an average of $176 a month, with no investment—nothing to buy—in this electric unit business. He discovered that all the while he has abundant ability but his mind was centered on what he had once done—and had not turned toward what he might do more successfully. He is happy to know that he now has something better—more lasting. It is absolutely permanent!

If you have been waiting for the old job or business to return, and realize it will not come back for you, if you are not satisfied with what you have, suppose we talk it over? If you are man suited to this position, we can talk business. Call at Room 705 at 105 W. Monroe-street, Monday, August 3d, at 10:30 a. m. or 2:30 p. m.—no other time.

Day By Day Story of the Experimental Farms

By Frank Ridgway

Steer Feed Short.

THE outlook is for a comparatively short supply of feed to be used this winter in fattening cattle on the Tribune's Yorkville Experimental farm. Fewer cattle are likely to be fed on the farm during the next year. The manager follows the practice of filling his feed lots with enough live stock to utilize the feed grown each year. He expects to buy cattle to fit the feed supply. With a prospective shortage of corn he believes that it will be to his advantage to buy heavier cattle than he usually feeds. If the dry weather continues to cut the corn crop he thinks he will feed steers averaging at least 800 to 900 pounds or more.

Corn Largely Scrubby.

The Yorkville farm corn is practically all tasseled and some of the early planted fields have begun shooting small ears. Most of the stalks are not more than half as tall as they are at tasseling time. The present outlook is for less than half a normal crop of ears on the Yorkville place as well as other Kendall county farms. The drouth has been reducing the yield of ears daily.

Since there will be a shortage of ears, the manager plans to utilize the entire corn plant as much as possible. He expects to fill and refill the farm's three silos with a capacity of about 620 tons. There is a limit to refilling because the silage must be fed out before the silos can be blown full again. In the normal feeding operations on the farm not all of the silos are emptied before the corn is too ripe and dry for silage making.

A second plan will be to feed a fairly large tonnage of the corn while the plants still are green. If the weather is favorable a large tonnage will be cut with a corn binder and shocked. Finally the steers will be turned into the corn fields to clean all the roughage left.

The manager thinks all of these plans will be necessary not only because of a short crop of ear corn but to aid in offsetting the reduced tonnage of roughage raised on the farm. The hay supply is relatively low. Only twenty-three tons of hay are now left on the farm from last year's crop and most of that is timothy. There are a few tons of old alfalfa and clover hay.

Just Half a Hay Crop.

This year's hay crop of 168 tons is just half the tonnage harvested on the Yorkville farm in 1935. The total supply of both old and new hay on the farm this year will be less than 200 tons.

Up to date this year's soy bean crop, which was depended upon for a good share of the winter roughage crop, is practically a failure. There has been little rain since the beans were planted in dry soil and they have not yet sprouted.

Pastures Well Toasted.

Coupled with the corn shortage and the skimpy supply of roughage, the pastures are burnt until they are brown. Even with heavy rains the Yorkville farm manager does not expect the pastures to be revived sufficiently to furnish early fall grazing. This calls for feeding more hay and other roughage while the pastures are getting a fresh start in the fall.

The farm manager expects to have approximately 100 tons of oat straw which is being blown in to the stacks in excellent condition. The straw is of high grade and will be fed to both cattle and horses. The horses will be fed straw all winter and up until about three weeks before plowing time next spring.
